Let's be clear about one thing: this eBook does not contain a magic formula for creating money. What it does contain is a step-by-step introduction to a robust and proven system for generating an increasing flow of money. It is a straightforward and schematic overview of my method that will bring you from zero knowledge to maximum potential knowledge in a short time.

The system is based on the fact that when you generate on your site a large amount of targeted content around a specific subject or "niche" and keep it growing, in the long run you will start to see an interesting phenomenon called "the long tail." Basically, your statistics data will start to fill with numerous keyword entries from search engines that hold a lot of targeted Expressions. These expressions will lead your visitor in thousands of ways right to your site.

Lets break the system down into some steps :

1. Chose a niche
2. Found an appropriate domain
3. Hire Hosting server & Register your domain
 - a. Build your master site under robust and seo oriented parameters
 - b. Rapidly and automatically inject targeted content & media to that site using the automatic content robot
 - c. Build a self-exploit web2.0 system to distribute your content on the web
 - d. Combine targets and advertise (e.g. Amazon and Adsense)
 - e. After a while, your site will start to generate a small income on its own
4. Now multiply your master site hundreds of times (with other target expressions of course) and dramatically increase your daily income!
5. Do some SEO-oriented revising

In other words: build an extremely efficient automatic income master site and rapidly multipath it to different subcategories, thus creating an independent autonomous income system

First, what is an Autoblog? Autoblog is defined as an autonomic system that automatically builds target sites around predefined subjects. The results are very targeted niche sites, exactly what the big G likes.

STEP 1 - Chose a niche

So our first step is to choose a niche. I can tell you a secret : there is no such thing as a bad niche. Any niche will have its loyal audience, so do not afraid to mess around, even with niches that may seem outlandish and strange. That said, some niches are still better than others, and the following guidelines will help you choose a niche that will maximize your income.

To select a niche I recommend you stick to these important rules:

1. Choose a topic you are familiar with or at least interested in (if you are not familiar with the topic yet, try to understand it – you can read about it , visit professional shops etc.)
2. Choose a topic that is not by definition a trend or fad (“Crocs” shoes are a good example of a trend; camping equipment is good example of a niche).
3. Choose a topic that can be split to subtopics. For example, the topic “sports” can be split into dozens of sub-categories – basketball, football, etc.

A good place to start is Amazon, the biggest and smartest eMarket in the world.

In an robust and effective system like Amazon arena, it’s unlikely that you will find unprofitable categories .

Amazon arena builds numerous categories and related sub categories on any subject you can imagine, based on tremendous and valuable consumer data.

Let's choose a main subject and start digging around on Amazon for sub categories (niches). You can choose main subject from here, the Amazon.com tag cloud. This tag cloud contains the most popular tags on Amazon.

Let's say we chose sports as our main niche

Amazon.com tag cloud. Tags are labels customers can use to classify a product. More frequently used tags are larger and more recently used tags will appear darker sherlock holmes sherrilyn kenyon shoes short fiction silicone silver silver screen classics singer-songwriter singer-songwriters skin care skype slavery small business small town smooth jazz snacks soccer social media sociology software software development sony sookie stackhouse soul soundtrack southern fiction space space opera spanish speakers special forces speculative fiction spiritual spiritual growth spiritual healing spirituality sports spy stainless steel star trek star wars statistics steampunk stephen king stephenie meyer storage strategy success suicide superhero superman supernatural supplements survival suspense suspense thriller sustainability sword and sorcery tablet tarot tea teaching technology teen television texas textbook the secret theology thriller thrillers time travel time travel romance toddler toddler toys tolkien too expensive too expensive for kindle tools touchscreen toy toys

Our next step is to find sub niches, and for that we'll want to go to the main page of Amazon. We'll copy our main niche expression directly into Amazon's main search field and look at the popup suggestions:

Try adding letters immediately after the main subject (for example, sports). Add the letter C or the letter S after the word "sports," as shown, and you will find many interesting suggestion for your sub-niches.

The screenshot shows the Amazon homepage with the search bar containing the text "sports c". A dropdown menu displays the following suggestions:

- sports champions
- sports champions in Video Games
- sports cards
- sports champions ps3
- sports coat
- sports camera
- sports chair
- sports clothing
- sports cones
- sports cup

The page also features the Amazon logo, navigation links for "Today's Deals", "Gift Cards", and "Help", and a "Shop by Department" dropdown menu. At the bottom, there are links for "Halloween Shop", "Clothing Trends", "Amazon Prime", and "Subscri".

The screenshot shows the Amazon homepage with the search bar containing the text "sports s". A dropdown menu displays the following suggestions:

- sports shoes
- sports shoes in Shoes
- sports shoes in Sports & Outdoors
- sports shoes in Clothing & Accessories
- sports socks
- sports shorts
- sports sunglasses
- sports shoes for men
- sports stickers
- sports specialties snapback

The page also features the Amazon logo, navigation links for "Today's Deals", "Gift Cards", and "Help", and a "Shop by Department" dropdown menu. At the bottom, there are links for "Halloween Shop", "Clothing Trends", "Amazon Prime", and "Sul".

In this way, we can start collecting our sub-categories. We can also find ideas for sub-categories on the left bar, for example on the left bar under sport clothing you can see related subjects like women's athletic shirts, baseball, dance, Adidas etc.

The screenshot shows the Amazon homepage with a search for "sports clothing". The left sidebar contains navigation options for Department, Athletic Clothing, Activity, and Brand. The main content area displays search results for "sports clothing", including related searches, a total of 51,621 results, and three product listings: Puma Apparel Women's Overlay, Sports & Outdoors, and Champion Women's Training Tee.

STEP 2 - Found an appropriate domain

Our second mission is to find our main domain, which should include our main subject expression (in this case sports)

To select an effective domain that will be readily picked up by search engines, I recommend you stick these important rules :

1. The domain name must contain your main niche term (e.g. “sports”)
2. Don't use words that connote salesmanship (for example: sale, buy, cheap, etc.)
3. Choose an effective domain type: our first priority will be .com domains, Second priority .net, and our third priority .org. If possible, try to choose only from those three domain type options.

A very effective free tool for finding domains (but not buying them!) can be found here at the Domain Search service. The Domain Search service is a tool used to search for current, expired and deleted domain names by keyword(s). Advanced options allow you to specify the placement of search terms in the domain name and to exclude particular terms. Following the initial search, additional options are available to exclude domains with numbers and/or hyphens and to limit domains to a specific length. The result set lists domains with their registration status at major TLDs.

After you enter a keyword, tweak and narrow your search using the advanced option. Hit “search” and you will see a large list of domain names that feature your desired search term. To locate an unregistered domain, look for the White circles (Domain is available for purchase and has never been registered) and Dotted circles (The domain name has been deleted and is now available for purchase). Other signs indicate that the domain is not available.

Now we get to the third step. In this step, we will combine our domain registration process with purchasing a storage space (server hosting) for our profit machines. To do this, we
