This is an updated version of Kevin Slater's first book "Facing the future." I have had the pleasure of reading this new book and it will have you thinking how any parent can do this and make their children's childhood unhappy. From start to finish this is a truly upsetting but brilliant book of his life growing up as a child in Liverpool and Preston in and out of "The care system." Kevin has been featured in local Newspapers and Radio Stations in U.S.A and UK and also many reviews from readers in U.S.A and UK. Kevin was offered a "Book to Film" contract in U.S.A for "Facing the future" but decided not to sign because he wanted to keep his true story in Liverpool his home town.

Kevin Slater is a true survivor of the care system.

Brian Miller

(Freelance book / Author Reporter
London (UK) Washington (U.S.A))

“A young innocent little boy put into the “Care System” for NO reason. I was only a child and did no one any harm; thank you “Mother” for ruining my childhood. Every foster home and care home we went to we feared we would never see our dad or sisters ever again, we thought they would never be able to find us.

Somewhere inside me, I just wanted to be loved like every other little boy, but my dreams were long to come.

Don't let the care system beat you

Beat the care system and live your dreams.

This is the book some of my family wanted to ban but here it is a gripping true story which will have you thinking “This cannot be true” well it is, every single word. This is only a small Insight into “The world of Kev”

This is the only way I can move forward with my life, I need closure. So in order for me to adapt this book to suit others needs I have not mentioned any names of my family or others in this book only the ones who gave me permission for legal reasons. You all know who you are.

My sisters are only mentioned as sisters and another person as lodger / boyfriend
