Intro

This guide took some time to put together. It does not claim to be the fastest, just the most efficient. Unlike retail, in classic/vanilla there are not many routes to take or places to go, so if you are an avid guide users, you will find this path pretty much the same as others out there. There are a few unique tips in this guide that will hopefully feel fresh, however, for the most part is is a standard route.

Included in the guide is a leveling guide for all classes in their respective starting zones. You will have to train at your appropriate trainer where it says “train class” or “train”. The starting zones for all the classes will level you to 12, after that, all classes will continue the guide from Darkshore. Throughout the guide, it will try to take you to a city when you level so you can gear up, AH and train.

Another thing to keep in mind, this guide is meant for the intermediate player. It is assumed you know your way around the game and it s mechanics, and can outsource information when you are stuck. There are many guides (in game especially) that work great for the neophyte. This is not one of them. This is a hard-core step by step (Alt-Tab method) of getting around. However, even if you are new, this guide is not the complicated to follow.

This guide DOES have many of the dungeons listed, but not the guide for them. You will either have to know your way around, or be in a group that has a good leader. Or, like many people, you can skip the dungeon sections. Doing this you will miss lots of XP, so use the tip below with professions to keep your XP up.

Guide Definitions

Throughout the guide, several phrases come up. Most are pretty self explanatory, however, just for clarity, they have been listed below.

- Turn In: Go do designated NPC/Item and turn in X quest.
- Accept: Take X quest. Note: Some quests are ignored.
- Complete: Finish up X quest. Note: This is usually a quest that they player has been working on throughout the guide, the “complete” indicates that it needs to be finished now if it is not.
- Keep Working On: Don't dedicate your time on this quest, but instead go to the next step in the guide, and keep working on it. Usually this is because there are several location the guide takes you that ALSO helps to finish this quest.
- DING level: Just means that you should be leveled up at this part of the guide. If not, you should not proceed through the guide until you are at the DING level.

Recommended Addons

The following addons are recommended. These are not definitive, as there are many addons that are similar to the ones listed below.

- ✓ Auctionator
- ✓ Baggon – optional
- ✓ Farmhud – optional. This is helpful for mobs as well.
- ✓ TomTom – HIGHLY RECOMMENDED! Or similar. The commands are listed in the guide for what to type in game to get your GPS pointing in the right direction. With TomTom it is usually “/way” and then your /way separated by a “,”(comma).
- ✓ Questie – Another highly recommended addon.

Recommended Professions

Lets face it, classic WoW is a grindy game. Unlike retail where you get XP for doing any type of profession, classic you do not. So picking flowers, and mining, will not get you xp. They do help with making money. To circumvent this, you need a profession that requires you to be killing mobs to get XP. The following are professions recommended to help leveling. - In short it is any profession that requires you to grind mobs. The following profession will allow you to kill mobs and get xp to help with the grind

- Skinning: The obvious one.
- Cooking: Focus on recipes that require to you to kill mobs for food ingredients
- First Aid: For non healers: Have to kill humanoid mobs for cloth.
- Tailoring: Same as above, however, great for healers as well.

Using this tip, you will not be able to use the associated profession (example if you get skinning, you need to get tailoring as well – so you can grind on all types of mobs to get mats and XP).

This again, is optional, but have found that if you need to grind for XP, might as well work on professions at the same time! Level efficiently! And make some GOLD!! Remember in classic/vanilla you need to be constantly earning XP as at higher levels, quests are not as abundant.

Another reason for this, is because, many people do not like doing dungeons, but instead, just explore and gradually level up. Because of this, they will lack the XP that the dungeon players get. When going out of your way to work on professions that give you XP, you will be ahead in the levels, and can bypass the dungeons if you prefer.
