Introduction

Hello and thank you for downloading this eBook which follows on from Life and Sentience available on this site.

Life and Sentience looks at how and why life on Earth appeared developed over billions of years and how and why that life was shaped and developed.

This development brought what would become humans to a certain point using the sun's energy to make working, physical human forms, but to progress further humanity needed to be more independent from the process that had brought us into existence.

Being independent would allow humans to develop in a more unique way making us more useful to Life and Sentience through fulfilling their purpose for us and for humans to move towards gaining Personal Life.

Life and Sentience made physical life to fulfil their purpose which is for humanity to continually become more complex and to gain understanding.

Through this the Life and Sentience of this universe could flow through humans into the Life and Sentience of previous universes.

Life and Sentience shows how humans were developed to advance us and this eBook looks at what came next and where and why it all went wrong.

Previous Life and Sentience used energy essence, which is an energy program that controls the way energy works to form systems and processes in males.

Viruses were brought into existence to develop males and bacteria were brought into existence to develop females to advance pre humans to what would become modern humans and to where we are today.

Energy essence was used to form immune and nervous systems and advance brain and mental development and viruses were used to supply that energy essence which is the power that makes systems and processes work in humans, which are based on electricity.

The problem with the energy essence used was that there was no energy essence available as it was all in use.

So the energy essence of a previous universe was used as physical life couldn't advance without it, but as it came from another universe it didn't work well in this universe, giving rise to defective functioning in humans especially in the immune system.

Viruses were used to receive streamed ideas from Previous Life, the storehouse of data obtained from previous universes, into selected males to advance them.

Bacterial energy was used to improve the immune and nervous systems and brain cells in all females, which were passed on to children and bacteria were also used to give females additional abilities.

Looking at viruses and bacteria we mostly see the harm they do and we miss how viruses and bacteria have been used to develop and shape humanity into what we are today in an ongoing process.

Bacteria in females also harvest and recycle energy from males and other sources and recycle it into children, becoming the main factor in human development.

Once modern humans came into existence through the recycling of energy through children the next step was programming males through ideas, which is permanent and exterior, and the advancing of females through their brains accumulating data, information and knowledge which can be temporary and interior.

Males supplied data or ideas and used it to form structure and societies and females used the same data or ideas to benefit the people in those societies through education, health, socially and so on as males are more interested in things and females more interested in people.

This book covers a period of hundreds of thousands of years up to the present time and is a brief overview touching on the main factors behind change and development in humans to gradually introduce the main ideas.

So let's get started.

Thanks for the download, enjoy the book and good health x.

1 – Modern Humans

The focus of this eBook is between 200,000 and 300,000 years ago up to the present time.

This eBook is about energies and how they were used to advance and develop what would become humans, called Homo sapiens or modern humans and how and why those modern humans continued developing into what we have become.

Life and Sentience showed that humanity was on a journey where the physical body was developed by the Physical Sentience of this universe and when that development had reached a certain point, that is where a brain started to form, Brain Sentience took up residence in that brain and took over the process of advancing human systems and processes, energy and mental development, effectively advancing humanity.

All physical life up to modern humans had been developed by the Physical Sentience of this universe passing blended energy from the sun into cells it had put together producing different forms of physical life with a developed body and basic systems, but not much more than that.

To continue development modern humans had to emerge filled with content: passion and drive, ideas and the ethics, virtues, skill, talent and everything else needed to advance humans by making us more complex and capable of advanced understanding.

Previously energy essence, which controls the way energy works, was passed into very early human males eventually advancing the immune and nervous system, forming pathways in the brain and the senses and laying down the basic framework for all the electrical systems in the male body.

Through mating children acquired these advancements especially females who don't receive energy essence directly as it only goes to males and has a pioneering, advancing effect.

Males and females would receive different upgrades from different sources such as energy essence and viruses for males and the energies of and from different bacteria for females and these upgrades would pass on to male and female descendents through children.

Over time physical life developed becoming the forerunners of modern humans, but the problem was the sun's energy couldn't deliver the energy needed to advance these forerunners of modern humans any further.

The sun's energy could not develop those pre modern humans to have content such as drive, passion, emotions, ethics and virtues, intellect, advanced mental functions and a personal self leading to complexity and the ability to gain understanding that Previous Life and Sentience required from us.

Using the sun's energy Physical Sentience had developed physical life to about the level of primates, but couldn't develop life any further.

So Brain Sentience took over the development of humanity through a program of selectively breeding those forerunners of modern humans of long ago recycling their energy to accelerate their development.

Brain Sentience exists in all mobile physical life that has a brain and is an extension of Previous Sentience which it is still connected to like a power socket in a home is connected to a power station.

This new system would move the development of other mammals forward as well, but not too far bringing them to the point where they have today gained some basic emotional and mental content.

In the background to this also driving human development would be Brain Sentience which has moved humanity to where it is today and is still working expressing itself differently through females and males.

Brain Sentience used energy essence from previous universes, passed into males through viruses, to lay down essential systems and processes in pre-human males, also improving them physically and then the power in the soil and soil bacteria of this universe were used to advance females.

Energy essence had to be taken from previous universes as it's only recently that the energy essence of this universe has become available to use through using The Therapy, but the energy essence from previous universes doesn't work that well in this universe causing problems, but it was all that was available at that time.

Power in the soil was passed through soil bacteria and then transmitted into soil bacteria in females and energy essence is passed through viruses into males and this basic method was used to advance female and male pre-humans, with personal selves being added to females and males and received ideas passed into males later.

The two were kept separate although both viruses and bacteria act as receivers.

Only males received energy essence and virus energy through viruses and only females received power from the soil and bacterial energy from bacteria.

Receiving energy from different sources developed those pre-humans in different ways with females gaining emotional content and males more intellectual and abstract.

It also allowed the Brain Sentience in each a different expression through them with females becoming internal, emotional and more self focused and males becoming more external, detached and physical.

Programming ideas received from Previous Life were expressed through males by programming food energy enabling males to build and construct making less emotional males more interested in things and structures, but that all came much later.

Females gained feelings, emotions and life experiences through bacteria making females more interested in people, living things and having emotional content.

Females also gained the energy of bacteria linking them to nature, the beauty of the world around them and improving the way their internal systems worked.

During the transformation that produced modern humans bacterial energy was used to improve the immune and nervous system and the brain in females with these improvements being passed on to males children.

These systems improved in humans were already in place formed from and by energy essence and adding bacterial energy to them added to their abilities and functions especially the immune system and brain.

The arrival of the personal self about 6,000 years ago changed the energy content of humans from active to violent with males expressing that violence physically and females expressing it emotionally.

This violent energy was the result of corruption, damage and distortion done to received programming ideas in males, violent energy which would be passed on, indirectly, to children.

2 – Energy Essence

Energy essence is a programming power, not energy.

The energy essence of this universe couldn't be used by Brain Sentience to form new systems to advance humans and other forms of life as it bonds to different energies in the sun as they appear as hydrogen melts programming those emerging energies giving them abilities making the energy essence once bonded unusable as pure, unbounded energy essence is needed.

Once energy essence is bonded Brain Sentience is unable to program it to form systems in humans, but it can be programmed by the energy it's bonded to forming a programming loop that continues to program the energy essence it's bonded with.

When energy is released from hydrogen burning in the sun it's programmed by Physical Sentience which is also emerging from the burning hydrogen at the same time with energy essence also emerging to give the emerging energy properties so they interact and work with matter, especially the matter of the Earth.

For example Inferred radiation produces heat in matter; light energy produces sight in living things, radio energy produce communication skills in advanced life, not just humans, all of which is an expression of the properties or abilities of different energies programmed into them by energy essence able to produce systems through which processes work in humans and all life.

Energy essence is used to do this rather than Brain Sentience doing it directly because if brain Sentience programmed energy directly it would tie humans to it for as long as humanity existed ending one of the long term purposes of Life and Sentience that of producing Personal Life independent of it, a creative force in the universe, so flawed energy essence was used from a previous universe by Brain Sentience.

Once advanced physical life reached a certain point in development just before modern humans appeared, energy essence was used to program energy in the physical body by Brain Sentience.

Up to then Physical Sentience has formed and developed physical life by using the suns energy directly and the blended energy from the Earth.

Energy essence is the programming power that forms new systems in living things and continually improves them and those systems regulate how all energy works in physical life.

Once the systems are formed using the energy essence from a previous universe then the energy of this universe, electricity which also gains its abilities and functions from energy essence, is also used to by those systems to perform advanced functions in the physical body which can be detected and monitored by humans.

Energy essence is undetectable and can't work directly through the substance of this universe as it's too dense which is true for both the energy essence of this universe and that used from a previous one, but it can programme energy to work through and to work in this universe.

Once the energy essence of this universe is bonded with electrical energy it regulates how electricity works, not what it is which is the suns energy flowing through matter.

The energy essence of this universe, once bonded into energy, can't be programmed to do anything else, such as to produce the energy systems in living things, as the energy, energy essence is bonded to continually program it forming a programming loop locking them both together.

To be able to use the energy essence of this universe the energy essence would need to be split from the energy it's bonded to producing pure energy essence and such a process hasn't existed until recently as energy essence was always immediately bonded to some form of energy in the sun.

In this universe energy essence is produced from the sun as it burns bonding with all the energies given off acting as a program, giving each one a different set of rules to work by producing physical laws.

In our sun the streaming through of Life and Sentience ignites it through friction, like striking a match, as the Life and Sentience has just enough physical presence to do that releasing energy essence and energy which bonds together.

This friction process in the sun is also the reason why friction exists in this universe and this is also the origin of burning and combustion with the first spark, the first form of fire, coming from the passage of Life and Sentience into this universe.

The bonding process of energy essence to energy also sustains the suns fusion process.

Being bonded is why the energy essence of this universe couldn't be used in the formation and development of physical life here, but pure energy essence imported by Previous Life from a previous universe could be used, pure because towards the end of the life of a universe energy essence, and the energy it's bonded to separate.

The energy essence then becomes part of Previous Life while the energy of that universe stays behind.

Only in recent times with the development of The Therapy did pure energy essence of this universe become available.

The Therapy splits energy essence from electrical energy supplied from batteries by filtering it through putty filters, but up to now the pure form of energy essence of this universe wasn't available.

So pure energy essence, imported from previous universes by Previous Life, was used to advance physical life here as it was close enough to the energy of this universe to work here and form the necessary systems, although it's not fully compatible with the matter and energy here.

Pure energy essence was used in physical life here to form and program the systems of physical life such as in the brain, immune and nervous system which could then use electrical energy of this universe supplied from the chemicals here in food, but they're not a good match and don't work well together like trying to run an old legacy program on a new computer operating system.

Energy essence is received by males which continually improve the systems in males advancing male development.

Through mating these improvements are passed on to females who pass them on to children.

The use of energy essence from a previous universe opens the door to illness and the destabilising of humans and the systems and processes within us.

The use of energy essence from a previous universe allowed humanity to develop, but leaves humans open to mental, emotional and physical illness and needs to be replaced with the pure energy essence of this universe which is what The Therapy does making the physical systems and processes within us function more efficiently and are more robust.

More efficient functioning means the immune system is able to purge the cells of harmful, toxic energy which cause so many illnesses.

After that the processes and systems are purged of usually toxic and polluted energy such as from car exhausts lodged which when lodged deep in the systems of the back causes the back and joint pain known as rheumatoid arthritis which exists in just about everybody.

It's instructive to watch the purging of the layers of the body once The Therapy has been used from start to finish as it's done in sequence.

More pathways can be added to the brain with the nervous system inflated by pumping more energy down the nerve fibres making them more robust to infection and stress and allowing the nervous system up to receive more information which is fed into the brain with its newly added capacity.

Energy essence was imported from Previous Life into the pre modern humans long ago to form the systems and processes of basic immune and nervous systems, form pathways in the brain enlarging it and form any system or process in the body requiring energy essence.

Improvements were done over millennia as the brain needed thousands of years to enlarge with new pathways before programming ideas could be received and thought and memory would be needed.

Energy essence from a previous universe can't be detected due to its place of origin which also produces problems with thought and memory making it hard for thought to work things out also producing a poor memory failing as a person's life progresses.

The plan of Brain Sentience was to use energy essence from a previous universe to form and advance physical life and then replace that energy essence when stored electrical power from batteries providing the energy essence of this universe became available, as mains generated electrical energy is incompatible with humans.

For humans to replace the old energy essence within us with the energy essence of this universe would be a breakthrough in understanding leading to huge changes in us by having a more suitable, uncorrupted operating system, systems and processes signalling we are ready to progress.

Once humans have used The Therapy from start to finish and received all the energy essence from the sessions that energy essence will replace the old energy essence from a previous universe in their bodies so their bodies will function more efficiently.

3 – Viruses

Viruses are very significant in the development of humanity as males are virtually an expression of viruses and viruses are the expression and constructed from energy essence.

Energy essence is controlled by the immune system which is the expression of Brain Sentience.

So viruses which enable the functioning of males and give males abilities to carry out those functions do so because Brain Sentience is forming and controlling them.

Viruses, which modify males and bacteria, which modify females, act in parallel to each other.

Much of the development of physical life also acts in parallel, such as viruses and bacteria, the split in life generally into male and female, the sperm and the egg and male and female humans.

This is to keep everything in balance so one side doesn't get bigger than the other especially in humans because physical life can only develop and advance when the two sides are in balance.

The different blended energies that form male and female bodies are passed into cells by Physical Sentience establishing the form and basic characteristics of those bodies making a template.

Male and female blended energy is passed into all cells, but where there is more male energy male children are produced and where more female energy goes into the cells, female children are produced.

This establishes male and female bodies or the sex of human bodies and is the basic human body or human template.

It's like a new computer before an operating system is installed which is a close parallel to the way males function but females while similar are more organic with less boundaries and restrictions than males.

Human male and female bodies are defined by physical characteristics such as internal or external reproduction equipment and females giving birth and recycling energy into children, with different energies passed into male bodies from viruses and for females from bacteria.

It's these energies from viruses and bacteria that enable humans, male and female to develop and progress as individuals and as a group.

Females giving birth and the act of conception are very significant as it happens not just with children, but also in society where females release huge amounts of energy every time an unfertilised egg passes from the female body to form a background energy supporting a settlement or society.

This is felt and terms, such as concepts, from conception and giving birth, to ideas, the energy of which supports the expression of received male ideas like a chalk board to chalk.

Virus energy, while developing systems and processes in males and bacteria giving emotional and human content in females, also establishes itself near the surface of the male body supplying it with what may be called its nature and tendencies and what's perceived as male energies, which is the energy of the viruses.

These virus energies, which originate from Previous Life varies from male to male with some getting a lot some a little due to the energy received acting as a wave going from high to low about twelve times a year or once and month in a constant cycle.

Males also receive female energy through the birth process which will be looked at further on.

Viruses have been made to, amongst other things, pass on the characteristics and abilities of different viruses into human systems, for instance making the way an immune system works and detects making its actions hostile, attacking and able to kill.

Energy essence from previous universes is passed into male physical life in this universe through viruses which act as a gateway enabling old energy essence to form systems and fill processes with suitable energy in the male humans of this universe.

Many millions of different viruses have to be in a male body to receive a large stream of energy essence flowing into that person and the blueprints that form viruses are the product of previous universes stored in Previous Life.

Viruses are based on blueprints from a previous universe producing programs which form a local, physical gateway in the flow of energy essence which we call viruses and as energy essence isn't alive, neither are viruses.

Energy essence isn't detectable in humans and neither is the programming streaming within it.

Energy essence forms the physical particle we call a virus using the matter of this universe which changes the energy essence passing through it enough enabling the old energy essence to use the energy in this universe to form systems and processes in human males.

For old energy essence to stream into a male receivers and transformers are needed in the male which are viruses.

Passing the energy essence of this universe into a person through the use of The Therapy isn't reliant on viruses being in a person to receive or enable that energy essence to work in humans and is the first step towards humans taking over human development which is necessary for humans to advance towards Personal Life.

Once formed that physical particle, or virus, can move about from human male to female, but it can also be streamed directly into males through energy essence as a program, forming a virus, or many millions of viruses within a person.

Many different types of viruses are formed, different due to their different programming giving rise to a different chemical composition and viruses are negatively charged particle and the human body is slightly positively charged outside cells.

Human cells are negatively charged inside cells which is why viruses need to enter a cell to reproduce using cell material within and the negatively charged energy to power the process.

The Therapy raises the positive electrical charge in the systems of the human body which is under the control of the immune system allowing it to allow in wanted viruses and to repel unwanted ones.

Most viruses are harmless and don't have the ability to produce symptoms, yet they do or appear to.

The symptoms come from the reaction to viruses by harmful energy, usually polluted energy from car exhausts, already lodged in the systems of the body which over time will produce symptoms or the illness called rheumatoid arthritis, if the systems of the back and legs are filled with polluted energy and migraine, asthma and associated congestive conditions, if the systems on the front of the body are.

Early on in a person's life, before the pollution level has built up in a person's systems to the point where it causes joint inflammation and joint pain with rheumatoid arthritis or migraine, asthma and congestive conditions, there is enough polluted energy in the systems to cause symptoms when provoked by viruses, symptoms associated with the virus, because when the virus has gone the symptoms go, but really the harmful energy has settled down.

Most times viruses are in maintenance mode supplying energy essence at a low constant rate supporting males set on a course of action expressing a main idea, or more usually supporting a male expressing a main idea, but occasionally males need a powerful amount of energy essence to shock them into action.

This is done by flooding the male systems with a huge viral load which pass on powerful main ideas and supporting ideas which can give rise to a once in a lifetime insight having a powerful effect on others, or be continuous giving a male powerful, main ideas ongoing throughout life changing society.

These powerful infections by viruses sweep through the males in society inspiring most males a little, but others a huge amount who go on to change society with the type and amount of viruses infecting males depending on where humans were in personal development and in society.

Looking back over the last few centuries viral infections have been continuous and substantial to inspire males who change the society they live in and once the viruses had delivered energy essence and ideas the immune system disposes of them making way for the next wave of viruses or the agitated toxic energy could develop into an illness perhaps even leading to death.

The symptoms associated with viral infection are the result of toxic pollution in the body being agitated by the vast amounts of energy essence entering the female body producing symptoms.

In females the viruses enters in vast numbers agitating existing toxic energy in the female causing symptoms, but no energy essence is passed into the body, no ideas are received and over time the virus is disposed of by the immune system, or again the agitated toxic energy could lead to illness and even death.

Over time energy essence passing through different viruses was added to the immune system in males to transform it in different ways adding to its abilities and from the immune system all other electrical systems are supplied continuously with modified energy essence improving them.

The immune system was regulated by Brain Sentience which programmed the immune system to ignore needed viruses so they stay unharmed in the body constantly supplying energy essence.

As viruses are formed from the energy essence from a previous universe they can be very difficult to combat and a challenge for modern scientists to defeat, which means humans have to try harder and understand better, a desired effect.

Viruses are distorted or twisted being made up of previous universe energy essence and matter from this one.

This distortion in viruses produces stress and unease in the electrical systems of a living body and is always present as viruses need to be in the human body in order to stream and modify or program energy essence sent from Previous Life.

To begin with pre modern humans received a weak, inefficient, basic immune and nervous system powered by previous universe energy essence which was strengthened by Brain Sentience adding more energy essence and the different energies and abilities of viruses over time which made the immune system an extension or expression of viruses having the same abilities as those viruses.

Increasing the energy essence content increased the power of immune systems and their ability to detect damage and kill which is the action and expression of viruses.

Pure energy essence is passive, a tool used to power and programme systems, but as it passed through certain viruses to enter the human body those viruses passed on their specialised characteristics making the immune system programmed by energy essence active, attacking and powerful and able to kill which is what the immune system does to pathogens, especially bacteria.

Programming energy essence in this way making it active and powerful able to kill didn't just stay with the immune system, but males were also programmed in the same way giving males the active power needed to build and shape the world.

Males also acquired the ability to kill an extension of the immune system.

Emotions also arrived in males through energy essence as supportive ideas in males and are artificial due to their source, but are the origin of emotions in both males and later females.

Emotions are given males when the male brain has developed far enough in order to guide males in situations and to aid in the correct expression of main ideas and to develop those ideas, but it's left up to the male brain to assign the emotions to give certain situations and events emotional content and to react appropriately.

Emotions give humans a common framework and when we all feel the same there is more cohesion and working together helping advancement and development, but although emotions are called the same in males and females they are completely different with deeper emotional content in females due to the addition of meaning and the power of the Earth.

Emotions are passed to females to enable them to support males and guide and care for children paralleling the way supportive ideas help and guide males expressing main ideas.

Females also see humanity as an extension of the child and wishes to guide and care for all humans for which they will unify their energies.

Emotions are passed on to females after the death of males when the emotions go into the Earth to become meaningful when encountering the meaning in dense matter and they also gain the power of the Earth.

From the Earth these emotions, now more authentic and real due to them gaining meaning and power are recycled on into females through bacteria in the soil.

Over time females will be born with powerful emotions and they will still receive emotional energy from bacteria in the soil during their lifetime.

These emotions are completely different than feelings which generally come from the type of food consumed which are of the body and the sensations of the body.

This isn't the origin of all emotions, just those which can help and support the expression of ideas, in males and care and personal behaviour in females.

Fear, pain, terror and joy, for example have different origins.

Energy essence in males was and is constantly being supplied through viruses in the male body, but the limited amounts of energy essence passed on to female children was and is only enough to programme their immune system which programmed other systems, so females were not turned directly active and powerful the way males were as they have a different purpose which is to accumulate, improve and recycle energy into children and then to guide and care for their upbringing.

4 – Soil Energy

Energy essence can program, be programmed and be added to, but only in living things.

The immune system in females and males was now able to kill bacteria filled with soil energy in both females and males, but only in females is this soil energy harvested and used to upgrade the female systems by bonding to existing energy essence transforming and adding bacterial abilities to it.

Females also gain emotions from harvested soil energy that have passed into the Earth from males upon death which become emotions transformed by meaning and power giving them more depth.

Meaning, that is authenticity or the validation of physical life, comes into existence when the suns energy comes into contact with dense matter producing meaning in the soil which happens in the Earth.

Soil energy in the Earth which includes transformed emotions passes into soil bacteria when that bacteria process organic material in the soil which comes from physical life which has passed, especially human life, and everything that grows.

Emotions processed by bacterial produce an emotion energy or condition which is transmitted by billions of bacteria, along with other energies from the soil, into soil bacteria living in females all over the world.

This becomes a continuous source of emotional energy in females supplied by soil bacteria which are not killed by the immune system with their soil energy harvested.

The vast majority of bacteria in females are not killed and the bacteria and soil energy they contain links together throughout the female body to form a connected energy network.

This energy network is passed on to female children acting as the basis for female existence which can be added to and built upon and females who have this still receive transmitted energy from bacteria in the soil all their lives.

The soil energy of the bacteria that are killed by the immune system, which selects the bacteria wanted for the soil energy they contain, passes into the energy network in females, a process that only works in females although male children can inherit the benefits.

Soil energy passed into the energy network in females is used to improve systems, processes and the brain improvements which are passed on children both male and female.

Bacterial energy from the soil in females and energy essence passed into males separates females and males into two entirely different sexes and characterises gender and makes females more localised, receiving from the Earth and males more cloud based, receiving from Previous Life.

This makes females able to store and process data efficiently and they tend to enter professions where these skills are needed.

Female children receive soil energy from bacteria all through their lives improving systems such as the immune and nervous systems and developing the brain.

Females also gain an appreciation of beauty from the power of the Earth which is also transmitted to females from the soil through soil bacteria.

Males only receive improvements and benefits to systems, processes and the brain at conception and in the womb, nothing more after being born as males don't receive soil energy from soil bacteria directly.

This means that females develop faster than males and are more advanced in terms of biology and tend to be a transforming influence in society always advancing the social side.

The way females behave derives from the action and behaviour of bacteria.

The way bacteria propagate and stick together after they divide is reflected in female behaviour and the cell division in bacteria is reflected in female conception and giving birth.

The act of conception is fundamental to everything that lives and conception, where energies come together to form something different and more advanced, happens not just to produce children, but in many other aspects of human existence being the forerunner of everything humans do.

Females receive a limited amount of energy essence during mating, to be passed on to female children and males receive a limited amount of the benefit of soil energy from conception until birth, so the two processes parallel each other, but male and female energy systems are kept separate and different as females and males have different purposes.

Giving the immune system the abilities and character of viruses was a done by Brain Sentience to program, or imprint the human immune system to kill pathogens especially selected soil bacteria, so the soil energy in them could be harvested and used by the female immune system to improve systems.

Improvements from viruses to the male nervous system made it more sensitive to objects, space, distance, surroundings, speed and other abilities not alive, becoming male abilities which were passed on to females through mating.

Females received improvements to their immune systems which improved other systems under the direction of Brain Sentience and when meaningful soil energy reaches the brain it fuses with thought making it more meaningful with depth giving the female a finer feeling and control over her body and an appreciation of that control in others in, for example arts and dance.

Females were given mostly soil and bacterial energy to improve their immune/nervous systems and brain functions and bacteria being alive passed on some of their Life and Sentience into those systems which were passed on to children.

The energy network in the female acts as a platform during life which supports females mostly emotionally as the strength in females comes from emotions, but the platform is becoming weaker as it's being supplied with less energy from bacterial in the soil.

This is due to bacterial being killed through pesticides, over farming of land making the soil worthless and the tendency towards cremation giving less human organic material to process.

Also energy from pesticides and polluted insects killed by them is transmitted into the female energy platform and from there into the female energy network becoming illnesses such as rheumatoid arthritis, migraines and mental conditions.

The energy from insects and pesticides in the female energy platform and network combines with female emotions making them vicious and spiteful, which seek an outlet by attacking males, as males are more vulnerable to an emotional attack, producing more conflict and damage in males.

The emotional well being poisoned by insect and pesticide energy in females leads to mental and emotional abuse, by females and the high volume of toxic, polluted energy tends to replace clean soil energy transmitted into females, which then goes on to become the main energy being expressed.

Once the emotion platform weakens through the lack of soil energy being supplied, female emotions detach from the supporting platform causing erratic behaviour, mental problems, and self centred emotional activity with the brain processing data in a distorted way.

Once the female energy platform has reduced female energy, male energy absorbed from males, becomes strong enough to dominate and take over producing male like behaviour and attitudes producing some females, when the male energy is strong enough, to become virtual or synthetic males.
