Foreword

I am so excited to write the forward for this book: Unleash Your Inventions: The Secret Origin Of Creativity And Inventions by Ademola Morebise. This book is coming out at the most appropriate time in the history of humanity. At a time when it is most needed.

I pray that everyone that is reading the book will find it a great opportunity to be part of the generation that God is raising up very shortly, a generation of inventors and creators and also to launch themselves into the new realm of creativity that God wants to unleash upon the earth in our time.

Majority of what you have as instruments, gadgets, equipment, machines, electronics, smartphones, apps and computers today, they look exciting but in a very short while, they will become obsolete and when they are obsolete, it is those who have launched into creativity and invention of whatever God has put into their spirit that will start ruling and reigning the world.

That is why it is important to get involved in this spirit of creativity and invention right now. God bringing this out will help you to be part of these things, because if this book gets into your hand, I believe you are part of that generation of inventors and creators.

Incidentally, when I laid hold on this book, I finished reading it the same day. The next day I received an email from the great evangelist; Dr Morris Cerullo as a partner to his ministry. In the partner's email Dr Morris Cerullo wrote that God had started speaking to him about the year 2020, revealing to him that it is going to be a year of inventions.

Wow! I concluded that this could not be a coincidence; God is planning inventions from year 2020 and then Ademola Morebise is publishing this book right now—2019 going to 2020—and named it UNLEASH YOUR INVENTIONS. This means something is happening in the spirit realm, only for those who are sensitive to pick it.

So, I pray that as you read the book, it is going to help you bring out what God has put inside your spirit.

Thank you and God bless you.

Introduction: Read This First For Context

Hello Friend,

Thank you for checking out my book. There are literally thousands of other things you could be doing with your time right now, for you to choose to spend it reading this book, I appreciate you.

First things first, I am not yet an acclaimed inventor. I do not have any invention to my name as at the time of writing this book. I rather consider myself to be a learner and a reporter, I am learning a lot about inventors and inventions, then happy to report back to you.

It is not like I do not have achievements of mine to boast about. I have plenty of bragging rights: I was nominated in 2011 for a National Youth Award for ICT innovation by the Nigerian Ministry of Youth. For 3 consecutive years, I was shortlisted as one of the hundred most innovative minds working in the Nigerian tech scene. A list backed by one of Africa's most innovative bank; GTBank. I have won a lot of awards and recognition for my work.

So, I have quite the track record of creativity and innovation spanning over a decade. I developed a social networking platform (named Gistcaster) when I was just eighteen years old! As a 300 level student of Physics Electronics at the Federal University of Technology, Akure (FUTA), South-Western Nigeria, I developed an interest-based, location-aware, SMS longcode newsletter system which I named g160. We went on to sign up over 3,000 students within 3 weeks of launching that.

#UnleashYourInventions

I was a “superstar”, however, I count that all as inconsequential when I compare it with what lies ahead of me. There are so much more inventive ideas I am nursing within me that will announce me to my generation than the little I might have done already.

Right now, I am building a digital technology-enabled platform to empower 100, 000 business owners across Africa and enable them to build profitable, formidable businesses.

While I agree with your objection that only an Inventor should write a book boldly titled Unleash Your Inventions: The Secret Origin Of Creativity And Inventions, I also think there is great value in what I am about to share with you as you might learn a thing or two from it.

It is just like back in my school days, when I would attend tutorials organised by my colleagues who had done some extra hours of study ahead of me and could teach me within two hours what they had stayed up all night trying to figure out.

I could learn from them even though we were both undergraduate students. I learnt a lot from them even though they were not yet certified as Physicists. I got value from those tutorials because they helped me figure out the course contents faster, and they also got value because you learn more when you teach others.

Similarly, this book is likely to save you thousands of hours of research on your own journey towards becoming an inventor, and I will also get value because it takes a lot of clarity and discipline to write a book and publishing this book will no doubt make me a better person all round.

You win. I win.

My REAL goal with this book is to start a conversation about creativity and invention. I think it is important to start that conversation because I firmly believe that we need fresh approaches to solving the problems in the society. You must exhibit creativity and inventiveness if you will survive in the long term. That is what makes you ever-relevant and truly irreplaceable.

The thing about creativity and inventiveness is that it is a state of mind that anybody can achieve. It is not the birth right of anyone, it is not connected to the size of your wallet or colour of your skin or your geographical location.
