THE ACT OF COMPASSION

by David

"Be kind to one another."

The statement is well-loved, but do we adhere to it? My thoughts are quite troubled in these times of darkness and have become slightly disorientated. To make sense of it, you must first allow yourself to be vulnerable and then bask yourself in the light.

All that matters in life is that we show compassion to others and that we live a life of integrity and to try to give back in any sort of way. It is truly a blessing to be able to help someone out. Happiness is right in front of us but many of us put importance on the wrong things; material possession, physical appearance, and physical prowess. In retrospect, do these things really mean anything? Is any of this the key to happiness? While there is nothing wrong in having fortunes, fame, or power, etc... A balance is needed and this world is so unbalanced!

True beauty is a person who is kind, loving, forgiving. True wealth is having an abundance of heart and family and friends to share it with. I fear these values are truly becoming lost!

Growing up in this harsh society, we were taught to harden our hearts in order to avoid getting hurt. But all we're doing is closing ourselves up to the energy of hope and faith! So instead of building walls and confining ourselves, why not open up our windows and let the sun illuminate our souls! And as we are liberated from our own fear, our presence automatically liberates others.

Your own soul is nourished when you're kind. When you're good to others, you're really doing yourself a favor. Your own soul is being strengthened. Your own life is being enriched. I think that we would find enlightenment from treating our souls right. When we feed it with right energies, our mind would fill with positive thoughts and our hearts with love. Our mouths would only preach positive messages and we would perform acts of selflessness.

And as we open ourselves to the world, the world would open doors for us.

Just a simple act of kindness can change your world. It can be as little as smiling to a stranger or forgiving your enemies, to helping an old lady with her groceries or donating to support a good cause.

Happiness and satisfaction does not come as a result of something we don't have but rather of recognising what we can do for others and appreciating what we do have.

Spread love to those around you!

I pray for peace
Blessings and honor
Heaven right earth's despair
This is my Christmas prayer

For those that grieve
God will bring comfort
Laughter will rapture there
This is my Christmas prayer

See I pray that love will rule and reign
And I pray that time will rid the pain of this world
As we learn to trust and care
This is my Christmas prayer

I pray for you (Yes I know you do)
That your triumph and conquer
Poses the strength you need to bare
This is my Christmas prayer

For those in need
There would be plenty
And each other's burdens share
Oh, this is my Christmas prayer

See I pray that love will rule and reign
And I pray that time will rid the pain of this world
As we learn to trust and care
This is my Christmas prayer, oh

So let hope fill our hearts (Let's let hope fill our hearts)
Shine the light through the dark
All around the world
And everywhere
I will pray
This Christmas prayer

See I pray that love will rule and reign
And I pray that time will rid the pain of this world
As we learn to trust and care
This is my Christmas
This is my Christmas prayer

See I pray that love will rule and reign
And I pray that time will rid the pain of this world
As we learn to trust and care
This is my Christmas prayer
This is my Christmas prayer

Christmas In The Sun

I simply love Christmas! Since being a kid I enjoy every piece of this merry season. Even now, being grown-up and father of two I still enjoy the magical state that only this season can bring. For sure, in Mauritius we do not have The White Christmas but rather a Christmas in the sun or in the sand. The celebration kicks off at the start of November with kids' end of year party at kindergarten and schools but I'll be honest, Santa Claus songs have been sounding since September by my 111 one.

What I enjoy the most is the Christmas carols. I can listen to these for hours, in various styles: jazz, traditional, classical, reggae and even played in sega. The group Abaim (www.abaim.mu) has done a great Mauritian version of the Christmas carols with the album 'En Nwel Larkansiel'. The songs played in their well anchored and recognisable style bring a fresh note which can be experienced on the song 'Alime Teyn' which is another version of Jingle Bells. This album might be a perfect gift for Christmas. It can be purchased can on iTunes, Deezer, CD Baby.

Christmas for me is all about the joy of being together and sharing good times. I'm looking ahead for the meals shared with loved ones, also enjoying the carolling at the conservatory's Songs For The Season concert, my mum's traditional Christmas cake and the last minute Christmas shopping. All these mix up to create a unique moment that I will love to share with those getting on board for our jolly journey. Well for you chaps, my share for this Christmas is from Christophe Rey, 'Xmas In The Sun' is a nice song with a jazzy note inviting Santa for a beer while having his toes in the sand. If ever you want to try a different Christmas as depicted in Christophe's song, come over to Mauritius and we will be dashing through the sand, then resting on the white beach with tongs on our sandy feet, while sun tanning and holding a fresh Mauritian brew.

Merry Christmas Y'all and family!
