Hi Guys & Dolls...

We welcome 2017 with open arms. The last few weeks have certainly been a rollercoaster, it seems that many have experienced a turbulent season, perhaps there's something in the air! But it feels that the atmosphere is beginning to settle and with this, we decided to present an issue full of optimism to share with you. As you may notice, there are a few changes to our style and those will continue to develop over the months. I must also say, how good is Ed Sheeran's new track 'Shape Of You'! Love the line: "Your love was handmade for somebody like me." We commence with Steve as he brings in the new year with a theme of gratitude to all the good things surrounding our lives. "I know being thankful for trials might sound weird, but these help us to better our own self." Continuing this mood, we share some resolutions for the this year, encouraging strength and belief in ourselves. Sarah's Thoughts look back on the previous year's music scene, documenting break-ups and solo endeavors, comebacks, Disney stars and Chicago pride. We've got your festival guide, radio listings and new music from Command Strange, Gunfight, James Kiedis and No F In Irony. Our special section rewinds our best moments of 2016. In fact, putting this altogether was a touching process. It was the year we pushed our boundaries, opened up to further lifestyle topics, brought in multiple languages and more artistic visual stimulation. Our company also featured on American Express OPEN Forum, was chosen as one of the 5 Independent Magazines Worth Following by Peecho and took part in @CakeClubHour's Euro 2016 twitter sweepstakes. I am forever proud, grateful, astonished by all of the team and we have some pretty awesome features to show off. So, enjoy reading, thank you always for the amazing support and we all wish you a wonderful year ahead with positive vibes.

In 2017, we encourage you to laugh till your cheeks ache, eat till your stomach is full, dance till your feet hurt, sing for all the world to hear and love like you've never loved before. Happy new year from us all!

Happy New Year 2017!

Hope you are enjoying the start of this new year and that it will bring loads of goodies for you chaps.

Last year is gone and to be honest it was quite a mess, especially the last quarter. Anyway, it's gone now and brighter days must be ahead. I know being thankful for trials might sound weird but these help us to better our own self. To test our aptitude to stand firm or if we failed, to stand up.

One thing I must be thankful for is that I'm surrounded with great people. They might not be there all the time but when they are, I feel supported. Whoever you believe in, you will reach a better self through the act of acknowledging one's flaws along with the will to change. The rest, leave it to the most high.

I am starting this new year in that state of mind. There is one song that describes it the most and it is on repeat on my playlist: Alicia Keys - Hallelujah. No matter where you are from, you can aim for better days, make the first step, the rest... leave it to your beliefs.

It's always inspiring to watch our industry friends as they develop and continue to express their passions...

DJ S.K.T., what can I say? The growth of his career is phenomenal and just shows how much hard work he puts in, that it's all now paying off. I doubt his phone ever stops buzzing! Recently sharing a video to supporters, he says "I always want to push the boundaries. That's the one thing I love about music - there's no rules ... I can do exactly what I want and no one can tell me that it's wrong." He has such a way of crafting and moulding sounds to give maximum impact on the dancefloor as well as bringing something new to your ears. Even with his rise in stardom, he is ever so genuinely humble and appreciative of it all.

Leah Lost is starting the year in a great way as her 'Many Moves EP' with SV is released on Definition Audio. Not only that, but her track titled 'Dangerous' with Rokuro is now signed and upcoming on Sony BMG! Her voice is one that works with a lot of commercial and club styles, she is always working hard on new material with various producers with a big smile on her face.

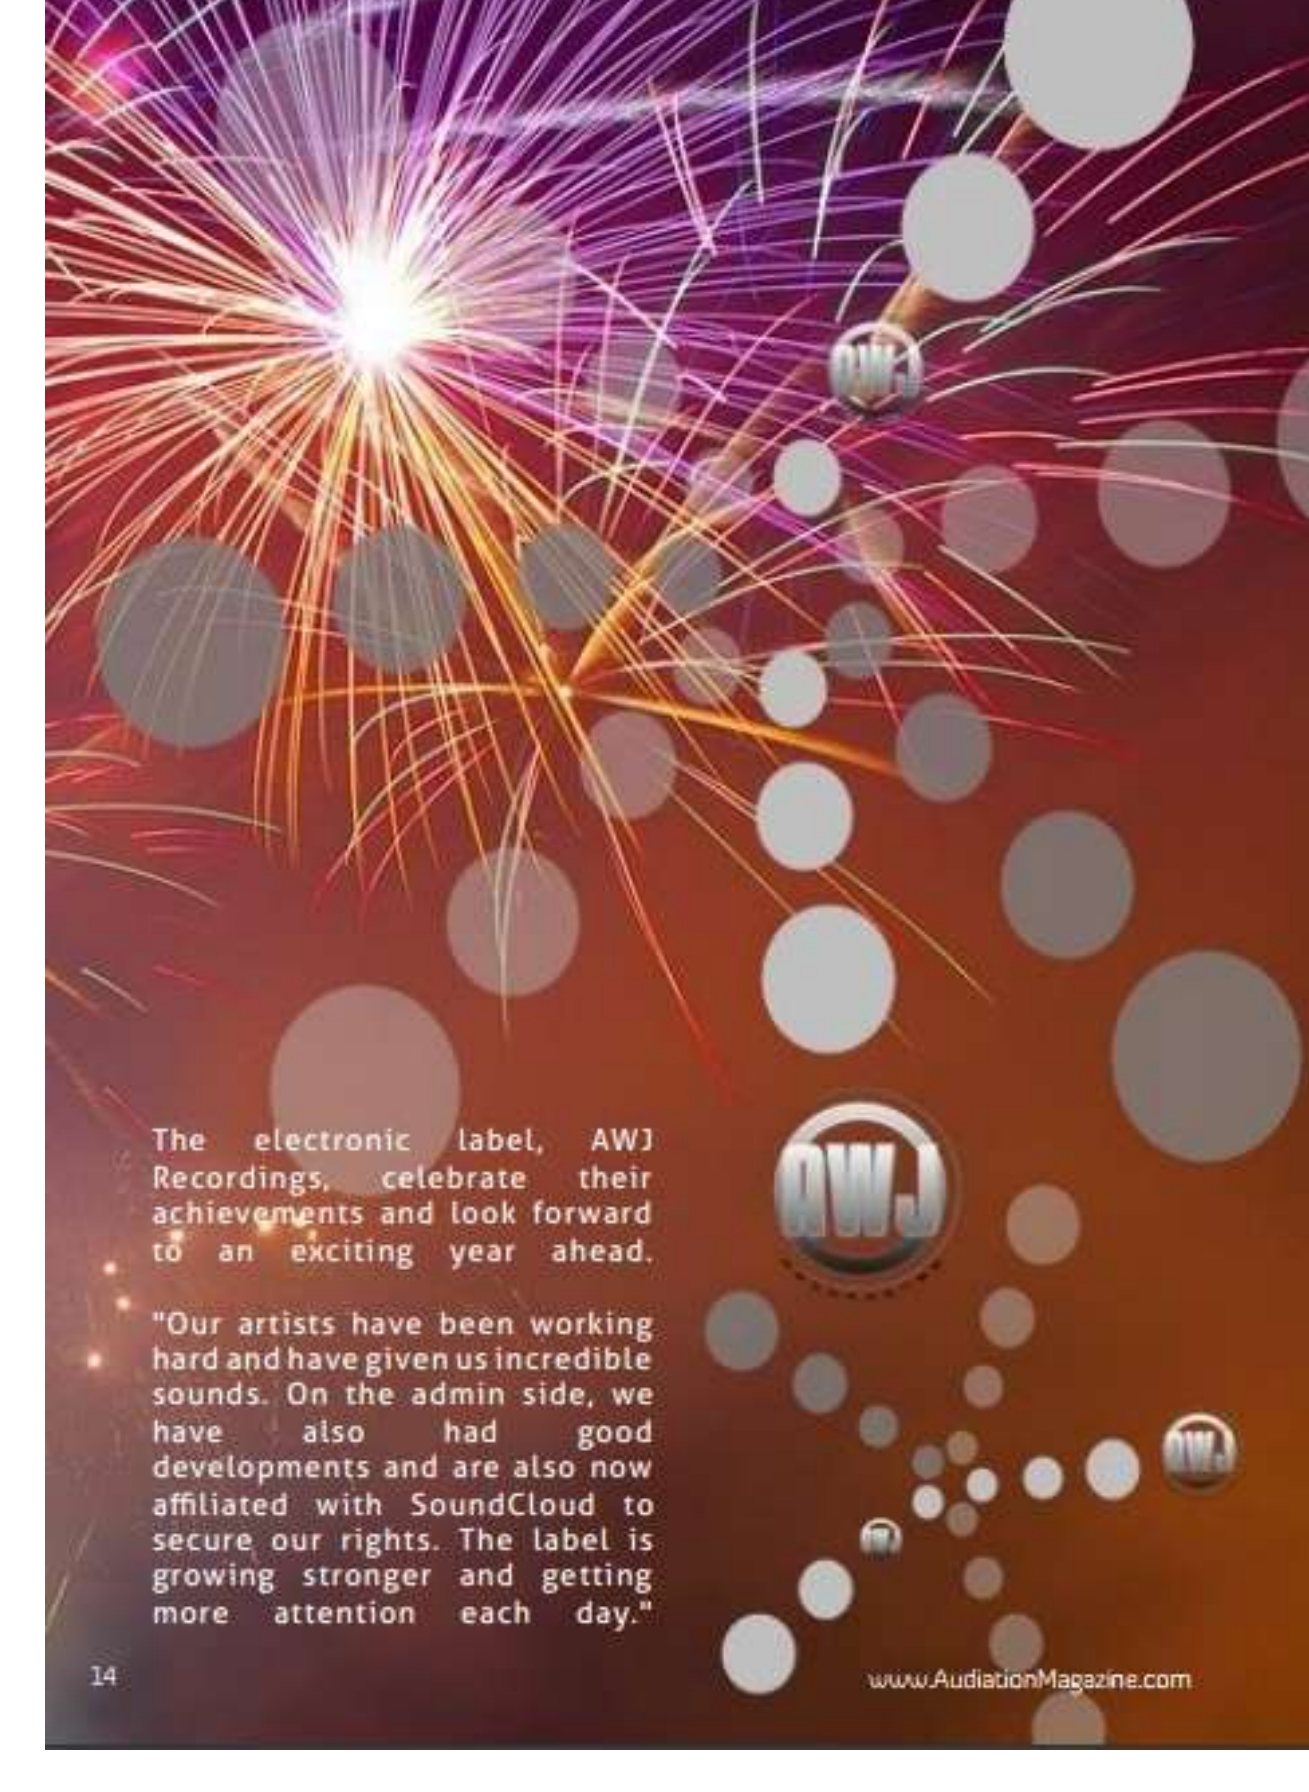

Oggie entertained the festive shoppers last month with his incredibly seductive and soulful voice as his "normal" job involves singing. How very rare it is for singers and musicians to have a job that helps them get by that is actually creative. Even though he was selling, you could just see how grateful he was to be able to sing each day, even rocking out the cheesy crimbo songs with a great big grin. Speaking of the biz, his own music and the work with UK3 are doing brilliantly. The trio are on the lookout to work with great diverse producers and are enjoying doing live performances where they can really excel. There is no doubt that there is so much exceptional talent and good music all around, but what he rightly mentioned is that the general consensus is that, if you are an unknown name, people won't listen. So, you've got to also bring yourself to the spotlight and work with names who are recognised in order to propel your own name and identity, and then be able to do more of what you want. He ended the year, literally, by performing at KISSTORY'S NYE event where the crowd enjoyed his 'Follow Me' performance alongside DJ Swerve.

The electronic label, AWJ Recordings, celebrate their achievements and look forward to an exciting year ahead.

"Our artists have been working hard and have given us incredible sounds. On the admin side, we have also had good developments and are also now affiliated with SoundCloud to secure our rights. The label is growing stronger and getting more attention each day."

This year I will...

Hold on tightly
to my values,
beliefs, identity
and ability to make positive,
respectful decisions.

Focus on health. Boring, but to start treating my body as a temple by feeding it well and toning up. I want to eat more fruits and veggies, and cut out fast food. And GET BACK IN SHAPE! Too many times I am out of breath from one flight of stairs. Definitely want to pick up yoga.

Tell myself "it's okay." I don't need to have it all figured out. I don't need to be sane all the time. Just go with the flow and have faith in ourselves.

Believe in myself and create, bringing the ideas to life.

Get each day better.

De-clutter my mind and get back to what's important in life, and stay strong!

is mine for the taking.

HAPPY 2017! For a hot second, let's reflect on everything that we experienced (music-related) in 2016...

Break-ups and solo endeavors – And by this, I mean ZAYN and Camila Cabello. Their departures essentially broke up One Direction and Fifth Harmony, while also releasing solo material. ZAYN releasing an entire album, which he has yet to promote on tour, and Cabello releasing two songs with her feature: "I Know What You Did Last Summer," and "Bad Things." Can't wait to see what they both have in store for 2017. Also, how about when ZAYN won his American Music Award, the first thing he says is, "This one has my name on it, right?" Yes, Zayn. Yes.

FUN FACT:

Cabello was supposed to be featured on "Closer" by The Chainsmokers, but refused the job, which ultimately lead to Halsey getting the job. Could you imagine if it was 19 year-old Cabello singing about stealing a mattress from a roommate in Boulder and seeing an old flame in a hotel bar? I won't reveal my source on that one.

Speaking of One Direction, we got other solo songs from the guys still in the band! Niall Horan released

"This Town," which he wrote about a true story about going back home to his small town and seeing the people he grew up with. Louis Tomlinson recently released "Just Hold On," which is Steve Aoki's track that Tomlinson is featured on. I believe the song is dedicated to Tomlinson's late mother, which ultimately has a stronger meaning than most electronic songs.

COMEBACKS! Lady Gaga and Bruno Mars are the first to mind when I think about the triumphant comebacks from a dormant couple of years for the two. Both of their albums, Joanne and 24K Magic both topped the charts.

Las Vegas shows! Britney, JLO, the announcement of the Backstreet Boys Vegas residency, it was a big year for Sin City. Got to go!

The 1975 releasing one of the longest album titles: I Like It When You Sleep, For You Are So Beautiful Yet So Unaware Of It. Healy described that the title was something he actually said to a previous girlfriend when she awoke from slumber. However it is titled, many magazines and music lists are naming it one of the best releases of the year, for the album accurately catches the personality of the band: insecure, hungry for attention, mainstream, and conceited, all at the same time.
