Dear Friend

This unique e-book has 1 simple goal...

“To help you discover and understand the full dynamics of the dating game, so you can find and enjoy lasting love and happiness as rapidly as possible.

This book reveals part of the missing code to your dating success!”

Further, you can also be confident this book is going to be of value, if you answer “yes” to any of the following questions;

Are you;

- Looking to start a new loving relationship?
- Frustrated at your lack of dating success?
- Trying to move on from a past relationship?
- Confused as to why your relationships never seem to last?
- Searching desperately for a new partner without success?
- Becoming depressed at being alone?
- Wondering if you will ever find love again?
- Convinced that as a single parent, nobody will be interested in you?

Ok.

Here's the good news...

You have the POWER to positively transform your existing relationship frustrations into relationship success and much more rapidly than you think!

And to make that happen...

you just need to learn how to pinpoint and change certain, hidden key elements of your approach!

You see, at the moment you are probably doing what most other people do when the game of love deals yet another dud hand...

continuing to do exactly the same things in the exactly the same way, over and over again, but expecting a different result!

You know that what you're doing isn't working, yet you keep on doing it in the hope that something will change and you will find lasting dating success.

(Btw, let's make it clear...I don't mean trying something for a few days and then wondering why it's not working. I'm referring to doing certain things the same way for weeks, months or even years and then wondering why they're not working.)

Now, while it's possible that you might find success following these same actions, in all honesty it's highly probable you won't.

But please relax...

Wanting your situation to change without actually doing anything different is definitely an unorthodox approach to take, yet it's a common approach taken by virtually all of us and on a regular basis.

Here's the thing.

When it comes to understanding how the mechanics of your life experiences REALLY fit together, there's a vital piece of knowledge that most people have missing ...

A vital piece of knowledge that you weren't taught in school, college or University.

And that is...

“You create your reality from the inside out. Reality is NOT created and experienced from the outside in!”

Confused?

Then please allow me to explain

But just before we get into that explanation, you might find it of benefit to quickly find out who I am, discover why I'm qualified to be talking about your dating experiences in this way and understand why I can help you.

Ok.

My name is Peter Anglin, I'm a highly successful Dating Coach and also the owner of a Coaching company based in London, UK called Date Coaching Expert (www.datecoachingexpert.com)

I am a qualified Coach, NLP Practitioner (NLP is Neuro-Linguistic Programming), Dating expert and Chemistry graduate.

Now, I'm not reeling off my qualifications to try and impress, I'm just letting you know about them because of what they mean in terms of my offering coaching guidance and advice to you.

In short, I have taken time to study human potential and behaviour through NLP and Coaching and I have a naturally investigative and analytical nature, which is borne out through my studying a classic science, Chemistry.

These 3 areas of learning fit together extremely well and have afforded me a deeper insight into the mechanics of life when compared to your average Coach. And it's that deeper insight which will benefit you more and help you greatly with your dating success.

But enough about me for now, this book is about YOU!

So I've put the rest of the information on my background and experience at the end of the book, which you can read whenever you're ready.

Great.

Let's get back to where we were.

Oh yes – how you create your reality from the inside out and not vice versa.

You might be thinking, “Ok, sounds interesting Pete, but what does that have to do with me become a dating success? Can you show me what I need to DO?”

Basically, your internal “stuff” has everything to do with your external success and “yes”, I can show you what to do, but it won't be what you think.

You see, if you were to look in other books to find the answer to your what-to-do question, you'll most probably find the following kinds of responses;

- Use a variety of dating services
- Don't be too picky
- Don't try be a comedian if you're not naturally funny
- Upload a life-like and up-to-date picture
- Be honest in your profile

- JUST BE YOURSELF!!!

- Etc, etc.

Yes, these other books make some good and valid points and yes, they will help you if followed. But what if you are following all these pointers already? What if you are being yourself? And what if you still aren't getting the success you want – then what?

Let's quickly review what you read a little earlier...

“...at the moment you are probably doing what most other people do when things aren't going right...

continuing to do exactly the same things in exactly the same way, over and over again!

You know that what you're doing isn't working, yet you keep on doing it in the hope that something will change.”

In other words, this is saying that when things aren't working, you need to recognise its time to change your approach, in order to give yourself a significantly greater chance of success.

It's not that you are not trying, because I know you are. It's just the WAY you are trying needs to be looked at, as opposed to the actual degree of effort (although this may actually need reviewing and re-focussing too).

And the way you are trying falls into 2 main categories;

1. The external props you are using, i.e. the dating products, agencies, etc. and
2. Your approach, tactics and technique
