IRREVERENT HUMOUR

EDITOR'S NOTE: Some readers may be confused, believing they've previously downloaded and read the first issue of Amock, so we think an explanation is necessary. We don't owe you one, but we had one lying about, so we thought we'd give you it anyway.

The first two issues of Amock, the magazine, were posted on Free-Ebooks.net, who even created a special Magazine Section for it. But we thought Amock deserved to go in the Humour Section because that's what it was all about, being funny. So, we took the first two issues and added the newly-completed third and amalgamated them to form the Amock Comedy Compendium which Free-Ebooks were happy to place in the Humour Section as it was an actual book as opposed to a magazine. This then is actually Issue 4 of Amock but as the first issues have disappeared it has been renumbered as Issue 1. If you really want Amock in the original running order you can get all the back issues from our website which you can visit by clicking the footer on any page. On the website you can get advance copies of the latest issue, plus extra content not included in the magazine and the opportunity to subscribe and have the latest issue of Amock delivered direct to your email inbox. It's worth a visit.

SCOTTISH LOVE SECRETS - KNEES

Och well, if it's the knees you want to know about I have a fine tale to tell you. It happened like this, you see. Many years ago a few friends and I came down from the Highlands to the bonny banks of Loch Lomond, looking for girls, as young men do. Now, one of the lads was Sandy MacAllan, a fine, big, braw, lad but awful shy with the lassies. All the rest of us would be dancing and kissing with the girlies, for the maids of Loch Lomond were ever keen on high jinks, and poor Sandy would be sitting all by himself, nursing his beer and looking miserable. So I took it on myself to have a wee chat with him about his lack of success with the womenfolk. Seems he didn't have a clue on how to approach a lassie, and I advised him to hitch his kilt a little above the knee every now and then, for he had a braw pair of knees, and that this would drive the girls into a frenzy and they wouldn't be able to resist him.

It worked a treat and Sandy MacAllan has been married eight times and always to women called Morag. He had a kind of fetish for the name. There was not a Morag for twenty miles was safe when Sandy MacAllan was in the mood and had his kilt hitched above his knee. So there you go, men, if you're the shy retiring type, or if you think you have no physical attributes suitable for attracting a mate, get your knees out and watch the lassies buckle. But avoid Morags for Sandy MacAllan is the jealous type.

SOUNDS OF TOMORROW

Greetings,

I am Svetlana Polzkivitch, best pop singer in village of Grodny, also only pop singer in Grodny. I am seeking agent, manager and record label to break into western pop music business. Also fans.

I have released single already. It is called 'GEORGI, YOU ARE HOT STUFF.' It is about my boyfriend. He is goat. My friends are saying, 'Western pop music not about girl who loves goat, Svetlana' but I am saying 'Is novelty then. They will like very much and I will be very rich and famous and buy Prius motor car'.

I wish to tell about my style which I develop all by myself. It is mixture of blues and hip-hop with touch of garage. I have many influences, main of which is Iron Maiden and Conway Twitty. My music is very popular in Grodny. Make big change from traditional folk music which is most about the village girl swooning when handsome man comes along and shows muscles. I am not swooning. I am modern woman and expert in feminine hygiene.

I am trying to build a backing band but so far only have Old Tomas on electric accordion and Simeon the Pervert on bass ukulele, but sound is good and only need a tune to help. Also I am looking for a husband as my love for Georgi is not of that type, he is soul-mate. Husband who owns a record company would be good. Also pop star, though not if gay like John Elton and Michael George. Is not approved in my culture as a girl who marries a gay man often have no children, unless a milkman is hunky type. My email address is no1popstar@grodnyvillage.non if anyone can be helping.

HOW TO AVOID BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

The Indispensable Guide

As a handsome young devil it is inevitable that you will be pursued by stunning young women who wish to be intimate with you. This can cause distress, especially for the young chap who has other calls on his time other than getting sweaty in the arms of a beguiling beauty. There are the attractions of tinkering with an automobile engine or drinking beer and swapping uplifting tales with one's chums in a bar.

So, how does the modern young man avoid the attentions of these sirens? The answer is simplicity itself, he must find the elements of his personality and physique which are attracting these hussies and remove them as soon as possible.

For instance, he may begin by approaching the pneumatic young blonde, Candy, and asking, "Hey, Candy, what is it about me that makes you drool?" She may answer that it is his impressive six-pack, in which case he should immediately start eating burgers and ice cream by the bucket-load and forego the programme of sit-ups which he has been pursuing.

Alternatively, he may find that the long-legged redhead, Tania, admires him for his sparkling wit and repartee. He must counter this by telling the joke about the nuns riding their bicycle down the cobbled street and getting the punch-line wrong!

Something along the lines of, 'Because the chain came off' should be sufficient to prove that you are an idiot and not worthy of attention.

It must be admitted that this remedy will take time to become effective. Your six-pack will not disappear overnight and Tania might well believe that you were just having an off-day with your gag. However, with perseverance, you can soon turn yourself into a fat, boring, slob, who will not be bothered by lovely young ladies who wish to share their bodily warmth with you. And that, surely, is a sacrifice worth making.

SOCCER PLAYERS SEEK SOAP

The Association of Gay Soccer Players (AGSP) is threatening that its members will go on strike unless club owners introduce slipperier soap for use in showers in their changing rooms.

"What they currently provide isn't suitable for purpose," claimed AGSP Chairman, Alfonso Da Fruité. "It is easily picked up when dropped on the floor of the shower and this does not allow our members sufficient time to make their move. What we want is extremely slippery soap which has to be groped and fumbled for before being manfully gripped. This means that the player who has dropped their soap remains bent over for an extended period, which suits us perfectly, if only for a visual feast."

"They are nuts," responded Don Macho, a spokesman for the soccer club owners. "We gave them hair gel, we gave them lube, but they're never happy. Today it's slippery soap, tomorrow it'll be beds in the dressing room for their sordid perversions."

"They are arguing from a very weak position," argued Da Fruité, "as a great number of soccer players have now come out as gay and if we go on strike the entire world of the beautiful game will come to a standstill. We have identified a brand of soap which we have tested on various players and none could pick it up without four attempts, even the goalkeepers. It is scented beautifully and only costs $4,000 more than an any bar of soap, so I don't see what the problem is. Don't they want us to be happy?"

"He can kiss my ass," reacted Macho.

"Yes please," was Da Fruité's only response.

WIFE-SWAPPER UNHAPPY

Mr Arthur Tossopot has complained to the Littlehampton Town Council that the local Wife Swapping Society has treated him unfairly by accepting him as a member and taking his annual dues, only for him to discover that none of the married men in the small English town wishes to have anything to do with his wife, Phoebe.

"She's not that bad," he insisted yesterday, in his small, semi-detached home, "a bit overweight and flat feet, but you tell me who's perfect. Mrs Blenkinsop from Bank Street's in a much worse state and they're round her like flies. If nobody fancies her, I don't get none neither."

The Council are involved because they part-fund the Society, a situation caused by the insufficiency of funds to open a local library.

"We had to give residents something in the way of leisure activities," said Cllr Nobby Backhander, "and we couldn't afford a swimming pool. The Council realise that a wife swapping society is unfair on unmarried residents but we believe in the institution of marriage and if singles want to participate they know where the church is."

Local resident, Stan Quickie, a long-standing member of the Society had his own opinion of why Mrs Tossopot had failed to find any admirers. "She's a lovely girl, actually," he said in the snug bar of local pub, the Dog and Goose, "but she does make an awful noise when she's in action. Sounds like a fog-horn. Honestly, it puts you right off."

Regarding Mr Tossopot's complaint, Cllr Backhander was dismissive, "The Council has a duty to provide facilities but not to police them. We provide tennis courts, but we don't get to say who plays."

Mr Tossopot was not conciliated. "If I don't get my money back we'll move. Smallhampton's a nice place and they'll have it off with anybody there."

He's got the Professor KNOWLEDGE Pete

Professor Pete gives you indispensable advice on all your problems.

MOVIES & PIZZA

Dear Pete,
How can I get Simone Perry to show me her boobies?
I took her to the movies and even bought her a pizza but she still wouldn't show me them. My buddy Mike said all girls would show you their boobies if you took them to the movies and bought them pizza. Do you think I should have got more topping?

Cal, Phoenix

Dear Cal,
Young men wishing to gaze upon the busties of young ladies must learn patience. Several more applications of movie and pizza may be required before a viewing is permitted and even then it may be from a distance and require a telescope, as young ladies are well aware that young men are rarely satisfied with visual gratification alone and may well attempt manual stimulus.

Pete

HAIR

Dear Professor Pete,
My girlfriend has beautiful, long, blonde hair but finds taking care of it very wearisome. She keeps threatening that one day she will have it all cut off and I worry that she won't be as attractive with short hair.
What can I do to stop her from cutting her hair?

Marty, Prague

Dear Marty,
Man, that's an easy one. Just encase her entire head in concrete so that scissors cannot reach her tresses.
Pile her hair up on top of her head first and then mould round in the shape of a helmet. When she is sleeping would be a good time.

Pete

YOUTH

Dear Prof,
I am having an affair with an older married woman, which is a new venture for me. However she complains that I am not as well built as her husband, nor as accomplished a lover, which makes me wonder as to why she is cavorting with me. I've tried to think of an ulterior motive but can't think of any. Can you suggest anything?

Ross, Chicago

Dear Ross,
It is your youth she is after; the ability to flaunt her young lover in front of her friends. Cavorting with her for a lengthy period will leave you as old and bedraggled as her husband, when she will cast you aside for a younger model.

Pete

NOTCH

Dear Pete,
I would like to give myself to Bert Milverton, but not if I'm only going to be another notch on his bedpost. Is there any way to ensure this before I concede to his demands?

Cathy, Malaga

Dear Cathy,
No absolute guarantees can be given regarding a man's intentions, save that he will divest you of your garments given the smallest opportunity. I would therefore recommend that you take out an insurance policy to ensure that you are not merely being used by Mr Milverton. I suggest you find a company which specialises in covering naughty pastimes or, depending on the circumstances of your encounter,
dangerous sports.

Pete

FISH

Dear Professor,
I find myself incredibly attracted to our local librarian, Lillian Cody, but every time I ask her out she merely snorts and charges me late return fees. I should ignore her and move on, on the principle that there are many more fish in the seas but the fact is that the seas in our area have been rather over-fished and the stock is depleted. How can I get her to take me seriously?

George, Luton

Dear George,
Tell her that the area is about to be re-stocked from a fish farm and her chances of being caught in anybody's net are diminishing rapidly. If she gets your drift she is likely to be on you like a great white shark, so be prepared for bites. Alternatively, you could always take up fishing.

he'll solve them for you.

NORTH KOREA'S KIM JONG-IL SOLVES INTERNATIONAL BAKING CRISIS

It has recently come to my knowledge that you capitalist running dogs of the West have been facing up to a baking crisis which is threatening your financial situations and your very way of life. This does not surprise me as you put too much faith and trust in your bakers, unlike we who follow the true path of communism. Nevertheless, I regard it as my duty, as a fellow human being, to advise you on how to resolve this problem.

The answer is not to place so much trust and faith in bakers for they are an evil breed, intent only on lining their own pockets by selling you shoddy bakery products. If such a situation were to occur in my glorious homeland of North Korea, I would have no bakers. I mean by this the mere wounds will not suffice. If bullets per baker I would say them dead!' Not until they were shooting them.

This would undoubtedly cause in the short term and I am bread, which you call the staff of description. You can not use it and it does not work. This I understand that because of your peasants are unemployed. to bake at home and therefore grow they may turn their hand to thus return to eating the burgers bodies. The most gifted may but these should be kept as plain encouraging decadence. A cream bun might be permissible or even a small sponge if only a little jam is used.

hesitation in shooting all shooting of them dead, for this were to take several 'Hang the expense! Shoot very dead would I cease from a shortage of bakery products thinking here especially of life, though it is a silly bread as a staff. I have tried need not be a deal-breaker as your baking crisis many of They should be encouraged feed the nation. As their skills baking buns and you may with which you pollute your even aspire to bake cakes, as possible to avoid

You may say that this is a self-defeating proposal. That the peasants who become bakers will once again hold you to ransom once they get a taste of power and there is undoubtedly an element of truth in this. But the solution is already in your hands, in the shape of an AK47. Shoot them all, I say! And it may well be that your peasants who have ambitions in the baking field will behave themselves and not bring the world to its knees if they know that the threat of a quick slug to the back of the head is waiting for them if they get up to their shenanigans again.

If you find it difficult to shoot your bakers please do not hesitate to call on the services of the North Korean armed forces who are adept at shooting people in the back of the head. They are available for a nominal fee though they would expect you to provide transport as our truck has an oil leak. Also, bullets.

I am aware that N. Korea gets a very bad press in the West and I hope that by aiding you in this way with my marvellous suggestion you will think more kindly of your communist cousins.
