Prologue

YEARS ago, a typical day in my life usually involved pondering over issues pertaining to our existence, and the reasons behind all the human drama that went on in the world. The chief question on my mind was always this - "Why am I here?" The purpose of our existence, mysteries of life and taboo subjects like death and afterlife soon became the catalysts for creating a deep-seated passion in me - a passion for truths, to be precise. In essence, it was about seeking explanations to questions that had haunted me and derailed my train of thoughts many times before.

The event that really jump started my search for those truths was a heated deliberation on religion with two former acquaintances. That memorable tipping point which took place almost a decade ago got me on a quest that saw me attending talks by Tibetan monks; immersing in numerous resources on religion, science and meta-physics; and consulting mediums, psychic card readers and Feng Shui masters.

Over the years I realized that a lot about life and beyond including the true meaning of our existence could be found in the core messages and revelations by religious and non-religious people alike such as the following groups of people:

- a) Professional hypnotherapists who conduct past-life / inter-life regression.
- b) Scientists who delve into metaphysics.
- c) Established mediums who relay profound messages from the 'dead'.
- d) Psychics.
- e) Spiritual teachers and healers.
- f) People who channel entities or 'higher beings' from the other dimensions.
- g) People who have had after-death communication (ADC), near-death experience (NDE) and out-of-body experience (OBE).

The knowledge shared by these people resonated with my heart and it was consistent with my personal life-changing
