

A WITCH FOR THE BURNING

J K TALLIS

Introduction

It is a pleasure to present this book to you, it is sadness also. The events of the past, the trap, the pit, the sad journey of the planet, the miserable excuses for life that we and our forbears have suffered leaves but a bad taste on the palate and an ache in the pit of the stomach. For us to walk past these events is a sad day if we as humans do not show, sympathy and anger at the havoc that has taken place. How sick it is, the horror, the savagery and the injustice that seems to be our close companions, as if it is inevitable that where there is life there has to be suffering.

We see throughout this world the millions of different beliefs, faiths and philosophies that beguile the un-initiative offering sanctuary, hope and consolation. But sadness prevails.

The world can take steps if it wishes to reach the Utopia that is spoken of by the seers and poets. Utopia is within the means of attainment but not without effort. If people lie down and do nothing, no advancement can take place.

In the past just as in some primitive religions of the present time people were under dictatorial rules but through the brave few some countries have achieved certain rights. Is it then correct to lie down at this critical moment and do nothing at all? We need to wake up and judge intelligently what it is necessary to do.

To be human they say is to err but, it is also a human's duty to correct the mistakes. I have tried every means I could over the 45 years of my mission to encourage you to an understanding, to a commitment to truth. Even if you read any of my books what will it do for you?

If I were a believer in any faith I might cringe in front of the Almighty to intervene in this terrible world. Not for some retribution but to help humanity to have a purpose. I would plead with you, implore you, beseech you, and conjure you to help change the world. Whilst injustice reigns my heart cannot rest. I ask you to join me for the sake of love, for the sake of truth, for the sake of the screaming child being thrashed; the woman left with five kids, the man on the battlefield.

You have the choice, attainment of wonders or the attainment of misery, so how about letting your tears spill on this page and then arise with trust and appreciation of this greatest and sanest of the sages and serve humanity and the world, that we will create together. The rewards will be beyond imagination. Don't let the chance pass you by, it will be a crime.

Yours, Tallis.

The story of Angela is based on a true event that occurred in the 17th century. The ending of the story is my own invention. At the time of this happening it produced an outcry from different quarters in which even the church men joined in. However, it wasn't till the middle of the 19th century that the frenzy of witch killing began to decrease. The amount of people slaughtered by the Christian churches in this endeavour, - is not known exactly but is considered to be in the minimum of a quarter of a million up to two million.

Perhaps if we add the inquisitions to this, it would be a feasible amount, but we could even deliberate another half a million to this fairly safely without going over into the world of fantasy.

If on the other hand we donate out of our kindness, the fact that the estimate for the killings that the church has done, or which it has had a major or minor hand in, we would be talking into the sixty million mark and more. It would make Hitler and Stalin look like saints

In the slave trade maybe something like three million people died and even this was advocated from the book which is adoringly known as the holy bible.

The hell that these events caused cannot under any circumstances be estimated. The amount of lives destroyed, wreaked and killed is beyond imagination. No remorse should be lost in the ruing of the demise of the beast. Let it fall and let the green putrid stench it has for blood pour from it.

It is without doubt that our present system is the result of it all, and it is because of this, that we haven't eradicated the remnants of that belief.

Not having destroyed the beast completely we still have to contend with it and even when it finally goes and is but a distant memory we will still have to contend with the decease it has left behind.

Our present society is the continuation of the previous. Just a few dishes have been washed up and the rest lays rotting and stinking in the sink.

A modest look at some of the causes will be of help.

The events of history can be put down to the influence of religion. In 280 AD, the Romans had accepted a very strange belief that had supposedly arisen in a country called Israel. It had been concocted most probably so as to make an excuse up for the Hebrews in losing the battle against the Roman invasion that happened in 66-70 AD.

None of this belief or its remarkable events was known till the second century when a few writers and historians mentioned that certain gospels were now in existence. These scanty reports though were not available till the fourth century when the great liar himself Eusibios, the first Roman Catholic Pope saw to it that certain paragraphs were conveniently placed in the history books.

Wherever a convenient space allowed he inserted some evidence that purported that Jesus had been on this earth

The Hebrew Warrior Messiah, as had been promised had never come, so therefore, - they said he came like a thief in the night and no eye saw him.

‘He is going to come back to defeat the infidel.’

This excuse was accepted, and thus a new religion was formed. This was just another of the so called prophecies that the bible writers used deceitfully.

In the pretence of a child being born in a little town called Bethlehem they continued the deceit in using quotes from the old writings, and causing them to prove that the character they had made up, had been prophesied. None of the so called prophecies have any relationship in any way or form to this character.

The god man that ensued, was manufactured and was just a reincarnation and resurrection of some of the god men that had gone before and which were a familiar part of the people's mental fabric and universal acceptance.

The newly introduced messiah received the same characteristics as the Sun God Men, whose exploits supplied all the incredible claims, events, and miracles as were needed for this new belief.

These stretched from Krishna, Buddha, Horus, Mithras and Pernithius and many others who related to all the credentials. [Son of god/sun god, they were made into men,]

This, then spread to the ends of the huge Roman Empire, and from the fifteenth century onwards was spread much further covering over half the world. Since the colonization and now globalization the belief has expanded even still further. This in itself would not have created a problem except for some of the strange and wicked tenets that this religion introduced.

I must point out here that the Old Testament was also used to back up the false claims for this god man, therefore the crazy evil laws it contained were incorporated or accepted and passed down as this god's desire and personality.

Some of the strict laws were watered down or dismissed so as to suit the palate of the brand new believers. These stretched from, 'An eye for an eye, and tooth for a tooth, to circumcision and some of the food laws such as eating pork, and the new day for worship was changed from Saturday, becoming the 'SUN'-day, with the twelve signs of the zodiac, which were represented by the twelve disciples. His birthday was placed on the same day, as most of the virgin born, crucified sun saviors that had preceded him.

These are some of the tenets that were introduced. See if you agree with any of them in principle.

1. Circumcision. This denotes the cutting of an eight day old baby's penis to remove the foreskin. (Sounds sick to me!)

2. Animal sacrifice.

Wow, {2 bad ones already.}

3. The cutting of an animal's throat to bleed it to death.

4. The killing of people as witches. [It is getting hotter.]

{I think we should add these as well, don't you?}

5. The owning of slaves.

6. The exploitation of fellow humans for personal gain.

[This is capitalism as in its present state.]

7. The long working hours.

8. The crushing of women's rights.

9. Nationalism.

10. Etc.

All these can be checked out by a concordance. The New Testament also added to this, more forcefully, in the continuation of the condemnation of homosexuality.

I would like very briefly to give a few other interesting, but weird details, in this brief introduction.

The Old Testament says that the punishment for a man who rapes a woman is that he must marry her.

[I have singled this out, so that you won't miss it.]

Although the Bible advocates the sexual union of two people in so called marriage, many of the characters of the Bible didn't adhere to this practice. For instance, we read that Solomon had a thousand sex slaves and that David had arranged the murder of a man named Uriah, and committed adultery with his wife. Jacob had married two women, Abraham committed adultery with a female servant and to top it all, Noah got himself drunk, and lay naked, in front of his sons.

We could also note that Cain found himself a wife. If all humans came from Adam then he could only have committed incest.

To give a little more light on the Bible, it is beneficial to consider, just a few other intricacies. There is the story of when Moses came down the mountain with the commandments, one of which said, 'Thou shall not kill.' We read though that god, approximately two weeks later, told the Israelites to,

'Go out,- and kill every man,- women and - child in the land I am going to give you.'

Do we have to go much further than this, before we realize the evilness of these sick statements?

The story of the flood is hardly worth the attention of any sane person, however, I will just point out that the story was stolen from the Egyptians and spruced up a bit. It is too arduous, to discuss the craziness of this story and others in this short space, but my book, 'God On Trial,' gives ample coverage of many of the enigmas and my book, The Amazing Equation is the complete, synopsis, for knowledge of the total subject.

Both books have acclaim.

So you can see what has shaped our history with its wicked events.

The present problems, of society and that also of the world in general, have a complete connection 'with,' the Hebrew tradition of 'marriage.'

So much so, that this 'last,' unchallenged, unworkable, outmoded practice, inevitably is going to take the world to its finality,

'IF,' we don't do anything about it.

Could those far off long dead religious fiction writers have known what they were doing, and what hell they were going to bring on this world?

Let us hope, they didn't.

Modern day capitalism is also a Hebrew tenet, as is also the exploitation of one person against another. This breeds hatred, and thus has an effect, in the creating of war. It is basically a series of events, or better put, a conglomeration of intertwined, obnoxious things, that affect each other in different ways and produce the outcome, or the result. This book is not going to discuss this, though.

For 45 years plus, through all kinds of means, I tried to inform people, of events that would come about if they continued to reject wisdom. The events are now so overwhelming that the remedy looks as if it is buried and lost under a mire of problems.

A late surge of wisdom could just about avert a terrible calamity of an event that will make what has happened before, look like a vicar's singing competition.

If you say, "Oh, it's too late to do anything," you will be saying exactly, what they said 45 plus years ago. I suggest that you, if you perceive what I am talking about, get the other books in the series. And also start a Tallis club.

A Tallis club is one where you meet once or twice a week for about two to three hours to discuss and possibly help in doing your part in the saving of the planet. The complete series of books will give you amazing details for an incredible existence with wonders beyond the imagination of man.

The alternative we will be left with if we don't do anything at all, will be, - the continuation of this evil system with its misery, hopelessness, helplessness, poverty, suffering, ignorance and drudgery and the continuation of the world's rush to its demise along with all its victims.

This way is not difficult to put into operation for it to create a new world. It is fun and rewarding, beyond belief, and has benefits that even the author, hasn't or couldn't visualize, such is its scope, in its long reaching way.

It probably would take a volume to get anywhere near to illustrating the advantages in total, if that were even, possible. That is because there are so, so, soooooooooooooooooooooo---- many.

The gift is immense, so don't criticize, or argue with it,

Or be too proud to take it up,

As people have in the past.

There is no need to inspect it, but 'only,' to use it.

There is not a time for gaining wisdom, only a time for losing ignorance and apathy, which so many people have proudly got.

You can get wisdom later and I will tell you how, but first let us deal with the problem. You are lost, if you only knew it, so now is the time to close your eyes and take the hand of one who can guide you. If you were drowning, you would grab at a twig to save your life, if this is a twig grab hold of it.

But will people ever, ever wake up, from their disinterest? The answer is probably, unfortunately and sadly; - 'No.'

Pride, arrogance, intellectualism and complacency will lead to finality.

How sad, that is!

If people ignore wisdom, then the results will be more than tragic as can be seen by the history that humanity already has endured. Think not that the world will care, but what a waste.

Leave, if you can your unfounded, unprovable, half worked-out religious beliefs, even though you think you are so gifted in knowledge, and you will have wonders. Place your feet firmly on the ground and bathe, in truth and reality, which will come, only with understanding. Freedom is the answer. Tallis is the only remedy, for an amazing future.

Be trusting, humble and brave, and take the first step. Get behind the Master, and all will be well, and leave your ideas behind.

BUT, -and this is a strict warning, if the malaise of this modern world is inbuilt in the human psyche, then we will have no chance at all, if humanity will not heed to the cause we all go to the mincing pot. 'We have to get past our apathy, and our pride, and then it will be easy to walk the course of sanity.' Reread that please.

Only the humble can do it, but where are they?

Follow the leader.

'Good luck.'

The great Master, JK Tallis.

Chapter One

It was a grayish day. The clouds had knotted up since the night before forming great masses of aspheric mountains in the high pitched red and pink colored sky, as if they were climbable even to the seat of heaven itself, where god, was supposed to reign supreme and who was looking down no doubt like the giant of Lilliput, looking at our puny efforts. The god who could see the first from the last. Perhaps he still confers with the devil over his plans such as the story in the bible of the torture of poor Job and his servants and family.

The convent was in the area of Norfolk, a lazy, sleepy village, where little happened naturally, and even where the field mice were complaining of having nothing to do, and where nothing would have happened, if it hadn't been for the activity of the church, that was silently running riot, and perpetuating many foul deeds on the world.

That of course doesn't mean that the toil for the common folk was not backbreaking.
