Overview

Grunwald Magnusson was always a lonely person, ever since childhood where he struggled to understand people. People were his antagonists. People were always interfering in his life. Why did his father give him this ridiculous name and leave him when he was only five years old? Only his father could tell him what to do with his life. He left him a coded message which took Grun months to decipher. The message was locked in a cabinet under the mirror which Grun was always frightened to look into. It had runic symbols running around it. His mother had given Grun the key when he turned twenty one. Grun had found another key in the cabinet and a letter. The letter was from his father. It said he must begin the quest? After much work Grun finally managed to find the hidden box. Why didn't his mother know anything about it, or anything relevant about his father? All she said was she was told by Grun's father never to sell the house and to give him the key.

Grun was on the threshold of something which would alter his life forever. The box which was buried in the outhouse under the floor contained an assortment of things. It would take Grun three years to even begin to understand them. The main thing was the book.

After another three months of decoding he found the second letter hidden behind the fitted bookshelf. The letter said that he should stand in front of the mirror at a certain time and he would be given certain powers!

The time was the spring equinox. Grun stood in front of the mirror at twelve o'clock. He meditated for several minutes with his eyes closed. When he opened them he could see a man writing a message on the inside of the mirror. He knew this man to be his father.

Grun had copied the message which remained for ten minutes after his father disappeared. Grun was disappointed at not being able to talk with his father but he knew that his father had Grun's welfare at heart. Grun started to practice the exercises which were given him. The details are too secret to reveal here.

Scene Thirty Nine: Secret Location

Grun is now untied but handcuffed; he is led to the toilet. Grun knows that he can now influence the agents by simply being in the same room. He is confident and sure in his ability.

Agent Forty two:

OK, now you are finished relieving yourself, you are going to be submitted to a new, and not very nice system of interrogation, which involves noise and sleep deprivation, so if I were you, I would comply fully, with everything we ask of you, is that understood?

Grun:

I want to have a nice cup of tea, and some muffins, is that understood?

Agent Forty two:

Absolutely, my colleague will get them. Max, nip to the canteen and get Grun some refreshment, he wants muffins and tea.

Agent Fifty three (Max)

OK, anything else? What about bringing the TV in here, I'm sure he is a football fan.

Agent Forty two:

Yes and maybe some beer.

Grun;

No beer, thanks, listen, I have to leave here in ten minutes, don't make a fuss, or there may be trouble, just sit here quietly, and then arrange for my departure, say that I am being transferred to another location, is that understood?

Agent Forty two:

Yes, no problem.

The agents are now sat quietly, and Grun feels good. The spell is working well, Grun then asks for his coin back; agent forty two gets up and moves to the other room where he unlocks a drawer and takes out the coin, he then comes back and offers it to Grun.

Grun:

Tomorrow you will go to the British Library and tell them that you are taking the relic out. You will not give any information to the people who will try to stop you; just say the plans have changed and that you are responsible for it. Show them your I.D. cards and reassure them that you will take care of the relic. Then bring the relic to me at the location I will give you later. Give me one of the spare mobile phones that you keep here and inform me when you will meet me, to give me the relic, you will not go home tonight, you will sleep in the van, and tomorrow you will wash in the toilets at the railway station, before going to the library; do not tell anyone where you are going, or what you are doing, is that understood?

Yes.

Grun finishes his tea and muffins and then they leave the building in a van, Grun is taken to the underground where they take off the handcuffs, and wish him well, they then drive off.

Scene Forty: Special Branch HQ

Agent Forty Eight:

OK, Miss. Godfrey, I want you to tell me why you contacted Grun Magnusson and what he said.

Anna:

If I told you, you wouldn't believe me.

Agent Forty Eight:

I have to tell you, that if you don't cooperate, you will be held indefinitely as a collaborator.

Anna:

I had a dream, which said I must contact Grun and apologize.

Agent Forty Eight:

And the dream told you where to find him?

Anna:

Yes.

Agent Forty Eight:

You can't expect me to believe that.

Agent Forty Eight is summoned by his colleague in the other room who tells him that the recording device won't work.

Agent Forty Eight:

This is just what happened, with Magnusson; the cameras and other recording equipment wouldn't work. OK, get it down in shorthand.

Agent Fifty One:

I can't do shorthand.

Agent Forty Eight:

Well any hand, just write it down.

He walks back to the interview room.

Agent Forty Eight:

Miss. Godfrey, tell me all you know of Grun Magnusson.

Anna:

We are friends from school; he was way ahead of anyone else in all subjects. He could have been a top university graduate, he said he could figure out the Hodge Conjecture and the Riemann Hypothesis but he wanted to leave high school and do his own thing; we lost touch after that.

Agent Forty Eight:

What about the mystical side of things?
