FOREWORD

The aim of this book is not the mere entertainment of the reader there who can be considered a science fiction novel, but it is the result of twenty years of research both in the field of philosophy and science. I want to emphasize at the outset that my intention is not to impose my views to anyone, if that were so it would have been easy to say that this knowledge has been given me by divine inspiration or something similar. Quite the contrary my intention is to open the ability of people to disagree with anything that does not convince them.

Many people from time immemorial have tried to find the keys to unite science and religion without success may be achieved with this book. I encourage the reader to assess freely these writings with the hope that you can contribute something positive in your life, like everyone commit successes and mistakes in my scientific claims but after all the progress is to replace a good idea on the other better. I would also like to explain what from my point of view the mission of aliens on earth, everyone may freely form an opinion about it in the hands of readers I leave.

This book has been translated from the original Spanish version.

CHAPTER 1 - HOME PLANET

Makes this about fifteen thousand years to a distant star located about a hundred light years from Earth, there was coming to maturity of its evolution a planet similar to ours, let's call this world the original planet as this is the beginning of this story.

After many centuries of wars and conflicts planet finally reached a situation of political stability and peace prolonged, this was mainly due to four causes.

Political unification of the planet.

Natality control.

End of the pace of technological progress had reached its main development.

Full development of the planet in the philosophical and moral aspect.

UNIFICATION OF THE PLANET

In the background, the origin of wars, is one of its main aspects, the desire of states to cover the entire planetary territory by force is, peacefully, whenever the world is experiencing a technological change, changes the order powers and this results in the country's attempt favored by attempting to change overrule others. However when a planet completes its development at the end, usually the peaceful union of states occurs by creating a common government for all. Following is the development of a common language to reduce the distances between people. This would not be an absolutist government but each state would retain a certain degree of autonomy. This unification would create a certain peace of mind that would move to other expectations.

BIRTH CONTROL

It is impossible for a planet that is limited in geographical space can afford to have an unlimited population growth in the twentieth and then century, this caused deep demagogues among those who argued that birth control was necessary and who said that the planet always absorb any increase in population. But the truth is that only with the limitation to two children per couple is possible that the resources of society reach everyone in a sustainable manner. It is also true that social services should guarantee work and housing for all citizens. On earth there are many people who believe that ensuring basic rights for all citizens eradicate privileges, but it is actually quite the opposite, the best way to keep a privilege is not picking on the poor. Defend a market economy, but eradicating poverty, ensure centuries of progress that implanted societies. Of course those citizens who refused to accept state aid could not expect favoritism.

END OF PROGRESS

With this title I am not referring to the absolute end of progress, rather I mean the end of a historical process of evolution which initially starts off slow and then increasingly accelerated almost to a halt again, this marks the time when a planet reaches maturity, this on earth could be in the twenty-fifth century, although it is impossible to know exactly. The end of technological progress is followed by moral progress, since this is more complex than the last.

MORAL PROGRESS

The key to moral progress, is to assume that a civic behavior is the only solution to enable coexistence in a composed of millions of individuals society, it is imperative to eradicate despotic behavior on citizens to achieve this end. Vanity and arrogance are as diseases of the mind, but unlike other cured only with a firm attitude and little permissive governments before them weak policies that apply to offenders only get strengthened. This requires that civil liberties are developed at its best, so that only go to jail the real criminals. Failure to observe this only leads to the development of mafias as occurred in the United States with Prohibition.

THE IDEA OF HEAVEN

All cultures have some form of philosophy from heaven as a place where one goes after death if you have lived a righteous life, this actually stems from the intuitive idea that every society progresses to find a technological balance and finally peace is. Rather than being a person who acts correctly, it is the sum of all individual correct behavior which leads to this result.

CYCLICALITY THE UNIVERSE ETERNAL LIFE AND SPIRIT

In the twentieth century it was argued heatedly about what is life and what is not, this is stupid root, it was said that the matter is not life but begets life, as you can sustain such barbarity by a scientific community that is seen evolved, the only way that is possible is that matter also be life matter is life but in a state other than the organic call, which best could be called biological contradistinction to the above, what happens is that the mineral life state needs to be refined in the formation of biological structures to evolve, i.e. need to form plants, animals and people. The reason is simple, life in mineral state is very crude in its approach and development of biological structures allows the reincarnation of mineral life in organic forms, which makes life more interesting, partly because of the repetitive cycle life and death, so the new birth life begins again and everything is lived to its fullest again. The reincarnation of the spirit in the body involves attaching the east with the matter, which results in a more intense life expectations realization, because of the new sensations that matter brings to continually spirit as it is not part of he. This is because everything in the universe is cyclical everything is repeated again in an eternal process in which the same time start again from the beginning.

ETERNAL LIFE OF THE SPIRIT

In the same way that matter is neither created nor destroyed, life in its essence either, if the matter is life and matter in their energy state is eternal, just as life is eternal, therefore death it's just a mere formality for the spirit, as this is eternal life cannot arise from death.

THE ORIGIN OF LIFE

This is the most complex questions of the universe, so you cannot expect me a great answer about say that like life, that matter is not created nor destroyed only transformed, matter and vacuum form a binomial so that the vacuum no matter or material without the vacuum is not possible, arguably is a binary relationship of the polarities of nature are derived. The universe continues indefinitely in a process of creating worlds and destroying them, until the time, at the same time starts again from the beginning is over. In this cyclic process all beings are immersed and all experiences cosmos end are experienced by all in a process of continuous renewal. Living things in their essence can be divided into two groups: the planetary beings, leading to the formation of stars and planets and represent only one percent of the total. And spiritual beings, representing ninety nine remaining. Planetary beings are responsible for sustaining the spiritual cosmos and are responsible for developing the organic life evolved as human in order to reincarnate her later. Therefore it is no more than the other minerals planetary beings exist only in a very basic level, controlling the operation of the atoms without interfering with the lives of people. Eventually they rotate functions and perform the functions of each other, particularly in the next cosmic cycle. In this context God is nothing but the set of universal laws that among all beings are generated, although more accurately expressed through the planetary beings. Who comes to life, it is because he was formerly also live spiritually in the cosmos everything is life, even planets and are living stars, but in a mineral form, would be stupid to think that the earth could move through space from five billion years ago while defending that has no life itself, what kind of scientists have to defend such a thing. Are also naive who care to get eternal life of the body, they do not realize they already have a spirit that is.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF JUSTICE

The discovery by the society of the cyclical nature of the universe and reach the conviction of the eternal life of the spirit, would lead to a revolution in the moral aspect of humanity. The question is simple, what sense does resort to violence as long as the cyclical nature of the universe will someday all live the same situations in life, when the universe begins again, life experiences will be invested and every human being will live the experiences of the other. Everything in the cosmos there is life even planets are living in a way, and life is eternal because life is energy. Through the indefinite repetition of the universe all live every experience, in this case no longer makes sense to harm anyone, since this would go against oneself. This does not mean that the cyclical nature of the universe is the only way to do justice, since justice we might call police, it represents the most obvious way to punish improper behavior. Arguably police justice, i.e. which is made with immediate effect through self-defense, or that takes place across the state, accounting for up to eighty-five percent of what you can do in the appearance of justice is this aspect which should eradicate from society despotic behavior and vanity in humans, taught from childhood that a civic behavior is essential if you want to maintain cohesive a composite society million in all the cities. What brings the cyclical nature of the universe is to eliminate those fringes that might be whether the concept of justice arises from the other mode, thus giving rise to what we might call full justice. It is true that you can get very far with education and progress in this field, but it is up to each consider whether the two concepts of justice are true or just one. This would result in the arrival of a genuine democracy in society, in which the citizen is no longer limited to one vote every four years, but rather decide each and every one of the laws.

CHAPTER 2 - THE JOURNEY

From this point the planet reached a great stability and began to consider expansion space. That said, we must clarify that in the cosmos there is only an evolved species that is human, there are not many intelligent species as we see in doing science fiction movies. In the same way that if a stone into the water pulled this down to the bottom to be more dense, just as an evolving planet in the end only the triumph of the human species, because it is the most successful to develop a fully sort mode. It is at this time, when the original planet discovered the land and plans to send an expedition to it were established, they would be mainly two reasons. On the one hand, study the Earth's evolution and compare it with his own. And on the other, contribute as much as possible to human evolution, but without interference, i.e. an indirect way for land to develop itself, a planet would lose his freedom if he will impose the ideas, the earth has to find their own way. For this trip were used so-called generation ships, i.e. ships that the crew would marry and have children, living a normal life until they reach their destination. Contrary to popular belief on earth, is not necessary for a spacecraft to travel very fast through space to reach a planet, the key is not on speed, but on the living conditions on the ship. People on earth cannot conceive of space travel rather than a quick trips and especially in small ships. Actually for interstellar travel required ships of up to several kilometers in size are forming a space community, these ships would not exceed fifteen percent of the speed of light, only energetic particles reach the speed of light, the more inert and material is an object, the slower it, so this speed would be cruising speed of the fastest ships, by using nuclear power, ship an indefinite power supply would be ensured all the way, do not forget that in space this is the only energy that can be used, for being the ship far from the sun, the trip and could last several centuries, still life like on the planet of origin, the expedition could have twenty thousand people in a dozen ships.

THE PERIOD IN SPACE

As I mentioned before space travel are not characterized by the speed at which ships move in interstellar travel cannot speak for periods of years but generations. Typically, when an expedition reaches its destination, they have passed a minimum of thirty years shorter trips, traveling at cruising speed fifteen percent of the speed of light. To make this possible you cannot use any type of ship, ships large city, with which to carry the same kind of life they would have on earth, a space community of about ten ships whose dimensions as are necessary oscillate between two hundred meters and the kilometer and a half. Of course these ships have a system of artificial gravity that allow them to feel at home planet, they would marry have children on board ships and could travel occasionally to other ships that would form the expedition, to scroll through space is also feasible scales. A ship can start a colony on a distant planet than their own and after a transitional period of a century or two to start again another colonial expedition to another star with some of the descendants who would have developed on this planet, for these journeys use nuclear energy as among the stars is the only energy that can be used because of the remoteness of the sun, thus the possibility of sending expeditions to very large distances becomes a reasonable option. On earth, generations succeed one another without leaving the planet and this is not considered as something strange, then travel in mother ships would be exactly the same. Greater energy savings for all materials be recycled and nothing would be thrown into space, months these ships would accelerate just a few tenths of a G (acceleration force) to acquire the necessary speed without forcing the structure, which would be very slight. In this kind of society would not exist humanoid robots, because as I told before the human form is the sum of a body and a spirit, it makes no sense to wait for a machine that is as a man, unless harbored a spirit, but that is already the man, robots are rather a way of playing with the idea of slavery, which from my point of view is entirely reprehensible.

RAW MATERIALS

FOOD

Obtaining food for these ships need not take plants or animals on board, since this is a primitive way of thinking about supply. Rather this is achieved by producing synthetic form, this does not mean that it is taking pills, food would have the same or similar characteristics as those derived from plants, can be manufactured vitamins, protein or fiber artificially .

THE DEVICES

All technological devices would be recycled after use without wasting anything, spending the minimum energy in re-building, and some metal or crystal structures could be reused in new equipment thus achieving additional energy savings. In the end no waste product would be thrown into space, since all waste, if necessary, be reduced to its essential chemical principles.

ENERGY

The fission of uranium or other nuclear fuel, ensure the survival of this expedition almost indefinitely, although this dangerous energy in interstellar space is the only one that can be used.

BLACK HOLES

Many people wonder what is the nature of black holes, some think they are inter-dimensional holes, others think that the cosmos is swallowed, the truth is that all this black holes are simpler than we can imagine. The physics of black holes is actually the same as that of the stars and planets i.e. are simply mass super-compressed, the only difference is that having such a huge mass large pressures cause them to lose the atoms layer outer electron therefore arguably a black hole is like a giant atomic nucleus. Furthermore, these objects in the cosmos do not cause any harm to the universal order, since they are necessary to give stability to galaxies. First, there are black holes in the galactic core, then the stars, then planets, lower pivots on a larger mass. Black holes do not emit light or if so is very difficult to detect because of its enormous gravity, of course if a spaceship fell inside would be destroyed immediately and atomic elements would be reduced to its most basic form.

Ultimately these objects far from being monsters they do stabilize the galactic system. Not make much sense to believe that the enormous gravity of these objects could lead to a tear in the fabric of space, first because space is not a tissue, it is absurd to think that something that is immaterial can be drilled. Secondly because the seriousness of these objects are not applied from the top down but from all points towards the center. It is one thing to explain gravity example a material sphere is used moving on a fabric which encircles another heavy object, and another is that it can be applied to a black hole, since in reality would be rather two positions opposed tissues therefore assumed that pressure on fold space be annulled.

CHAPTER 3 - ACTIVITIES IN ANCIENT TIMES

THE EARTH

When the expedition reached the solar system, installing bases are organized, both the planets and the earth and the moon. From this moment it is when really begin its mission, beginning to take samples of plants and animals and also the study of human beings if any. With respect to humans also exist the added task of carrying out follow-up work and guidance in the process of evolution. That does not mean they were to violate the interests of these, rather it would seek to provide a stimulus in progress in order to learn what they are able to assimilate.

EGYPT

On the banks of the Nile River was formed from time immemorial a farming community together that summer were the first societies of the earth to form a civilization around a control policy harvests in a stable manner, and in 2000 BC these two communities were the vanguard of progress on earth and evolved in a calm manner. But in a relatively short period everything changed, the planet had several thousand years out of the last ice age which meant that the temperature of the ground was rising steadily every century. Because of this, all North Africa began to desertize quickly, leading to thousands of small ranchers and farmers to migrate to Egypt as the only way to survive, it was used by successive pharaohs to get a cheap labor and to thus develop his delusional idea of building the giant graves that were the pyramids. This climate change is the main reason that civilization has been gradually moving from south to north and has been the main cause of historical changes and was first in Mesopotamia and Egypt, then Greece and Rome then in Spain and France and finally in England and the United States, for civilization I mean the forefront of this, not all civilization, progress is always greater where the climate is more balanced.

ATLANTIS

Approximately fifteen hundred years before Christ, one of the most advanced civilizations was the Minoan on the island of Crete. It owed its high level of development mainly to being a strategic point for trade between Egypt and primitive Greece. But a geological event changed all of a sudden, a huge volcanic eruption on a nearby island called Thera caused an ash cloud that deposited in Crete and other islands damage irreparably crops and livestock, in some cases there were layers ash up to several meters thick. Hundreds of inhabitants of these islands fled in the few boats that might get the last memory left with was the sight of their island disappearing under the waters of the sea, of course this was just an optical phenomenon caused by the curvature of the earth, for those not accustomed to navigating the sight of their island away from the base to the tip could lead to the idea that the island had sunk beneath the sea. The settlers who came to Greece after the disaster gave rise to the story of Atlantis transmitted to us by the philosopher Plato. Today we tend to think of Atlantis as such an advanced society that would spaceships among other technological objects. Nothing is further from reality. This civilization was indeed very advanced, but only from the point of view of the time in which it existed.

HEBREW PEOPLE

Like many other communities in North Africa, the Jewish people was also forced to emigrate to Egypt for the progressive impoverishment of the earth. But the problem of desertification was compounded by the volcanic disaster in the Mediterranean, the serious damage caused in agriculture rain laden with volcanic ash. This situation became increasingly untenable concentration of populations on the banks of the Nile. The alien community installed on the ground saw this as a good opportunity to start a training project philosophically of earthly society and the Jewish people was the ideal for achieving this end. It is the alien community would guide and protect the Jews and in return acquire these were their protectors commitment to follow his teachings. It is from this moment when they began to manifest to Moses and made a covenant with him, epidemics, hunger and climatic disturbances did the rest, although the aliens had nothing to do with it. From there the Jewish people was guided and protected by they called angels and change began to develop the commandments that they gave them, although many give and take between these two communities, it is very difficult to coordinate two companies that carry an evolutionary difference seventeen thousand years. At night they are lit up with what they called a luminous cloud, but it was actually an aircraft camouflaged behind a cloud of steam.

THE IDEA OF GOD

In all societies it is common to some form of belief in a Creator God, this was excellent for extraterrestrials and found ways to communicate with Jews in a way that they would normally appear. The true nature of God is not an old, bearded man as many believe, rather God is the set of universal laws that govern the universe. God is just because the universal laws are also, God is in all of us because the universal laws are also expressed through us. Equal universal law is observed by the fact that even the most distant galaxies share the same rules as ours.

THE BIBLE

Is a grave error to take the Bible literally, because who does that is put into the hands of manipulators by altering the writings available from the weak mind what they want, the progress of humanity has only a true path and is suspicious of everything and not accept anything just because. You can have faith in something, but that does not mean you should lose the ability to reason, even those that take us fifteen thousand years ahead are wrong sometimes, the true expression of freedom is to subject all views to logical reasoning, however divine that those views are proclaimed, handlers always resort to argue that their claims are of divine origin in order to block the minds and prevent free logical reasoning, the progress of ideas must go hand in hand with the ability to dissent. Arguably, for example in Genesis it is basically a compilation of ideas and old beliefs that probably will not approach reality more than thirty percent. The Bible today, could not be more than sixty percent of the events that actually occurred, not only because they were able to manipulate written later, but from the very beginning this is possible then how can distinguish I truth from falsehood? That is where the capacity of reasoning and scientific evidence. Although you should keep in mind that philosophy does not have a process demonstration as the classical physical evidence, so it is more difficult than other science. The main interest of the aliens was to promote the idea of justice and coexistence as the main element of their religion, it is essential to coordinate large groups of population element. It was also important to promote monotheism as an instrument of progress towards the idea of a coordinator god, because it is the closest thing there is to the features that make the universal laws in the cosmos. Through the prophets like Ezekiel, the extraterrestrials were shaping the culture that later became Christianity.

SOME INTERVENTIONS IN THE BIBLE

THE PILLAR OF FIRE

The day the dwelling was erected, the cloud covered this, i.e. the tabernacle of witness, appearing on the dwelling like fire from evening until morning. So always happened (day) cloud covered it night and something that looked like fire. And when the cloud rose over the tabernacle, the children of Israel were put in place, and the place where the cloud abode, there the children of Israel encamped. At the command of the Lord the Israelites would set out, and the order of Yahweh they encamped, and were encamped all the time remaining on the cloud abode. Even when the cloud tarried many days over the dwelling, the Israelites watched the provisions of Yahweh and not break camp. So they did when the cloud was a few days on the dwelling. At the command of the Lord encamp and the order of the Lord they set out. When the cloud stopped only from evening till morning, and rose in the
