

Supergod

(Pavel Kastl, Version 1.1)

This small e-book consists of several articles, the subject of which is the most powerful being that owns the closed reality that we all exist in. But how come that I know him?

When I was a child, I was visited by the "Circle of Stars" that took me to the "Holy Land", a place where is "Holy Council". I was together with its members and I have seen the God of our universe. There have been many things shown to me, but I have forgotten them. Despite it, I have kept a subconscious memory of some of them, which helped me to write my spiritual books and articles, when I was young. Later I have discovered Hellish people and their different soul, and there were other spiritual experiences like the "Sanctuary of God" and "Glade of God's Remembrance". It took years for me to absorb these shocking experiences and to take the proper lesson from them.

My somewhat different energetic constitution (see "Infinity") together with other factors has enabled the great spiritual experience that came to pass in Autumn 2013, when he who I have always called "Precreator" or "Greatcreator" had connected my mind and I have got to know several new big secrets.

I have always supposed that there is but one reality that has no borders and I have called it "Allorganism". But during my experience I have got to know, that what I have always called "Allorganism" is in fact a big Ball - a closed reality, behind the borders of which there is another opened one.

Before you will start reading the bellow-placed articles, I have to notify you that in order to use the same terminology in all of them I have edited the old ones by means of new terms "Supergod", "Ball", "Supergodly Ball" and "Endless Spaces".

Apology: Dear Reader, please accept my apology for the lower quality of the language. I have written the text of this e-book myself, although I do not speak English very well. Thank you for understanding.

The following articles are a preface to all the other:

How It All Started

There was a time, when far from here, in Endless Spaces, there was a kind of perfect spiritual creatures who have decided that they will live forever.

For a very long time, they had been searching the source of their eternal life. And after quite a search they have finally found it. They have figured out the way how to be eternally young.

They have built up giant spheres – balls, inside of which they have created a closed reality by means of suitable "allmatter" from Endless Spaces.

The being enters the ball and then, by means of a special mathematics, it creates a formula, accordingly to which all the allmatter in it will be used. The goal of this work is the inception of such an environment that makes it possible for the perfect being to rejuvenate & regenerate its spiritual body completely.

Within such a ball, universes use to be created with galaxies & solar systems and planets. Diverse spiritual and material worlds, various kinds of spiritual and material beings that all together enable for the perfect spiritual creature that has created them to fully transform and renew its spiritual body, and so to stay alive and young forever.

Wait, I forgot to say the most important thing. Among the beings that use to be created by the perfect spiritual creature we can find us people, too. And because the perfect spiritual creature uses to create even Gods, we are free to call it Supergod, who is the God of all the Gods. And our universe is finding itself within one of the giant balls I spoke about.

Explanation Related to Supergodly Ball

When I have got to know, that the "Allorganism" is a giant Ball with a closed reality inside of itself, it was a shock for me. For a long time I was absorbing this information and did not know, what to do with it. For years, I was writing books and articles, in which I was claiming that there is but the "Allorganism" and, all of a sudden, I am to claim that it is not so? Now, before my highly probable "going crazy", so that it would look like some rubbish that was born in the head of a future lunatic? I was helpless.

But I put the information about the Ball into my private notes ("TOK Dodatek 8" Císlo 29; I have started with it in the end of September and I have closed it in the beginning of December last year, whereas in the displayed sample there is covered one private information that I did not want to publish so far).

(Říká se, ať to není pravda, že fantazie nezná hranic [to, co si představíme, je pevnou součástí Všeorganizmu a tedy naším předurčeným Osudem], a zde je jeden její výtvor v mém počínání.

Pokud by za hranicemi Všeorganizmu existovaly Nekonečné Prostory a v nich žijící Superboové, zde je jedna teorie o útvarech, jakými je náš Všeorganizmus. V těch Nekonečných Prostorách by tyto "Všeorganizmy" mohly být jako "kuličky všech kulíček" obsahující všehmotu, výrobky určenými pro Superbohy.

Každá tato "kulička všech kulíček" by byla jádrem nějakého budoucího Všeorganizmu, které by se dalo rozbalovat různými způsoby: dříve ovšem máj by byly výsledkem toho, jakým způsobem byste to jádro rozbíhali a uspořádali. A to by v daném případě dělali Superboové po nás, co by si tu "kuličku všech kulíček" někde koupili.

Částečně by rozbíhali její obsah, čímž by vzniknul gigantický uzavřený prostor, do kterého by vstoupili. A pak by třeba podle nějakého šleňého matematického vzorce rozbíhali a uspořádali zbytek toho jádra v tom "novém Všeorganizmu" tak, aby vyhovoval jejich záměru s ním [ještě dodám, že část toho vzorce by byla pevně daná a část by přizpůsobil každý Superbůh svým individuálním požadavkům]. Takže zřejmě mládnutí či alespoň zastavení stárnutí, nebo prostě regenerace jejich Superbožského organismu.

Jž teď najednou vidím, jaký smysl pro Všeorganizmus mělo, že jsem pomyslel na to, co by mohlo být za jeho hranicemi, a rozvinul výše popsanou fantastickou úvahu. I jí v něm bylo zapotřebí. Ostatně jako i všeho ostatního.)

(Když už jsem zmínil "kuličku všech kulíček", řeknu ještě to, že se z ní dá "vymodelovat" úplně všechno. Já sám bych si z ní postavil tohle:

O tom, co může být za případnými hranicemi Všeorganizmu, jsem rozvinul výše uvedenou fantastickou představu. Ale co o tom vážně vím, vám nyní rád povím.

Po té, co mi Pán ukázal svoje Tělo, jsem ho na malý okamžik zahlédl i zvenku. Byl to "všenicťvar", který vypadal jako obrovská koule, spíše tmavší než světlejší. Její zevní stěny byly dokonalé, nepropustné a křišťálově hladké. Okolí zevního prostředí bylo spíše světlejší.

To, co bylo za Všeorganizmem, přesně neznám. Přesto vám ale nabízím tři možnosti toho, co se nachází za jeho hranicemi:

- Pouze trocha prostoru a kousky všehmoty, odstraněné ze Všeorganizmu, které se pro jeho vnitřní uspořádání nehodily, protože s nimi Prastvořitel nemohl udělat "svůj výpočet".
- "Nekonečné Prostory" a v nich Superboové, kteří žijí dále prostřednictvím struktur, jako je Všeorganizmus.
- Něco mezi první a druhou možností.)

(Tak jsem zahlédl "divnou matematiku". Byla vícedimenzní. Uviděl jsem řádku s nějakým vzorcem, z té řádky byla ubrána jedna hodnota, ale výsledná cifra napsaná v té řádce platila dál i bez té hodnoty. Počítali jste dál, něco jste vypočetli a najednou jste tam zase dosadili tu hodnotu, kterou jste původně ubrali, takže zdánlivě zmizela a pak se znovu objevila, aniž byla viditelně odečtena nebo dopočtena.

What I had been writing in my books and articles about the "Allorganism" (also in the newer ones like "The Formula of the Allorganism" or "The Empty Total Sum"), it is not valid for Endless Spaces, that is for the whole existence, but only for the inside of our Supergodly Ball. Apart from this information the texts of these articles are in fact okay, since I had an inspiration and some knowledge of this environment.

Here are the old articles, the text of which was written partly before and partly after my experience named "Supergod" (see "Three Secrets"):

The Formula of the Supergodly Ball

(Version 1.1)

I consider all what exists here a part of one whole and all the universes I take for the cells of a giant organism that consists of them all. And now I will tell you something more about it.

The name of that giant organism is a Supergodly Ball (that is how I call it). The organism is located inside of it, being a closed reality. It is directed by a spirit (Supergod) that dwells in a dimension that pervades all the cells (Alldimension).

Every cell has a core, something like a "(circle)ball", and all these balls of all the cells-universes are interconnected, by this way forming the core of the Supergodly Ball - the Alldimension, which in fact is a space arisen by a mutual interconnection of all the balls among one another.

But the leading spirits of particular universes, Gods, are interconnected, too. In fact, they all (and all their balls) together form the Supergod (and his ball of all the balls). Or, oppositely, it is the Supergod (and his ball of all the balls), who, divided by the number of the cells of his Ball, forms all the Gods (and all their balls).

Anyway, we can claim both that the God is the Supergod and reversely that the Supergod is the God. Both is true. These highest beings are interconnected to such an extent that they are somehow merged, in its way being one and the same being as well as each ball is somewhat the ball of all the balls, too. But back to the Supergodly Ball itself.

I have seen its Formula. There was a very special (obviously many-dimensional) language, by which it was possible to say it. I was only able to vaguely see one third of the language, so difficult it was.

Together with the Formula I have seen human mathematics. It was quite okay with some small errors only, which has surprised me a little since I would await big ones. But in contrast with the Formula of the Supergodly Ball, taking into account totally everything, the human mathematics has only been comprised of the minority range of all.

All the things within the Supergodly Ball are somehow related and in a direct or indirect relationship with one another. Therefore every thing is truly expressed only by a formula that is valid for totally everything what is here - the Formula of the Supergodly Ball.

The Empty Total Sum

(Version 2.1)

Our Supergodly Ball mainly serves those who are most happy within it. And because it is ruled by Supergod, it would be interesting to know the total sum of his happiness (+) and unhappiness (-) which, in view of how he "perceives things", is subjective & objective at the same time.

If Supergod was perfectly balanced and the total sum of all of his inner feelings was zero, than he would not be happy, he would not want to exist and he would not want to manage his Ball. His happiness, desire to exist and manage the Supergodly Ball must prevail over their opposite. So he must be at least in some minimal plus. But where this plus comes from? Perhaps it is gained by the subjective unhappiness of some other beings that exist in the Supergodly Ball and that suffer instead of him. One way or the other, Supergod's spirit + the allmatter of his Ball = one (perfectly functioning) whole, the total sum of which is zero.

The main component that makes us alive is our spiritual soul. In fact, in the Supergodly Ball there are various diverse spiritual kinds and what I will now write here is valid for most of them.

But let's now remember one basic law first. The subjective happiness of one is something what can only exist at the expense of the subjective happiness of somebody else. It means that any spiritual kind that would exist (considering the entire time of its existence, of course) in the prevailing positive amount of the subjective happiness of its members would be served by the Supergodly Ball more than the other way round. And when I say 'serve', I mean to give away more than to accept. So in given case it means to be more badly-off than well-off.

Of course, to a certain extent everybody serves the Supergodly Ball by means of all of his subjective feelings, which is also valid for those who are most happy, but to serve it by being happy is pleasant and by being unhappy is unpleasant. So that if you belong among those who serve the Supergodly Ball mainly by their own well-being, you are a lucky soul.

Generally, no matter how big the well-being of some spiritual kind has been and how long it has felt more happy than unhappy, there is the opposite prepared for it that will be the bigger, the bigger the amount of the subjective happiness of that spiritual kind as a whole. However, this law is valid for the majority of spiritual kinds and not for them all.

Within the majority of spiritual kinds there are individuals who are destined to achieve a great amount of subjective happiness, there are positive periods of time prepared for these spiritual kinds as wholes, but very unhappy individuals and negative periods of time are there as well. In such a case, the more these spiritual kinds have achieved, the bigger the opposite will be (in the future) or it has already been (in the past).

Above all, there are happy individuals and not happy kinds. As far as their subjective happiness is concerned, the majority of spiritual kinds must not overstep zero, but happy individuals can. That is why you can build a happy man (even quite a few), but you cannot build a happy (entire) mankind.

Theoretically, if our spiritual kind as a whole could not overstep zero, we should not strive for its too big happiness. It means no too big good, no periods of quick expansion. Then we won't have to face a corresponding opposite - a too big evil and quick decline. In fact, this idea is close to "Lukewarm Harmony" from my book "Amen" about how to avoid extremes in the life of man(kind).

But because the Supergodly Ball requires a complete eternal transformation of its inner allmatter & Supergod's spiritual body and its substantial part consists of extreme feelings of many spiritual creatures, this requirement creates their extreme subjective happiness and unhappiness that are unavoidable.

Practical addition: The following words are somehow related to what was written in my article "Strike on the Hell", more precisely to the change of the reign of Positive and Negative worlds.

Please look at the following excerpt from my book "Zablesk Pravdy" that explains the alternation of positive and negative periods of time of two different kinds. In this instance it is about roe deer and wolves, but the same principle is valid for various spiritual kinds that are somehow set against each other, too.

Nyní uvedu příklad, na kterém je jasně vidět jádro principu zachování harmonie v přírodě. Když bude nejdůležitější složkou potravy vlků srnčí zvěř, které bude v kraji vlky obývaném dostatek, budou mít vlci hodně potravy a začnou se více množit. Tím se zvětší počet vlků a více vlků potřebuje více potravy, to jest více srnčí zvěře. Časem stá- le rostoucí počet vlků sníží stavy (počet) srnčí zvěře, čímž vlkům ubude potravy. Tím, že mají méně potravy, se budou méně množit, a tím se počet vlků sníží. Tím, že bude vlků méně, uloví menší počet srnčí zvěře, a ta se tím pádem bude moci opět rozmnožovat, čímž se její počet zvýší. Vlkům tak opět přibude potrava, časem se opět přemno- ží, začnou více lovit, srnčí zvěře opět ubude a spolu s ní i potravy vl- kům, tím se jejich stav opět sníží, takže méně vlků uloví méně srnčí zvěře, která se bude moci opět rozmnožit. I tento děj lze zařadit do všeobecně platné sinusové křivky.

Sinusová křivka vztahu mezi počtem vlků a počtem srnčí zvěře:

Co jednomu prospívá, škodí druhým a co škodí druhým, jiným pro- spívá.

In our case, the principle also applies to two opposite spiritual worlds most important to us - Heaven and Hell.

In the period of time that is favorable to Heaven, both higher and lower Heaven fully prosper, and the lower Hell is in ruins and the only part of it that somewhat prospers is the higher one (it is there as a necessary partial balance of the entire prospering Heaven because of the statics of particular dimensions).

And, oppositely, in the period of time that is favorable to Hell, both higher and lower Hell fully prosper, and the lower Heaven is in ruins and the only part of it that somewhat prospers is the higher one (it is there as a necessary partial balance of the entire prospering Hell because of the statics of particular dimensions).

These periods of time alternate and they balance each other.

There was a picture of the influence of three powers upon what they will make human souls experience in the Supergodly Ball. It had three parts: The reign of Heaven (light part), of Hell (dark part) and the rest (between light and dark). Both Heaven and Hell had an equally big part of their might (at least one third, but not more than 40%).

Bonus: In my book "Mozaika moudrosti" - that I am more or less really proud of - is written: "Kdyby si nikdo živý neuvědomil VšeOrganizmus, tak by se rozpadl." In English it means approximately this: "If nobody alive realized the Allorganism (= Supergodly Ball), it would disintegrate."

Well, among the members of intelligent spiritual kinds there must be individuals who - both during their stay in the spiritual worlds and during their life in physical body (in which it is more difficult but more effective simultaneously) - they must think about the Supergodly Ball and somewhat experience it. Through this they prevent it from falling apart. These more intelligent, that is higher spiritual kinds also experience a connection to a so-called "higher I" of Supergod, which means to a more perfect part of his complicated personality.

In order for Supergod to stay young forever, he must always transform & renew the entire complicated personality of his, so that its wisest part, too. Therefore the wisdom from it he divides into pieces and every one of them he uses to put into different being in his Ball and the being then experiences the piece of his biggest wisdom. I have one of them, perhaps the smallest one, too.

Three Secrets

(Version 3; Approximate translation of the sample of "TOK Dodatek 8")

1. Supergod

It happened that the Consciousness became mighty upon me. I have had (= "I Supergod") thousands, millions of personalities. I was perceiving each of them separately, yet all of them have been experienced by one, superordinate to them all. I have been so many times! And always of the same age (which was average in total sum, similarly to a man, who is about 35 all the time).

I have seen it all, myself and my Ball like one only whole, like one only. That all is One. And I am keeping it the same all the time, in order for me to be the same all the time and to not grow old.

Even if quadrillions of milliards years have gone by, it does not put a year on me. By means of the alltransformation of everything in me, everything in me is always fully renewed, so I do not change at all, neither I grow old.

(As a "Supergod", this is how I have perceived particular subjects: Between their subjective energy [soul and consciousness] and their physical body there was a little piece of me connected both to the subject and to my main personality - main consciousness [my perception of cells - microspaces in the subject now I do not take into account].)

(I do not have words to describe to normal people what it is like to be more times. Imagine someone's reality, keep it in your mind, add to it the reality of someone else, keep it in your mind also, and when you will have more these realities by this way, that is human personalities, think all of them at one time. And then create another reality that perceives all these realities at the same time, and concurrently it is a complex and to all of them superior personality.)

(How much is Supergod happy or unhappy, how much he wants or does not want to be, I will now try to fractionally bring closer.

Imagine that you have ten human realities, divided and joined in one personality that is superior to them all. One of the ten people is very unhappy and he does not want to live any more at all, the second is contrarily very happy and he deeply loves to live, another two are rather unhappy and two rather happy, and the remaining four people are averagely fine.

In given case that "main and superior personality" is co-experiencing all the ten diversely happy and unhappy human personalities at the same time. It means that by a piece of itself it does not want to be any more at all and concurrently by a different piece it oppositely wants to be too much, by a piece it suffers very much and by a piece it feels joy very much, by a piece it more or less suffers and by a piece it more or less feels joy, and by the remaining pieces a bit of everything. In total sum in this case that "main and superior personality" is finding itself between a wish to be or not to be, and between suffering and pleasure.)

2. Supergodly Ball

Very simply said, the essence of the Supergodly Ball has two main parts, whilst the first one is childishly simple and the other is oppositely unimaginably complicated.

The first one: Imagine the core of the Supergodly Ball in a form of a ball that is filled by "allmatter". And you take the "allmatter" from it and divide it into a giant number of miniature pieces, so that each of them contains its different part than the other. Through this way you will get the particular cells of the Supergodly Ball.

The second one: The exact location and co-operation of all the cells must be so precisely managed and so much interconnected (of course, including the exact timing of all that) in order for them all to transform the matter from the ball - the core of the Supergodly Ball - by absolute one hundred per cent. This exact activity of the particular cells of the Supergodly Ball and its control is something so terribly complicated, that neither the whole human mathematics would do.

As we already know, everything after its transformation by absolute one hundred per cent is back in its original state (see  $a100\% = 0 = \infty$ ), that is of the same age and not changed at all. And if we eternally transform the "allmatter" from the ball by absolute one hundred per cent, it is always the same forever and together with it the whole Supergodly Ball and its Supergod.

("Allmatter" is literally and to the latter all, which means, that in order to transform it by absolute one hundred per cent, in the Supergodly Ball there must occur also the biggest possible extremes - the most terrible suffering & the existence of the most evil beings, and the biggest bliss & the existence of the most good beings.)

(In the Supergodly Ball all incurvates, not only a line in its space, but in the end also any idea of what is beyond its borders.)

Today's Supergodly Ball, if it was not built up accordingly to some building plan :-), has originally been a gigantic (all)space without exact inner arrangement that had finally been taken over by the mightiest spiritual being - Supergod.

But we know for sure that that he has managed to organize and arrange everything in the Supergodly Ball so exactly to regenerate his Godly body permanently and comprehensively to keep him eternally evenly young.

For any inaccuracy during the setting up of the inner order of the Supergodly Ball would result in undesirable getting younger, growing older or spoiling of the Supergod's spiritual body and therefore the order in the Supergodly Ball had to be set without any deviation, accordingly to which everything always repeats round and round without any profit or loss (= perpetuum mobile), so that the Supergodly Ball and Supergod always stay the same, whilst their existence as a whole gives together number zero.

This precise order that includes all the positions and functions of all the components of the Supergodly Ball is expressed by a Formula that Supergod managed to think up. Thanks to it the time - which is something what can be controlled and commanded - had de facto stopped. In the same way like it had stopped for the whole Supergodly Ball that, apart from the other, mainly serves to the preservation of Supergod by means of the full experiencing and full renewal of his forever young and never aging body.

There is a fiction "Nekonecny pribeh"

And it whole always repeats. There is written (approximate translation):

"It is an eternal process. The story without beginning and end. The never-ending story. And it has always been like that and it will always be like that. Do you want to see him that made up this story?"

Then the space opened and it was possible to see beyond the border of all the borders. And the Kasius' soul had caught the sight of an endless face with the endless look of endless eyes. Somebody more powerful than all the powerful and more wise than all the wise. And then it had finally understood, why this story is the way it is and why it has to repeat eternally."

"During all the endless time, in the course of which this story is going on, someone's cold and endless face is looking at its course. The eyes of that face have a cold and icy look, free from all the human emotions."

I would like to add additional notes about Supergod. Note: Is = plural of I (like selves = plural of self).

Let us assume, that Supergod is many times and one time at the same time, and that he has many Is with various kinds of dominance, covered by the main & most dominant I. But all these Is as well as particular "components" of Supergod must be "transformed".

There are lonely and group Is. The lonely ones are particular subjects and the group ones take care of many subjects (usually of the same spiritual kind). These "group Is" are both higher (for example those connected to Godly beings) and lower (for example those connected to lower creatures like some kind of insect or simple plants like grass). And in order for every "group Is" to get fully transformed, each of subordinated "lonely Is" must exist differently (each transforms a different piece of their "group I").

For example, the "group I" of roe deer = both deer does with healthy and with broken legs; both those in good shape and in the bad; both those without pain and those with it, for instance shot and wounded by a hunter; both those too young and those too old; both those fed well and those fed poorly; both those that live in the land without beasts and they do not have to be afraid of them, and those who live in the land with beasts and they have to be afraid of them; both roebucks with the proper horns and those with the defected or less developed; both roebucks that dominate the other roebucks and mate, and roebuck that are subordinated to the other roebucks and do not mate, and similarly).

There also occurs some blending of various Is, for instance of two group ones, and therefore in the Supergodly Ball there must occur e.g. a cross of an apple and pear or some mutant. Or one Supergod's "group I" enters a loving relationship with some other or oppositely a war (also through loving or making a war, respective Supergod's parts transform themselves fully to enable consequently the full transformation of his entire body). And similarly.

Although Supergod has got "many Is", despite it all he perfectly controls each one of them. The subordinate by the superior and the superior by the most superior and all of them by the main one at the same time. All the Is co-operate in him perfectly and together they are a part of his complex personality.

But maybe instead of saying "a lot of Is" it would do to say shortly that Supergod has got a branched and very complicated personality that gives the impression of many personalities.

(In order for you to be able to transform & regenerate your I fully, you need to have at least one additional one, whilst one takes care of the regeneration of the other. So you have to be at least two times. Or you have to have that I of yours that perfect to manage to fully transform & regenerate it itself.)

After the Lord has shown me his Body, for a short moment I have seen it from the outside. It was a "allnothing" shape that had looked like a giant ball, rather darker than lighter. Its outside walls were perfect, impervious and smooth like a crystal. The vicinity of the outside environment was rather lighter. I do not exactly know what was beyond the Supergodly Ball. Despite it, I offer you three possibilities of what is beyond its borders:

- a) Only some space and the pieces of allmatter removed from the Supergodly Ball that were not suitable for its inner order, because Supergod could not have made "his calculation" with them.
- b) "Endless Spaces" and Supergods in them who live longer by means of structures like our Supergodly Ball.
- c) Something between the first and the second option.

3. Time

Time (rather) does not exist (than exists). (Partially) There is only the continuance of some story in the other part of the Supergodly Ball, than in which it has started and/or it has originally been going on (which the subjects of animated nature perceive as a growing old and people call it time), but at the same time (partially) there is neither it, because everything in the Supergodly Ball has its definite, unchangeable position (like particular frames in a movie, out of which every single one alone is a standing picture only, but all of them together are the whole story).

Look at the Supergodly Ball & Supergod, they are always the same and inside of them there rather is not than is what you people call time. And because there are mainly they, time rather is not than is.

When speaking about time, I will also speak about a way back through it. For example, somebody is sixty years old and he had a car accident when he was forty. And purely theoretically he will return back into the time that was shortly before the accident and he will prevent it. But even if he will do that, the accident will happen nonetheless. Or in fact will and will not at the same time.

The left picture shows the life - "flowing of time" - of that man in the Supergodly Ball and the right one what would happen if the accident was diverted that happened to him when he was forty.

For if the accident was diverted, the story - the course of that man's life - would have to branch out and to go by two branches. In the first of them he would have the accident (what once happened in the Supergodly Ball, it endlessly repeats in it since it is always the same) and in the second one he would not have it.

If it was so, then in view of the fact, that the Supergodly Ball is always the same and all the events eternally repeat in it, this "return back in time", the prevention of the accident from coming to pass and the branching of the story would have to repeat in it eternally and endlessly. And what follows from it you can easily guess yourselves.

(When I was describing "Tajemství casu" in book "Mozaika moudrosti", I did not understand it very well then and till today I do not fully understand it yet.)

Infinity

(Version 2.1)

I am here with one theory about infinity. It is the result of my knowledge of the Supergodly Ball + of my fantastic imagination about what could be beyond its borders, if it has any :-)

Infinity 1:

It is "limitedly endless" and valid within the Supergodly Ball. It contains "subjective time" and it has two main values:

1.  $\infty$
2. Number that expresses "points", that is "particular positions" of the whole story that is going on within the Supergodly Ball (somehow comparable to the number of frames in a movie).

In this infinity line gets curved and all the way it "goes along the same points" round and round, because the inside of the Supergodly Ball is fixed.

(The stories in the Supergodly Ball repeat round and round and all the matter in it is transformed by absolute 100%. It means, that every time after all the stories have been "played", there appears such an environment as if the stories have never been "played" at all, as if they were to be "played" for the first time.

What it means for the points along which the line goes, you can easily find out yourselves: Every time the line goes "as if it was for the first time", which means that the points are only "new" and it goes along them "endlessly", because it always goes forward in always "new" environment.

Both the points and the line are 100% renewed by absolute transformation. That is why I have used infinite number instead of definite. And I have called it "limitedly endless".)

Infinity 2:

It is "fully endless" and valid outside of the Supergodly Ball. It contains "objective time" and mostly it is filled by fragmented (all)matter. Within these "Endless Spaces" there is a gigantic area occupied by Supergods and that of ours originates from it, too.

Do you guess the way by which line goes in this infinity? Does it go straightly, does it curve or does it split up itself? Anyway, I can give you hints that all the way it goes along different points, because the inside of the "Endless Spaces" is not fixed, but naturally changing.

Infinite numbers have various values and dimensions. They are infinite, either limitedly or fully, and the "limitedly infinite" are also definite.

For example, there is a planet with two men. One of them lives 30 years and the other 90 years. The universe with the planet repeats endlessly together with the life of these two men. During the eternity each of the two will live  $\infty$  number of years, but the number of the spent years of the first man is three times smaller than that of the other. Both their infinite numbers are the same ( $= \infty$ ) and different (the first man's  $1 \infty \times 3 =$  the other man's  $1 \infty$ ).

Translated excerpt from "Mozaika moudrosti", "Tajemství nekonečného čísla":

All the infinite numbers have these qualities:

1. They are endless
2. They are of the same size
3. They are of different size
4. They have their polarity
5. They do not have any polarity (through going endlessly they gradually change into their opposite and therefore they are losing their polarity; but at the same time they are keeping this polarity, since they have endless amount of it)

Now I will explain that there was a change in my energetic constitution when I was young (Voll akutest 75 [but one time it has added my inflammatory pain to my vital energy and the result was 88, so that this equipment is unreliable] and ARDK Yin/Yang - 1,349). A little piece of my soul was either differently connected to my brain or it was free a bit. After I was poisoned partly, some of my brain cells have died and the "differently connected" or "free part" of my soul has connected itself with another part that became free as the consequence of my poisoning. The result is that - now and then - I better remember some things shown to my soul long ago and I can "catch some piece of higher knowledge" better than before. Later, in a worse condition of my brain, I should have crazy thoughts mixed up with some occasional "flashes of truth".

Because I have mentioned Supergods (who use to set up structures like our Ball), please allow me to post here a joke & the most serious thing mix:

ADVERTISEMENT FOR SUPERGODS: Buy our new LITTLE MOUNTAIN!

Client review (for the uninformed, it is the review of one client, not of more clients):

We really like the new "Little Mountain" edition of "Ageless Body Formula". Although we are using it a few quadrillions of years only, so far we have not aged at all. We can only recommend this product to others!

The majority automatic system really suits us. We only enter our data, manually set up the main values and almost all the remaining counting is automatically finished by the equipment. In the end there is a couple of closing corrections and it is ready to create the new environment that meets our exact needs!

The stay in it is likeable, the maintaining work is not too difficult and the regenerative process hurts only slightly. Wanna be young forever? Use the Little Mountain too!

Feel free to take me for the biggest liar, but I have seen the "Little Mountain", although not with the eyes of my physical body.

The origin of the name (that arose as the result of my endeavor to compare it to something known to humanity) comes from the appearance of the space, within which the Formula is placed. Its cover is shaped like one wider (or almost two?) little mountain(s). There are no bright colors on it and in its vicinity, but rather some faded ones such as that of a darker brass, darker green and similarly.

Just as a matter of interest, if you want to compare the knowledge of any thing that exists within the Supergodly Ball to the knowledge contained in that Formula, the knowledge of the "thing" is immediately pictured next to the Formula and the picture occupies such a space that corresponds to the exact part of the Formula, the knowledge of which "the pictured thing" contains. One only look at it and you know how much the "thing" knows.

PS: Let one part of you believe that there is nothing outside of the Supergodly Ball and let second part of you believe that there is something outside of the Supergodly Ball. The reason is that the Supergodly Ball needs both these beliefs. Some help to keep its integrity, some help to renew Supergod's spirit.

And here are articles that were completely written after this experience of mine and already with the benefit of a little hindsight:

Supergod

(TOK Dodatek 9 Cislo 5)

The owner of the big Ball has "killed" me. Since I have got to know the knowledge of a small "fragment" of his reality, now and then I am in a very strange condition.

I think of that Ball of his and how long it will hold. I want it to be here eternally to make all the good happen in it and at the same time I want it to go out of action to prevent all the bad from taking place in it.

When I have seen, that the Allorganism is one big Ball with a Supergod that is able to exist in it eternally young, automatically I have got an idea that there are more such Balls out there and that our Precreeator belongs to some perfect kind of spiritual beings existing in the spaces beyond the Allorganism. And I myself do not know if this idea - that has appeared quickly and even with some details - is only the product of my fantasy or unbelievable reality.

(As far as the essence of happiness is concerned, which the Lord had let me get to know, every subject is designed for a different experience of it. It can be for instance short-term and intensive and narrowly focused, or contrariwise long-term and less intensive and complicatedly arranged, and similarly. And I have also seen how it is possible to program oneself for a specific kind of happiness at certain time.)

Some wise lessons related to the Lord:

- Every now and then it happens to me that suddenly it crosses my mind that all what matters is he. That everything must be subordinated to his being eternally young and to his feeling fine, even if some artificially created creatures would suffer in his big Ball forever and ever.
- One example of the use of such a Ball: If its Owner would exist outside of it and would grow older somehow and so he has found himself (to be) in a somewhat worse condition than before, he can enter it and focus the first events in it only for the regeneration and rejuvenation of his Supergodly body. And when he finds himself (to be) in an ideal condition, only then he focuses the events for keeping his personality in it. And he will repeat them till the time when the situation beyond the borders of his Ball requires him to get out of it. So that perhaps million times.
- Maybe you would like to know, to what an extent Supergod co-experiences the suffering of creatures living in his Ball. Okay, now I will give you more details about it.

As I have already written, between the subjective consciousness of living creature (it can be described by a most simplified way in case of such a creature that only has "one reality" that it fully experiences) and his body there is a stream, by which the creature is connected to the piece of the Lord's personality. The consciousness of that creature has a direct and full link to everything what it experiences subjectively by means of its body, whereas the Lord experiences it more or less differently - indirectly and "by a detour".

By means of his energetically-materially-informative streams he knows about each micropiece of that creature and he has each of them contained in his "Alldimension" and "Little Mountain". And if I am to express my opinion on the degree by which he co-experiences the suffering with the creature, then I have to say, that only in a small one, but he knows about it.

("Little Mountain" is a structure, reminding rather one than two little mountains, in which there is stored the Formula of the Allorganism in a strange land, having darker and faded versions of colors such as brass, green, brown and similarly, whereas on the left from the structure there is some lighter line. "Little Mountain" calculates also it itself including who will think of it, who will see it etc.)

- To see (all) that from the (Super)Godly viewpoint had affected me so much!
- During the calculation of the inner arrangement of the Allorganism various criteria had to be met. Everything in it had to be divided, set up and planned in a way to satisfy not only the need of experience and renewal of the particular pieces of Precreator's personality, but at the same time the necessity of balance of opposites and also all the qualities of allmatter & laws of Nature of this closed reality.
- As we know, in case of global interest of their nation, Hellish people give advices to one another, whereas normal human being has to manage to do this and that, sometimes even everything, without others, that is absolutely alone. But on the other hand just by means of this he or she can develop and improve very much. After all, the highest and most perfect one is alone, too. It reminded me that when long ago **** was writing with that "highest spirit" by automatic pen, he was signing him as "Alone".

(Author's comment: Automatic writing is sick, please avoid it by all means. Its practicing usually belongs to a lower spiritual development & level and apart from it, bad spiritual creatures often use such a method of communication with people and they can badly influence those, the pen of which they lead. Remember, that neither Jesus nor Precreator will directly speak with you using this method. Higher level of spiritual communication does not need any pen, since it deals with streams & feelings that are more than any written words.)

- If you saw how Super(God) sees all that and what matters to him. It is so strange, so inhuman!
- So far I have took a look at the hierarchy of all the kinds of the Allorganism only little and therefore the following information is only very approximate and still a subject to change:

Humanoid kinds do not belong among the most matured beings and they are located in the second third of the range of this hierarchy. The third third are Gods. Hellish humanoid souls are tightly above the half of the range and the normal human on it or little bellow. Guardians of "the Sanctuary of God" are above Hellish humanoid souls and even somewhat higher are the members of "Holy Council", already tightly bellow Gods. Our main one is almost in the three quarters of the hierarchy's range.

Secret of Happiness

(Approximate translation of "TOK Dodatek 8" Number 30)

The Lord has shown me the secret of happiness.

Supergod was happy, when he was little workloaded and at the same time when he was perceiving a small pain during it, but only if he overall felt himself predominantly fine. All has looked as if the complete pleasure without a minimum of burden is something, what in practice obviously does not function very long.

Healthy and necessary minimum of load and various problems that alternate surely belongs to the right happiness. Simply, there are joyful pieces and problematic pieces that change in every possible way. But the rule remains here, that in the overall subjective impression of them all and at the same time of own personality the pleasure must always somehow prevail.

Such happiness is preferred by the Lord. It is only partial, but reasonable, real, stable and eternal.

The Price of Human Life

(TOK Dodatek 9 Cisko 15)

Do you know, what is the price of human life? If not, please have a think about the following.

At first, let us remind that human life is a made-up, calculated and created subject inside of the closed reality of Supergodly Ball. It can be changed and reshaped, ended and started again etc.

Thanks to the existence of human life that of Supergod can exist, too. And if there were no people, our Supergod cannot eternally keep himself in an excellent condition and maybe neither eternally live.

Allow me to remind also that that human life inside of his Ball is such as it is because all the other inside of it is such as it is, too. And everything what follows from this you can hopefully figure out yourselves.

In any case, if the point in human life is to keep the Supergodly one, it is necessary to ask, what in fact is the price of it? And there is a range of answers to this question. They are various.

But at all times I remember the rule that there where is not any life there is not any pain either. And it is what matters to me most. I would exchange all the pleasure of all the living creatures of all the worlds for that that none of all the creatures would have to suffer in any of all the worlds, ever.

I have always believed that deadly grief, unspeakable fear from a no-win situation and indescribable torment are a too big and more or less unacceptable tax on the opposite pleasure, feeling of safety and happiness.

Well, it is and it is not so, and everybody thinks his own about it. But at any rate for a more objective review I recommend to take a closer look at the overall value of subjective happiness and unhappiness of human souls in our Supergodly Ball.

About the Owner of a Big Ball

(TOK Dodatek 10 Cislo 2)

And the Owner again. And of what else than of our, in fact of his, big Ball.

The quality of particular spiritual kinds in this Ball including their subjective happiness can be depicted in an easy manner (by a so-called "preview method") by means of three geometric figures.

a) Circle - it depicts the character of the Owner's personality and the character of the judged spiritual kind corresponds to its proportional part.

b) Line - it depicts the placement of the judged spiritual kind in the hierarchy of spiritual kinds in this Supergodly Ball.

c) Tridimensional figure - it depicts the overall value of the subjective feelings of the judged spiritual kind in the cycle of the transformation of allmatter (= the acting of stories) that is just going on in this Ball and so the overall amount of that kind's subjective happiness. What part of this figure is filled shows to us how much the spiritual kind has already experienced in given cycle of what it is supposed to experience. And what part of this figure is not filled shows us how much the spiritual kind will yet experience in given cycle of what it is supposed to experience.

(If the Owner's personality is depicted as a circle, then Hellish people - which a piece of me today only perceives as a calculation and position of allmatter accordingly to the Formula from our Supergodly Ball - are "a diversion to the left" [the beginning of Evil or the better out of the bad, but already bad]. And, for a change, "the Guardians of the Sanctuary of God" represent "a diversion to the right" [= Good].)

(In the space on the right side from itself, "Little Mountain" depicts the part of its knowledge that some respective spiritual kind or being from a Supergodly Ball has at its disposal [this way I saw also human mathematics]. I believe that in the same way it manages to depict also the above-mentioned tridimensional figure [a more complicated method is to firstly depict the entire inside of the "Little Mountain" and only then as another tridimensional figure in it depict the overall value of the judged spiritual kind].)

Few other wisdoms:

- When living creatures display the qualities of their Owner, they experience a piece of his personality. And when they suffer very much, they balance the happiness of others and their own (a future or past one) by its opposite and at the same time it serves the creation of various sub-values tuning-up the whole work of allmatter in the Supergodly Ball.

- If you had been happy and your happiness that had passed away will be repeated in the next cycles of stories in the Supergodly Ball, you will be happy again. And if the calculation of the stories was changed and they together with it, the potential corresponding to your character and happiness will remain in the Ball anyway. So that somebody like you will be happy somehow like you. So that as if you again.

- I look forward to be eternally by means of our Supergod (within the meaning of being like he). And because I have said this, it means that I am he and not I -:)

- When I was thinking of how the kind of the beings is called among which the Owner of our Ball belongs, then using human language I could not find any name for him (it was "many superwords"). In spite of it after my experience of "the connection of my mind to Precreator" I gave "calling him somehow" a try and I had automatically mumbled something like "Kalimalajkala" or so (perhaps it was differently, for instance "Kalimajkalama", "Kalimaukalajma" and similarly), I already do not remember. And then I have realized that it had probably contained words "Kali" and "Kala", which had reminded me of known Indian religion.

And because I do not know the exact name of the Owner-like beings and at the same time I know about them that they create Gods, I began to call them "Supergod" (= an "Above-God" or "the God of all the Gods").

(By the way, I have seen a sculpture of Kali. It had looked very humanized and its three eyes were reminding Hellish people [I meant it the way that a so-called "third eye" is a symbol of spiritual sight and apart from our world they can see their Hellish one, too]. But "Kali" in fact looks totally differently!)

- As far as the character of our Supergod is concerned, he is not obviously good neither obviously evil. He is universal. And when he causes living creatures to suffer, then not because he would delight in it (in fact, only a micro-piece of his personality delights in it and not he as a whole, because he is not that evil), but he only takes it for a necessity to fulfill his intentions, above all. From his point of view, what matters most is the preservation of himself and of own personal happiness, and of own kind and the happiness of its members. And all the other is subordinated to it. And if other kinds suffer because of it, their suffering is tolerated to such an extent that corresponds to the character of Supergods, which is not a self-contained Evil, but its combination with Good. Personally, I believe, that partly, even though maybe not fully, they let the other kinds suffer only to make them themselves be more well-off.

(It is a fact of life, that one kind asserts itself often at the cost of hurting the other kinds. Let you remember Hellish people who would probably be somewhat less well-off so far, if they did not steal some human souls. And if they did not lie to normal people and would not cheat on them, then they would hardly steal those souls without the use of violence and, moreover, they could not play their secret game about those normal people that they enjoy.

Shortly, to cleverly cheat on others and abuse them often pays and every so often even in long terms, and who does not do it, his deal is frequently harder. The fairytale about the reward for a good character and good deeds is only partially true, but at the same time also partially made up. In the Supergodly Ball there is both and which is more, it is known best by its Owner, above all.)

(Egoism [and centripetal force connected with it] is obviously a basic equipment of living creatures, neither it is strange to our Supergod.

Let you take a look into Nature and various spiritual worlds. Almost every kind wants to prosper, almost every individual wants to be well-off. And many of them drives this desire even to total extremes.

From their subjective viewpoint good is what does them good. That is the circumstances and creatures who make possible for them to be happy. And one of the main reasons for their love for them is that that they enable their happiness.

Of course, in our Ball it is our Supergod who assigns particular spiritual kinds the amount of subjective happiness by means of "his calculations". And you guess well when you assume that during this "assignment" morality is more or less off.)

- There are two main extreme positive ways how to exist with good state of health. Either you know nothing about it and it is automatically good, or you know yourself through and through and you fully experience & transform & maintain & repair you yourself, that by means of this method you preserve the good health for all the time.

- Let us now say, what is in fact normal.

Normal is when you fully know yourself and you fully understand yourself. But imperfect subjects of some closed reality do not manage it, since their "perfection" and knowledge usually use to be only a smaller or larger fragment of the level of him who has thought up the closed reality. And it is also the reason why we people know so little and we fully know neither our ourselves.

Normal is to see into around, more exactly said "into ball", to be many times & one time at the same time, to have every part of conscience in different dimension, to see time and no-time separately and the both simultaneously, to have oneself counted off in the smallest pieces and at the same time to perceive oneself not counted off as one whole.

Normal is to be complex, universal, allsexual, but concurrently to be able by pieces of oneself to separately feel every own polarity, one-sidedness and sexuality separately. Yes, it all is in fact normal. As well as to never grow old, to be eternally young and to know everything (and apart from it to have an own big Ball :-). And who does not manage this, he is a lower creature belonging to some limited closed reality and not to an unlimited opened one.

- Every now and then I have his thinking and goals, and I know about my human body that it is poor. It will fade away and together with it that as if Pavel Kastl, which does not matter because one only matters: There must be that Supergod. It all is only about him. Nothing else matters.
