Acknowledgements

Without my editor and good friend Pat's constant encouragement, belief in me and what I am doing this e-book would never have been published. Thank you, Pat.

I also extend my gratitude to the many spirit teachers, a dedicated band from the various dimensions who are here at this time to help all energies through the tumultuous changes as we transition from one epoch to the next. They have mostly, patiently, given answers to my questions and, in this way they have extended my knowledge and mental horizons.

Introduction

Donald Rumsfeld: '...as we know, there are known knowns; there are things we know we know. We also know there are known unknowns; that is to say we know there are some things we do not know. But there are also unknown unknowns—the ones we don't know we don't know'.

The information in each of my e-books began as an attempt to understand and explain my unknowns; experiences and communications with other energies and realities that go beyond our five senses; other realities, unknowns, that have always been a pivotal part of my life.

This book is a compilation of some of the writings done over time when, often daily, I sit at my computer and communicate with a group of spirit beings, communicators from different energy realities that interpenetrate our three dimensional physical world.

I act as the earthly conduit for our group and ask the questions I would like answered. Any of the communicators, from the students to the more advanced are free to answer my questions and they do so speaking from whatever is their level of experience and knowledge. At all times they are courteously given time and opportunity to do so. It is apparent to me from their answers when there is an exchange of speaker perhaps from different levels of expertise and understanding.

I refer to our discussions as at a forum but the teachers speak of it as more of a study group that attracts spirits, like minded energies, in whatever form or dimension they presently are at. There are those who are always present in our group. They come to study the machinations of what is required and, with the knowledge gained, will perhaps set up their own forum groups in whichever way or avenue they happen to be.

There are other more casual attendees who seek to study what is required to work with energies not of their kind so that they, if they choose, can structure their development along that way. All are manipulating energies to accommodate, learn the ropes of diverse ways of working with energies different to their own.

As one of the teachers explained 'All are in the process of learning different ways of attracting and repelling different energy and this is one such place where they can go and be of instruction to themselves while understanding more of other ways they can be accommodated'.

My understanding gained from the teachers is when our forum is to occur a beacon or 'an energy of understanding' goes out into the atmosphere. Those who are interested and have the ability to 'read the energy' of what will be discussed at the forum can decide if they want to attend.

All form chooses how they will process the information and use it to their advantage. They are able to see different elements of energy that perhaps were not presented to them before. They can, should they choose, delve a little more and study what life is like at any of the other avenues presented to be of advantage in their growth pattern divine. It is all offered for those who seek other ways to see what might attract their interest to grow, go that way'.

In the early years I saw the forms of the teachers, students, acolytes, plus the physical shapes of spirits once incarnated here. That has now changed. While there is a subtle energy difference as it changes when various entities speak I don't see who the speaker is nor any others present.

Knowing there are different energies, maybe species attending had my curiosity piqued so at one forum asked what those there looked like. I was surprised to learn that not all at our forum choose to see others there. As was explained those there could see the energy colors and resonate to or feel the energies of others but if this interaction is not the present way they want to progress they don't bother interacting any further.

My previous opinion was that there was some energy place or level that stabilized different spirit energies so that those interested in attending our forum could do so. That does not appear to be the way and while I speak of attending there doesn't seem to be a set place to gather for taking part in our discussions either. It may be that those who want to attend do so from whatever level they are at - perhaps a more advanced way along the way than we have of conducting meetings here when having a video linkup like Zoom that could be connecting people from all over the world.

It also appears that all participating at the meeting know beforehand what will be discussed even before I sit at my computer and formulate our question/answer format for the day. I am assuming from that knowledge that time, as we understand it to be is either different or nonexistent.

Unlike forums on Earth with everyone sitting through a meeting from beginning to end these entities, while they are at liberty to hear what else is being discussed, know beforehand exactly when the part they are interested in slots in.

As one spirit said, 'We listen and what we need is there, provided as we require. We do not 'hang around' as you say, waiting for our turn. It is not the way and there is, we feel, a difference in 'timing' so to say that makes it all work of accord for all there as we require then we withdraw'.

The information provided is brought about by my quest: to interact with other denizens of different realities I know are 'there' and to understand, to learn and go beyond what our limiting five senses lead us to believe is reality.

On Time, Space and Other Realities

Understanding Time

What is time? While most people think of time as a constant, physicist Albert Einstein showed that time is an illusion; it is relative — it can vary for different observers depending on their speed through space. To Einstein, time is the "fourth dimension." Space is described as a three-dimensional arena, which provides a traveler with coordinates — such as length, width and height — showing location. Time provides another coordinate — direction — although conventionally, it only moves forward. <https://www.space.com/21675-time-travel.html>

The teachers also seek to extend our viewpoint on the illusion of time and space. They speak of no vacuous space anywhere and instead point out what we see as empty space is teeming with multiple dimensions and their inhabitants. These inhabitants, from the micro to the macro are living their lives, like us, in a system that suits their needs.

I am wondering about time and does it exist anywhere else but our third reality. It is not a new thought. Ancient Greek philosophers, such as Zeno, have said time as we understand it to be does not exist. Instead what is being seen are changes. Zeno gives an example of an arrow in flight; it is our position of focus, where we see the arrow that is the reality.

This explanation appears to be like a roll of film. Nothing exists on the roll as a past or future. What exists is the frame, the particular part we are looking at and focusing on. As our focus shifts to the next frame that piece of the film becomes the present.

It is your perspective, 'point of reference' as you say, that dictates to your consciousness, mind, what is the way.

There is so much your finite mind is not able to comprehend at present. Much has been gained but more to be made available to see you aware and comprehending what is about, what is 'real' as you say and what you can do to advance yourselves as you undertake your 'game of life' as you call it.

As we have told you several times you already have it all but choose to be, go this way for the adventure. In choosing to be and go this way you are refining and gaining more.

You have done this before, rest assured on this. We do not mean as reincarnation because that brings to mind subjectivity of another kind. You are not in bondage in any way for misdemeanors from past activities. Only if you choose to experience, go that line but we state it is not for recriminations, bondage in any way.

You have mentioned we don't go anywhere but 'fly off in space'. How is this possible if we don't go anywhere?

You change concepts, ways of seeing things and with this change is a change of comprehension which brings about a change in energy. In other words you go another way. Your magnetization changes and you move into another 'slot of existence' shall we say.

It is all around. You only need your change of consciousness, perception to bring about a change but you don't go anywhere per se. It is illusion, but very real to your present comprehension.

Going somewhere?

Yes, it is third reality delusion, one it would serve you well to comprehend.

Why would that be when we need that illusion to function in our daily life?

Yes, it is the way it is but by being restricted to this illusion does not serve the way. It does not allow you to go beyond what you see and what is reality. If you broach this concept you will start to soar, to leave behind restrictions both in mind and body limits. It will open up your mind to possibilities and these possibilities will then change and become your realities.

You are only limited by you mind power at this present juncture. If you changed your concepts and reached beyond what you saw as limiting your lifespan would change and you would start to identify, change your ways to a better proposition, outcome. You could start to see other realities that are as existentialist as yours.

These other realities exist in this energy field and it is the opening of our mind to possibilities which brings about a change of consciousness? This allows us to access these other realities that already exist but we don't see them because our present third dimensional ignorance doesn't magnetize us to them or them to us?

Yes, little by little you are starting to see and understand but it has taken a long time for you to reach this understanding; that others also inhabit the same space as is your way and it is only a change of perception and magnetization that makes it possible for you to see and understand this way. It is all there, always will be but first you need to undo, take the blinkers from your sight (understanding?).

We look out and see distance, space, and you have mentioned that it is third reality illusion. But what about this energy field everything exists in? I am assuming it is infinite but what about distance and depth in this field?

It takes better understanding than you presently have for you to understand what is about. We cannot glibly say all is one and not go into the realms of possibilities and realities. We do not want to give you a lack of understanding by saying something that you cannot presently comprehend. But we do assure you that later, at some stage, depending on what other questions you have asked and which lead further into this examination of what is about, we can perhaps tell you then. We are sorry to say to you that you would not comprehend our presence, situation, and all that can be.

Okay, then going back to discussing time, I sometimes get treatment from an alternative practitioner who uses a machine that reads brain and energy fields. From this information the machine sees what needs attention and sets about correcting it. In the process it does a complete scan of my body including my energy field.

Of particular interest to me is what it finds in my energy field because the machine's findings do not appear to follow our linear time-line. It also shows that some problems affecting my physical body may have been created or started in vitro. That would tie in with what you have previously mentioned about our blueprint prior to incarnation.

It may flow that way but we are not familiar with the energy machine you refer to. It is all there, all the parts of you, are still residing, living 'somewhere'. It is possible that they are also having an influence upon your now.

It also seems that emotional hurts that have happened in this lifetime but forgotten now are still there behind the scenes affecting me. Is there a logical reason for this?

Yes, it is the way. Your mind does not forget any previous actions, misdemeanors. It 'files them away', shall we say and they are there for a reason. They are there because they are unresolved, your understanding, lesson you sought to learn is incomplete. It is the way it is, unlearned, incomplete.

Well, it is having a physical effect but is it important that it remains incomplete?

That is for you to say. It is up to you as to whether you seek further induction, instruction on the way you proceed. It is not for naught it is still there but you are the instigator and therefore are the resolver.

Thank you for your information today. I will read it through to gain more understanding.

Then we go our way. Peace and blessings go to one and all. It is done and we are gone.

Extending Possibilities

I need to sort out my questions for today and a little revision is probably needed. You say we don't go anywhere because we are already 'there'.

That is correct.

So when we look at the sky and see nothing, we are incorrect in our assumption because what we see as space, a vacuum, is teeming with various forms of life?

That is the way to observe and understand.

These are not microbes and such that we could see with a powerful microscope? These are inhabitants of other dimensions?

Yes, it is the way.

I am having a bit of trouble with the teeming life and going nowhere and would appreciate more information.

Yes, we follow your discourse but are aware that you are following an old stream of thinking. It is time for you to change, 'get up to speed', as you say. You need to understand, be aware that not all life is 'here' as we say.

Please excuse me for interrupting but what are you defining as 'here'?

Here where you are domiciled now. You see with your five senses and you are aware of what can be. To a certain extent you are aware for your scientists are now taking you along another road of consciousness thinking. This is opening up your physical sight to other events that limited vision before held from your awareness and sight.

Now you are extending your possibilities, your vision, because you have been taught, encouraged to limit yourself no more. With this you are gaining on all fronts. You are starting to see that there are indeed many other levels of consciousness about you. You have your limited sight extended by the likes of the more modern technology 'bringing to your door' so to say.

I am assuming it is the atomic way with all the substructures and the like. Is that correct?

No, there is also another way you are informed. It is the interrelationship of all your 'kith and kin' so to say. You are being coached, brought forward to get further insights so that what was possible is now achievable because you are being taught and encouraged to go along a different format to what you previously advanced along.

I would appreciate you enlarging on that concept.

You are being programmed to see beyond your nose. You are starting to involve yourself more in abstract thinking and needs that take you to other avenues of opportunities you had not breached before. These are being brought about, instigated in many ways by your scientists.

Also the energy changes that are modifying and distributing all changes to a format acceptable to your countenance. When you see the change is possible, achievable, you go that way.

You are also getting prepared for other avenues not yet in your ken, your present understanding.

Could you elaborate a little more please? It is like the donkey and the carrot where you tease me to think more but I don't know what to think or ask if it is all still has to come into my awareness.

It is there, rest assured. We want you to 'dig deeper' as you say. Bring forth what is already there and is waiting for your perusal and activation.

Then I need some guidance here. How do I go about what you are mentioning?

You need to think, reach into yourself and gain that way; you need to do the work.

Okay, then please prime my pump and put me in the right direction. I will do the work required.

We follow your logic, understanding but it is not to be the way. We see you already have the knowledge but use it not.

All have to apply themselves by delving into their consciousness and bring forward their desires. They are all at your disposal. You need to be aware of this fact before you start to delve. If you are not aware it will lead to frustration and maybe delay your choices of opportunities while here.

Is this all part of us creating our reality? We need to form, 'make it concrete' so to say for it to come to our third dimensional awareness?

That is the way. You are learning to construct, work with different forms of energy. You are learning this way because your choice before incarnation was along this line of reasoning. You chose this way and we comply with your wishes.

You know you can achieve your aim for you have programmed your way. Your resources are all there. You need to choose your way of accessing them and bring them to the fore. With this way you are manipulating your understanding of the control that is required to gain access to other limiting or challenging concepts.

You have spoken about us manipulating energy, creating other forms while experiencing this existence. You have also mentioned that as there is no time all experiences are happening at the same time. I am having trouble understanding that concept but many of our scientists seem to agree that there is no timeline continuum. At the moment I don't have that understanding. Is this part of what we are working on achieving?

There is more. For your scientists, many, have shown you the way by their acceptance of what you see as an abstract concept. It has opened the possibility of it being, flowing that way.

We need you to see and understand that there are many more opportunities such as this but what you all need along the way is your faith in yourself. To believe what you see with you inner vision is correct and not some pie in the sky fallacy you have somehow latched onto with your thoughts.

We need all of you to 'be brave' so to say, to believe in yourself and understand that you are creating from the atmosphere all you dreams and wishes. You construct them with your imagination.

Let us be quite clear here, your imagination that you devalue and place as pipe dreams is 'your ticket', so to say to advancements untold. Release your imagination and give it the accolades deserved.

We go our way now and leave you with your thoughts. Peace and blessings go to one and all. We are done, gone for the day.

oOo

Down the Rabbit Hole

Please provide further information on a topic you briefly mentioned about us not going anywhere. How does this fit in with us experiencing other lives, dimensions? Do we just conjure these experiences up and if so, from where?

You construct something from your mind. You bring it into being and it flows in that way. You do not go anywhere but you are containing whatever is required and manipulating, projecting it forward into a reality but it is not quite that way.

We are understanding you are relating this to movement but we are speaking of energy sway, bringing in and projecting out your desires. It does not mean, as you are mainly required to do on your third dimensional plane, to physically go and activate something, bring 'materials' so to say.

It is part of what we are seeking you to understand. You get what you want, what is required for your project, whatever that may be and on whatever energy level it may reside, you get that by your initiation, mind power, but you go nowhere in your achievement.

Well, I am now on this reality plane and from what you say, in many other places as well. How does that fit in with what you are saying?

Very well. You are achieving control on 'many levels' as you say, and all at the one time. It is the fact that you are doing all you desire at the one time without constraints of time or movement. You are initiating your desires and learning as you go along.

To what purpose? If, as you say, we have it all and we don't go anywhere, why are we challenging ourselves? Why do we relate to past lives when you say they don't exist as we understand it to be.

You are taking yourself, your thoughts to linear timelines and we have already said they don't exist. You progress, challenge yourself for the sheer joy of experiencing and growing along the way. It is the gainfulness, the experience as you function and learn to grasp different experiences along the way.

There is much you are struggling to comprehend. We understand for it is as you say 'like entering the rabbit hole' where previous understandings and constraints have gone away and what appears now to be bizarre and out of context to all that can be has now become your 'normal'.

This will all sort itself out as the old makes way for the newer understandings. With the newer understandings will usher in a more cogent understanding and application. All does flow of accord even, to your present way of seeing things it may not appear so, to be the way.

For years we have always believed in cause and effect. It was quite simple to understand and observe. A ball hits a window and the window shatters. The preceded movement of the ball activated the shattering of the window. All easy to see and understand. Now there are experiments done that counteract that theory and what we see may not necessarily be what is or how it flows.

That is quite correct. You are learning bit by bit through experiments such as these that what you take to be coincidental or follow a set formula of action/reaction may not be the way. In many instances it is not the way but it is your perception that leads you to your ultimate conclusion.

It seems to be similar to people watching a car accident. I observed one and it was as if time slowed right down until the cars collided. Later what was understood to have happened as seen by various witnesses was totally different and it seemed as if each saw a different scene. Presumably they were watching the same accident scene and from the same reality.

It can be as you say but many strange events are for a purpose. All were there to gain, learn from in some way. We have previously mentioned there are no accidents and it is the way it is. Relate that to what you saw. Why were these strangers, supposed strangers, unfamiliar to each other, at the same place to have witnessed what they saw? Each was there with a purpose to observe. It cannot be any other way. Each would have gained something from the participation and then gone on their way.

You are not going to tell me it could have been one of those 'rabbit hole' experiences and I only thought there was an accident?

We cannot go that way for we are not privy to your forces, what you sought to learn from the activity. We can only point out, mention to you, that all gained in some way. You would need to process what you sought and what you gained. We are not aware of this event you have mentioned. We can only hypothesis and go that way.

We feel we have given you enough to think about for today. We take our leave now. Peace and blessings go to one and all. We are gone.

o0o

Drawing From Within

On thinking about our discussions would like to talk about my conclusions reached. Everything is happening now. Do we agree with that concept?

Yes, it is the way.

I need to put my thoughts into third dimension speak to make them cogent to me.

That is the way to understand your concept. Please go that way.

To do so I have to think of us, everything, having form and a timeline. I also need to speak of 'up there' when in fact that is illusion too. It is a rarefication of energy and perhaps when we come here it is an exchange of energy somehow.

No, it is not the way. You are starting to lose yourself, your thoughts now.

Then let's try another way. I am spirit looking at everything, 'past, present, future' as we say but also looking at other dimensions, multi-dimensions, including but not only of this third world continuum. It is like a game that has all the props and ways to proceed already set out.

We can see your logic and understanding and if it makes it cogent for you, please continue. We can fill in gaps if you choose.

That would be very helpful because I am only feeling my way. Other dimensions, whatever can be imagined are already there created by the imagination of others. I see these learning opportunities and know they are there to take my pick from.

Yes, you are on 'the right track' so to say.

I am looking at a scene and can see how it will play out. Action is already underway so people are already there. Are you telling me that the action being seen I am already participating in?

It is the way. You have no timeline constraints, you already exist in the 'energy exchange', so to say. It cannot be any other way.

You have already mentioned that I am a thought form self from another self.

That is the way. You are starting to get a different idea of 'what is what' as you say.

Really I'm not. I am trying to understand this newer, to me, way of seeing things. As a self, a consciousness, see a particular game I choose to experience and participate in. I choose all the necessary props, energies, to work with me. As explained in my e-book The Earth Energy Connection this includes the elementals and their particular overseer who will create the physical blueprint I will use for my participation.

The relationship with the elemental energies is a symbiotic one because while they help anchor me here, on whatever level, they are also benefiting from the exchange of energy from me. As I experience and grow they also experience and grow.

Yes, it is the way. Look from their 'viewpoint' so to say. They are not inert and have their own fields of endeavors. They benefit, as you state for they are of this level, wherever the game play is but cannot benefit or function without your input. You create the form and they oblige in their way.

We create the form by use of imagination?

We are endeavoring to simplify our thoughts here for it is only partly right with what you say.

I need to read back what we have discussed this morning and also dig deeper into myself for more questions to the answers you have kindly provided today.

Then we leave you to your thoughts. Peace and blessings go to one and all. We are done for the day.

o0o

Never Cast Adrift

It has been mentioned that prior to incarnating we see possibilities in what we seek to achieve once incarnated. In part of your explanation given you stated, 'You are never 'cast adrift' as you say. You are always taken care of, advised and given understanding of events you are planning to expose yourself to before it happens. You are guided and explanations are given of what is required, the issues you are likely to experience and the ramifications inflicted upon you, your finite body'.

Is the advice given by a part of self, a more rarefied, or learned part?

It may be the way. We have sought to give you an 'overview' so to say of what transpires. It may be that it is a part of your self or it could be, go another way. All are connected you see so it is not one fell swoop of only being one way. It could be many giving advice at the time. Many include your 'soul' as you say. It could be only from this existence being.

It could be from others who are not as familiar with the Earth and its constraints yet also see opportunities and pitfalls they seek to make you aware of before initiation. It can be, go any way with this.

Well, when we had incarnated is any advice given then? Are we left to our own devices or is help always at hand and if it is, how do we access it?

Guidance is always there. It is always provided for, so you see, you are not cast adrift. You have helpers who are there to call upon when your times of need are upon you. They 'hover', so to say, but do not come to your aid unless you call out in need

It is up to you, your growth pattern, what you have called to you, for those events, energies to take place. You are responsible for your thoughts and actions at all times yet, when, as we said, you are in dire need and call out for sustenance, we do heed the call.

We do not come when you are quite capable of initiating what is required for yourself by yourself. For us to interfere at these times would be deleterious to your growth. We don't go that way.

You previously mentioned when the road is narrow and stony you are able to assist. Is this what you are now referring to?

It is the way it is. Sometimes you are taxed almost beyond endurance. You may have 'bitten off more than you can chew' as you say. You feel you have been deserted by kith and kin and all appears to be against you.

If, at these times, you could allow us to come forward to impinge upon you, your energy grid to give you substance that would lift yourself higher than appears to be the way at these times. We have always provided, given you substance by way of encouragement.

When times are 'tough' as you say, we are always there encouraging. 'Don't give up' we say. 'Don't fall by the wayside with your ambitions, your dreams. A little more is the way. You can do it'. We encourage you along these ways by giving you impetus, emotional substance to help you over tough times you have instigated.

We do not carry you but we do support you with encouragement. In this way, by this, we are able to sometimes pierce through the malaise, the pit of despondency you have cloaked yourself in.

Are you able to guide us, perhaps move us from something that could be harmful by a word or two in our ear?

If you think you can do something and it is to your detriment, if before you go ahead, proceed, we can advise you. However if you listen only with 'one ear' so to say and choose to follow your own way we are not able to assist. You will learn your own pattern flow your own way.

I do understand that you cannot override our choices and sometimes think it would have been a good idea if you had been able to. It probably would have helped me in situations unwise to be in.

We can advise you prior to a way you may be choosing. We can instruct you as to the ramifications but, if you recall, we are not able to assist in other ways. We cannot intervene in your decisions.

What about the times you mentioned when the right person appears at the right time or we have a windfall when we need it? Aren't you the providers or instigators at those times?

No, it is not the way. We are what you refer to as your support group. Any other material help that comes your way is your instigation.

Is it then we are learning to do mind control and change situations to our advantage?

It is always the way it is. You provide for yourself in all ways. We guide, advise but let you furnish and get on with the rest.

It is your growth pattern you have initiated at these times. It is to your advantage to learn this well. You are not advised to count on others for your sustenance. It is there, for you, provided by you. If others appear to be the givers it is only by your 'grace', so to say, that it is initiated.

If it is the other way, the shoe on the other foot, it is also the way. You bring it all in for your learning. It cannot flow, be any other way.

I will finish our discussion for today. Thank you for your guidance. It is always helpful.

Then we go our way. Peace and blessings go to one and all. It is done and we are gone.

The Illusion of Reality

Edgar Allan Poe: All that we see or seem is but a dream within a dream

o0o

All Degrees of Observation

We are moving from one epoch and entering another. We have been told we are here to help anchor or bring these newer energies in. I can't follow that logic because whether we are here or not these energies will still continue to arrive. Your comments please.

You have your way of seeing things, events as they come to pass. You are correct when you say that the energies will manifest whether you, humanity, is here or not. However, what you are possibly not factoring in is, which way would these newer energies manifest if you, as an observer, were not here to observe?

Other energies would be here and they would be their way?

It is all in degrees of observation. You do attach to you other learning, other ways of seeing and bringing in whatever you desire. It is your way and is meant to go along that thread. But, as we said, other energies also have their ways of progress and they will manifest whatever is needed for their way.

If we bring in what we desire by use of our imagination, how do the others, other forms attach whatever it is to them to manifest it? Do they also have imagination?

It is the way it is all constructed. You do not work as a 'team' so to say. You work alone with your imagination and activate, bring in whatever it is you desire. Others, not of your energy, also have their desires but their desires are met as a team effort.

This is how the earth elemental energy overseer works? By magnetizing and creating in form what we have imagined?

Yes, he has his day along that way. He initiates, brings in, collates whatever your desires have been in a creation. He grows along this way.

What happens if we, as spirit, decide not to come here?

Then it is a fait accompli. He goes on to other learning that is not of your way.

What about the other earth elemental beings, the little folk such as the gnomes, fairies and others of the nature world who tend to the trees, flowers and insects? They are also a consciousness energy so what happens to them when their day is done? Where do they go? They seem to have a hierarchy and learn along that way. What happens here?

All learn in their own inimitable presence, way and it all goes of accord. Their progress is assured but they resonate to another level divine and go another way. They work in cohesion, is a way of stating their aims and needs.

Do they get absorbed back into their energy format? With my inner vision once saw some nature spirits in a golden band of, presumably, energy. Is that what you are referring to here?

It may be the way. What we are attempting to offer you is what you asked about firstly. It is how does the intending energy flow come in if there are no humans around to anchor it in. We are answering your question by stating that it still manifests from 'the ether' as you say.

All you have initiated is there for your understanding in some way. You have created form, all form that is in your existence at any time so to say. Everything is there at your behest.

But I may not ever meet or come in contact in any way with these people mentioned. Are they there as energy props?

All we say is that everything in your 'dream sequence', so to say, you have initiated in some way for some purpose. We follow your question but are unable to be specific here, more than what we have offered as our answer.

It is not our way that we are able to ascertain all efforts, all experiences that you, or others undergo on your earthly sojourns. We can only point the way of needs, requirements and what you achieve and bring into yourself, your energy flow experience. We cannot personalize it at all but can give you the blanket sweep of what takes place at any 'avenue, time' as you say.

You have previously mentioned we might be sharing our dream sequence, game, with other souls who also seek to learn from whatever we are initiating with our mind power. That is correct?

Yes, it is the way.

So, all antisocial behaviour, despots and the like are there, brought in by us for whatever we choose to participate in and learn from?

It is the way it is but not all times you are plagued by these sorts. Other times you may choose a time of bliss, of freedom from cares as you absorb yourself in other pursuits. You may, as an example, seek to experience life as a creator of paintings and establish yourself along this way.

You may choose a life of caring for others, of servitude, all the while you are gaining, learning ways, other opportunities that may enhance you and take you far along your life's experiences. It is all up to you. You initiate, instigate and it follows through.

We feel we have given you answers to your questions and enough to ponder on. We leave you now with best wishes for all you earthly sojourns. May you reach in and find what you are searching for, working on. We leave you now. Peace and blessings go to one and all. We are done, gone for the day.

More Than The Butterfly Effect

Wherever we are prior to incarnating and, as a thinking consciousness, we able to see everything?

As consciousness you see all opportunities that you can enhance yourself with. You see all opportunities for yourself and for others if you see it that way. You encompass all, no separation so what effects one effects all. Do you understand what we are imprinting onto your consciousness here?

Is this the butterfly effect in some way?

Much, much more than that concept. You are all (All?) , no separation.

Then to explain my thoughts I need to simplify this image for my comprehension. We, as spirit, are somewhere, wherever our consciousness, our personal magnetic energy field has been activated by our thoughts. We are not doing much, perhaps just drifting, looking at what we want to experience next.

Our choices are many, other dimensions, planets, whatever we have the ability to access. We see there is already activity in each of the areas and we can encompass and we see all time frames at once. Is this going okay so far? I have simplified it for my comprehension.

Yes, we can understand and see your plan. Please proceed.

These people already in the action? Who are they? I have not incarnated anywhere yet so they can't be mine or anyone I know.

And why not, we say? Why would they not be a part of all you contain? We go this way, explaining this. You are all (All?) therefore they must be a part of your divinity.

Maybe I didn't explain myself very well. Action is already in place and I am watching as if at a play or movie. I don't recognize any of the participants so how can they be a part of me?

I do understand what you have just said but you have also previously mentioned that all characters, players in any of my lifetimes are there because of me in some way. My understanding of what you said is that none are strangers, even if I don't recognize them.

Yes, we recall our words and it is the way. You do instigate, bring in whichever, whatever you see to see and enhance your incoming flow of energy with this.

So, the people I am watching, they are a part of me?

All are there at your instigation.

So, looking at the action, period, area, all I see, even thought still not incarnated, I have brought everything into existence to see if it unfolds how I want it to be?

In a very simplistic form, way, yes.

Then if I decide not to go that way, participate in a lifetime there I can let the energy go and it floats away?

Simplicity again, yes. You have temporarily discussed, brought it into being and it has not been created with the full force of the character personality energy you would use. It 'floats away' as you say for there is no energy construction to hold the form in place.

Then if nothing is 'cut in stone' so to say, how do probabilities work once we have incarnated?

Your choices, aptitudes will bring in the sway, form required for your needs. You have choices and, as you say, nothing is cut in stone, your changing desires will mark the way.

You are gaining much along this line of reasoning for it is taking you past your preconceptions, your comfort zone and we see much to be applauded and gained by this and along this line of reasoning. It is to be, meant to open other ways of seeing, of possibilities unknown before this channeled information came to the fore.

We feel we have given you enough to think about so will go our way and leave you with your thoughts. Peace and blessings go to one and all. We are gone, done for the day.

It's All a Game

When we spoke recently you intimated, that all is illusion, even the other realities and worlds we seek to explore. Am I right with my understanding here? If so, where do you fit in to the overview? Where do we all fit in?

Any way you choose. We have already explained this fact to you. You can understand it better if we see you as children playing with their toys. They have chosen their game play and are totally involved in whatever world they have created
