Glory to Allah, who created all, to man He gave special place in His creation. He honored man to be His agent, and to that end, endued him with understanding, purified his affections and gave him spiritual insight. So that man should understand nature, understand himself, and know God through His wondrous Signs. Glory Him in truth, reverence, and unity. The Glorious God who sent Muhammad (peace always be upon him) as Messenger, preaching and working in the dim twilight of history. He stood for all humanity, orphans, women, and slaves, whom the world neglected or oppressed. And he comes to me, bringing the light to lighten the shadow, disclosing the cover of my indecision and inspiring me with his love to keep struggling, to win God’s gifts.

CHAPTER I
INTRODUCTION

A. Background

Psychology in general is the science of consciousness. Every science in psychology is always in contact with consciousness either directly or indirectly. Human being tried to correlate their behavioral experience with the awareness within, they also tried to connect consciousness to one another. Human consciousness is always connected with their environment even though they do not realize it.ii

Further discussion about consciousness, there is other side of normal consciousness as known by ASC (altered state of consciousness).iii Come in with ASCs our present science of psychology growt to understand human experience such as human consciousness when trance, hypnotic, mindfulness, dreaming, drugs intoxication, shamanic experience, spirit iii Charlest t tart explained normal state of consciousness is the one in which he spends the major part of his waking hours. Normal state of consciousness and mind are quite similar and similar to all other normal men that is almost a universal assumption and one of questionable validity. An altered state of consciousness is feels a qualitative shift in his pattern of mental functioning, that he feels not just a quantitative shift (more or less alert, more or less visual imagery, sharper or duller, etc.), but also that some quality or qualities of his mental processes are different.

Transpersonal psychology is concerned with the study of humanity's highest potential, and with the recognition, understanding, and realization of unitive, spiritual and transcendent states of consciousness. v

ASCs also noticed by individual deviation mental states of subjective experience or psychological functioning, from the cognitive norms of that individual during waking, alert consciousness. Generally, ASCs can be produced by any agent which interferes with normal flow of sensory stimuli, the normal outflow of motor impulses, the normal ‘emotional tone’ or the normal flow and organisation of cognitive processes. Specific activities which can cause such irregularities include sensory deprivation (sleeplessness or fasting), meditation, intensive and prolonged dancing, repetitive movement (particularly when combined with rhythmic sound, light flicker or fatigue) and the consumption of psychoactive (mind-altering) substances.\textsuperscript{vi}

ASCs can be produced through a variety of methods and can appear in almost any context. Inducing the transition to an ASC is a three-step process, based on two psychological and physiological operations. The process is what happens internally; the operations are the particular things you do to yourself, or someone does to you, to make the induction process happen. In the following pages the steps of the process are described sequentially and the operations are described sequentially, but note that the same action may function as both kinds of induction operation simultaneously\textsuperscript{vii}

The first induction operation is \textit{disrupting forces} in order to disrupt the stabilization of your normal consciousness, to interfere with the loading, positive and negative feedback, and limiting processes/structures that keep your psychological structures operating within their ordinary range. Several stabilization processes must be disrupted. Stabilization processes can be disrupted directly when they can be identified, or indirectly by pushing some psychological functions to and
