Chapter 2

Register A Domain Name

Well, a website is just like an address, I mean your residential address on the internet. In computer parlance, it is called 'URL' which is a short form of "Uniform Resource Locator" or even "Uniform Resource Identifier" (URI).

According to Wikipedia, a URL is a URI that, "in addition to identifying a resource, [provides] a means of locating the resource by describing its primary access mechanism (e.g., its network 'location')."
