The Other Side Of Existence

“I didn’t realize how hungry I was until the provisions appeared.” “Which of the sons have come to be devoured?” “None. The souls of humans have arrived.” “How many humans remain on planet earth?” “Look. Just over 9 billion.” “Has the land been divided?” “It has. The humans have divided it into 196 separate sections. Each section is established as an independent nation.” “Have they activated the power?” “They have. But they remain unaware of the source. They refer to him as “Dark Energy”. “What method do they utilize to receive?” “The humans have established gods that rule in the form of words they call “Law”. All who refuse to abide by The Law are isolated, maimed, or killed.” “How many humans does the most powerful nation isolate?” “Look. Just over 4 million.” “What is that cluster of states?” “The United States.” “What do the humans call it?” “They call it “The United States.” “Why does the land look so neat?” “The majority of those particular individuals have mastered the art of taking better care of the appearance than that of the actual state.” “Do they call?” “They call.” “Does He hear them?” “He hears them, but they are wicked, so He does not listen. The Law commands that the isolated humans receive an abundance of care. The Source therefore blesses them with the means to provide an ample quantity of guardianship and attention to those held captive. The land that incarcerates the most humans has therefore become the most powerful kingdom to of ever risen on planet earth.” “Have they used the power to establish the foundation of the rise?” “They have! But not one comprehends the creation.” “Has one been found worthy to unseal the scroll?” “One has! The Lamb has resurrected with authority to initiate the beginning of the end!” “Behold. Behold! Behold! Bloody presentiments shall pour out many endings! Time is near the fruit of the end from the root of the beginning! We are now authorized to feast on time! Begin chewing from In The Beginning!”
Beyond Time

World Meteorological Organization Headquarters

Geneva, Switzerland

October 13, 2032

“Woa! Woa woa woa! Reboot! Reboot the system immediately!” The senior meteorologist startled his subordinates with his highly unusual request suggesting the most state of the art equipment in the field of meteorology was for the first time ever somehow malfunctioning. Everyone quickly scrambled to the screens of various devices and began punching commands into keypads at the speed of their racing heartbeats. No one knew why they were doing what they were doing, but everyone knew it was not a test. “My God!” As the senior meteorologist stared at the screen in horror, he shouted, “Relay the information to Piz Daint for confirmation immediately! No one is permitted to contact anyone outside the facility, nor accept any form of communication from anyone anywhere, regardless to the seriousness of the situation! The government will be here very soon to ensure that no one has leaked any information, so do not leak any information!” A woman’s voice hesitantly said, ”But...we don’t even know...” “Look at the screens! Can’t you see? This is an extinction level event!”

Piz Daint

Swiss National Supercomputing Centre

Switzerland

”Ha! Look at what the stargazers down at W.M.O. just sent to receive, listen to this, ”verification of the possibility of the physics of a recent event.” ”Are you serious?” ”Am I? This is seriously one of those moments where I really wish I was joking, but unfortunately, this is the world we live in. These highly educated astronomers are literally asking us to verify whether or not something that ”just happened” can actually happen. And they need the answer to this difficult question, not now, but right now, like ”right now”. I should just respond, ”Duuuuh! It already happened!” The female busted out laughing as she asked, ”So what are they saying just happened?” The young man’s entire demeanor completely shifted as he sat up in his chair to reread the description, as the female nervously asked, ”What are they saying Josh?” ”They... they... are we live?” ”Of course we’re live! We’re always being broadcasted to anyone who tunes in to the e-channel.” ”Go off air!” ”What?” ”Take us off air like right now! Seriously!” ”Josh you’re scaring me.” Josh continued to give the woman a silent furious stare as he pursed her lips and started disconnecting the recording equipment as an ocean of concern began pouring into her stomach. As soon as their every move was no longer being broadcasted to the world, Josh immediately began typing in the coordinates of the Hubble Space Telescopes’ observations of some strange activity around the planet Mars. The room was dead silent as Josh received the results, shook his head in disbelief, and initiated a recalculation saying, ”W.M.O. actually asked a very good question. after a few more moments of silence, the woman finally said, ”What’s happening?” Josh shook his head to the negative and initiated a third recalculation saying, ”This is like the worst thing the worst imagination can imagine, all-of-a-sudden coming out that wicked mind to literally destroy us all. That’s the equivalent to what this thing is saying.” The woman looked sick as she asked, ”What do you mean?” Josh bit his bottom lip and began sending the results back to W.M.O. as he said, ”Karen, do you remember when I told you how I really feel about you, and that the only reason I don’t get into relationships is because I’m just too focused on my career?” Karen could hardly respond as she struggled to say, ”Josh... I...” Josh finished sending the results back to W.M.O. and for the first time in it’s decades of operating, he initiated the destructive process of shutting down one of the world’s fastest supercomputers.
Karen shot out of her chair looking like she’d seen a ghost as she witnessed Josh commit a crime that was punishable by up to five years of imprisonment. Karen shouted in a whisper, ”What are you doing? Your gonna get us both in serious trouble!” A red light began flashing followed by a loud blaring sound as Josh finished punching in the final self-destruct commands, turned to karen, and shouted over all the noise, ”The whole world is in trouble Karen! Billions of people are gonna die!” Karen covered her mouth with both her hands as Josh got down on one knee, grabbed one of Karen’s’ hands, and shouted, ”We got no choice but to get married now! We don’t have one second left to waste!” Tears poured out of Karen’s’ eye’s as she said, ”I’m scared Josh, why did you shut the system down?” Josh looked directly into Karen’s’ eye’s and screamed, ”Will you marry me?”  “Yes! Yes! You know I love you Josh! But what’s going on?” Josh quickly rose to his feet and screamed, ”Hurry! We gotta hurry!” He grabbed Karen’s hand and led her out the room, into the hallway, and straight towards the elevator. As Karen ran behind Josh she frantically shouted, ”Where are we going?” Terrified, Josh looked back at Karen, and then looked straight ahead at the steal elevator doors that were quickly approaching as he shouted, ”Before my dad died, he built a bunker in Zurich, deep underground, and he filled it with two decades worth of food and supplies for eight people! That’s where we’re going, someplace where we’re gonna be safe!” As they stopped at the entrance to the elevator, Josh had only made Karen feel more sick than she was already feeling. As soon as the doors finally opened, Karen said, ”But, why did you shut the system down?” Once they were finally inside the elevator descending to ground level, Josh let out a strong sigh, and said, ”Look. Something happened just off the orbit of Mars that up until a few minutes ago should’ve literally been impossible, but somehow and someway it happened, and real soon it’s gonna be crashing into this planet pouring itself all over the surface like furious streams of molten lava pouring out of an enormous volcano. We gotta worry about ourselves right now. We can’t just wait for the government to come put guns to our heads and tell us where we can and can’t go and what we can and can’t do, because if we wait around, that’s exactly what’s gonna happen, and they’ll either just kill us both, or they’ll have us stuck here on observation duty until just hours before the day of destruction, and then, they’ll just stuff us in some cheap government bunker with a crowd of coughing, farting, imbeciles, while a bunch of undeserving crooks break into my father’s bunker and greedily scarf up two decades worth of goods in just two weeks! No! That’s not how things are gonna happen!” Josh looked at his watch and said, ”It’s three o’clock in the morning, so the day shift won’t be here for another four hours. Me, you, and W.M.O., are the only people on the planet who know of the danger right now who aren’t part of any national government. So before all the chaos and confusion and traffic and foolishness that will occur when the rest of the world starts trying to prepare for their doom, we’re gonna secretly disappear unnoticed and leave everyone else to figure things out in the morning when they fix the system and learn of the danger. Trust me, we’re doing the right thing, we’re giving ourselves a much needed headstart.” Karen slowly nodded her head in agreement as the elevator doors opened to the barrels of assault rifles aimed directly at her head. Before they could raise their arms to surrender, their bodies were riddled with bullets as their blood joined to form a puddle on the floor. The soldiers quickly stuffed the bloody bodies into large black bags and carried them out to an enormous black helicopter that was full of large black bags. Inside all the other black bags were the deceased bodies of every single person who was found inside the W.M.O. headquarters. More soldiers then stormed the Piz Daint building in search of others.

United Nations Headquarters

New York, New York

October 14, 2032

"China?” “China is present.” “France?” ”France is present.” ”Russia?” ”Russia is present.” “The United Kingdom?” ”The United kingdom is present” “The United States?” “The United States is present.” “For the record, it shall be noted that all five permanent seats of The Security Council of The United Nations are filled by the aforestated nations in Manhattan New York on this the fourteenth day of October two thousand thirty two.” The Secretarial General nodded his head to the clerk who conducted the roll call and said, ”Thank you. This emergency meeting was called to direct attention to an ongoing investigation into an international threat to global peace and security. The current threat is not an internal dispute. It’s origins are derived from activity that was first detected just beyond the orbit of the planet Mars. The Hubble Space Telescope discovered the activity and relayed the information to the World Meteorological Organization. The W.M.O. immediately forwarded the information to the Piz Daint supercomputer centre who confirmed through a series of calculations that an unobservable force literally caused three celestial objects composed mostly of frozen liquid to join the course of the comet ”Temple Tuttle”. Temple Tuttle has a course of orbit that causes it’s debris to storm down thousands of meteors onto our planet every thirty three years, and once a year we’re bombarded with it’s weaker debris because it’s debris stretches throughout the entire length of its orbit, so it’s head literally touches it’s tail. The resulting mediocre meteor showers are nothing more than a source of entertainment to those who choose to travel to certain locations to view the event. The reason we have gathered here today is to make some determinations of the various peacekeeping forces deployed throughout the world, to prepare the people of the world for the collision of the danger being presented by these three celestial objects that... according to technologically assisted observations, materialized out of nowhere! To further explain the phenomenon, we have here the director of the W.M.O. headquarters, Mr. Director?” The Director rose from his seat and said, ”Yes, thank you sir. As the general stated, we are in fact in grave danger. All the individuals who were present at the W.M.O. building were rendered direct threats to international security, due to the seriousness of the information I am about to relay to you. All of the individuals who were present at the W.M.O. building, as well as those who were present at the Piz Daint building, were rendered imminent and impending dangers to a premature disclosure. They were thereby all terminated on site... The following information is still considered to be ultimately sensitive and should be designated at your highest level of secrecy, if not beyond.” The Director pressed a few buttons on a small tablet he was holding, which caused all the lights in the small room to dim as a screen appeared in front of an empty wall. A recording of three large comets traveling back-to-back brought an instant uneasiness to the room that quickly captured everyone’s attention. The Director wiped a few droplets of sweat from his forehead as he said, ”All three of these comets will most assuredly collide into the earth. By no means could this bring our global civilization to a complete end. But, there is virtually no way for us to ensure the survival of nearly 9 billion people, we just do not have the time or the resources.” The Representative of the United States said, ”How much time do we have?” ”In New York, it will be precisely seven o’clock in the morning, March twenty second, two thousand thirty three when the first comet starts entering into the atmosphere.” The people in the room began murmuring and taking notes as the Director said, ”As I said earlier, these comets do not have the ability to destroy the entire...” The Russian aggressively cut the Director off by shouting, ”Why is it that you took so long to bring this to our attention? Had you informed us sooner, we could’ve long ago taken steps to ensure the survival of far more than the number it will now be because you have only given us five months to prepare!” ”Sir., the day before yesterday, none of these comets even existed. You see...” ”Aargh! Stop it! You just don’t want to take responsibility for getting billions of people killed. It was your job to watch for incoming objects and you missed these three, and now you’re trying to cover up your lethal mistake! That’s why you killed your own people and probably went as far as erasing records, destroying footage, and creating some bogus imagery of three comets popping up out of nowhere!” The Russian forcefully rose from his seat and shouted, ”You’ve said what you’ve said, and I’ve heard more than enough! I love my country and I love my people and we are not in collusion with the deceptive practices of the west! We do not kill or allow people to suffer and die for no good reason! I’m going back to my country to prepare my people for this…” The Secretarial General cut the Russian off saying, ”You cannot inform private citizens of this danger until we have prepared an appropriate disclosure.” The Russian twisted his face with a look of disgust as he stared into the Secretarial Generals’ eye’s and said, ”If you and I can handle the news, so can everyone else. This is not some secret of war! This is an event that will obliterate entire families, entire neighborhoods, perhaps even entire countries!” The Russian charged towards the exit as the Secretarial General raised his voice, saying, ”Sir. You are not permitted to leave! Force may be used against you!” The Russian ignored the man and walked right out the door as the Chinese Representative also rose from his seat and started heading towards the exit saying, “China has sufficient low earth orbit observatory’s to track the incoming comets. We will properly prepare for the collision.” As soon as both men were gone, the Secretarial General pressed the touchscreen on a small tablet that was on the table right in front of him from which a voice shouted ”Sir. yes Sir.!” ”Detain and sequester the representatives of China and Russia immediately!” ”Detain? Sir., those individuals are diplomats protected under diplomatic immunity! I do not have the authority to detain them!” ”This is The Secretarial General of The United Nations Security Council! I am designating the representatives of China and Russia to be direct threats to international peace and security! I am giving you a direct order to detain and sequester the representatives of China and Russia and you are to use all forms of force necessary to secure their ”immediate” compliance! You are to do the same to ”anyone” who resists your efforts! Do I make myself clear?” ”Sir. yes Sir.!” All three representatives who remained in the room felt like defecating the disturbing feelings they were feeling in their stomachs as the Secretarial General rose from his seat, calmly walked over to the exit, closed the door, and returned to his seat while saying to the Director, ”Please Sir., continue.” “Well, O.K., let me explain how these comets formed so rapidly before I speak on the damage they will...” The Director was cut off by the sound of gunshots that caused him to quickly dive underneath the table while everyone else remained seated. The gunshots ceased as fast as they started, and the voice on the tablet broke the brief silence in the room by shouting, ”Sir.! The Representatives of China and Russia are deceased! Along with all those who accompanied them!” The Secretarial General shook his head to the negative as he rapidly responded, ”Shut down this entire building! Sequester everyone who heard even as much as a faint popping sound! Scramble the networks! Detain ”everyone”, and do not permit the detainees to communicate with each other or any form of outside source! Document, clean, and sanitize the area of the shooting, and deliver the corpses to the nearest morgue to be destroyed by incineration immediately!” ”Sir. yes Sir!” The Secretarial General looked under the table and calmly said, ”Please Sir., continue.” The Director stumbled out from underneath the table, claimed to his feet, and mumbled, ”Uh...Right...Uh...” The Representative from France said, ”You were going to explain the origin of the comets.” ”Right!...Of course!...The comets!...Of course!...Uh...O.K. O.K.” The Director stumbled over to the screen, picked his tablet up off of the floor, and quickly said, ”It’s not that they just came from ”nowhere”, we know ”exactly” where they came from! “And” we know ”exactly” how they got here! They were formed! Rapidly! But, up until two days ago, we just never imagined this process of formation spontaneously occurring the way it did, and of all the places in this vast universe that it could’ve occurred, it just sprang up on a direct collision course with our planet!” The American said, ”So how could three comets just spring up like that?” “Exactly! Look, we’ve been wrestling with some very mysterious forms of existences for quite some time now. We have no clue as to what “existence” in-and-of-itself, is truly composed of.” Everyone looked confused as the Secretarial General said, ”What?” The Director inhaled a large breath of air while looking at the ground, then slowly blew it out as he looked back up, and said, ”Everything we can see is only four percent of what is really and truly there... We only interact with a tiny fragment of existence... Our realm isn’t even composed of enough of existence for us to even have the slightest idea of what it truly is, or what it’s even like. We don’t even know how anything truly looks, we’ve only seen four percent, we haven’t seen anything.” The Director scanned all the faces lost in deep thought, and said, “Ninety six percent of existence is composed of what we call ”Dark Energy” and ”Dark Matter”, and we call them ”Dark” simply because we have no idea of what they really and truly are. We know Dark Energy is here, we know it caused The Big Bang, we know it stretches out the fabric of the universe, but we have no idea of what it is! All we know is it’s there, we kind of have an idea of what it’s doing, and up until two days ago it never really threatened us or put us in any danger, even though it’s always been a very serious threat.” The American looked puzzled as she said, ”How do you figure it’s always been a ”threat”? And how is it threatening us now?” The Director nodded and said, ”The greatest astronomical discovery of the twentieth century was that the galaxies of the universe are all moving further and further away from the earth, and further and further away from each other at a continuously accelerating rate. The only force causing the increasing speed of the expansion is Dark Energy.” The American said, ”So the universe is growing?” ”The more appropriate term is ”stretching” or ”expanding”.

You see, the universe is actually shaped like a big giant ball, and we’re near the center of it. The big giant ball is full of little clusters of stars we call ”galaxies”. We call our star cluster ”The Milky Way Galaxy”, and there are around 400 billion stars in our galaxy. Our sun is just one of those 400 billion stars. On top of all of that, the big giant ball which is our universe, is expanding at an accelerating rate, like a balloon being filled with air. The accelerating rate of the expansion of the universe is our evidence of some form of invisible force that we call ”Dark Energy”.

The Director scanned the confused looking faces, sighed, and plainly said, ”Just imagine a person blowing air into a balloon using the oxygen in their lungs. Each time they exhale into the balloon it expands. Then, they must inhale more oxygen into their lungs, and then exhale into the balloon to make it expand once more. Now imagine that your lungs was the literal source of oxygen, and you therefore never needed to inhale in order to exhale. Not only that, but the force of your lungs had the power to produce an infinite amount of increasing exhales, as if the force of your lungs kept getting stronger and stronger the more you exhaled. You could begin exhaling winds at 100 miles an hour, and in one second, you could increase the speed to 10,000 miles an hour. By the third second you could increase the speed to one million miles an hour and so on and so forth without ever finding the need to inhale in order to continue you exhaling. Well that’s precisely what our universe has been doing for the past 13 billion years, as if our universe is a big giant balloon, and Dark Energy has some type of super lungs that just keeps inhaling into our big universe ball at an accelerating rate!” The Secretarial General frowned as he said, ”If this universe is some big giant ball that is being blown up, won’t it eventually just blow up?” The Director bursted out a laugh and said, ”Sir., that’s common sense. But keep in mind that we do not know what Dark Energy actually is, and this ignorance rests on the fact that Dark Energy is the direct cause of the expansion of our entire universe, and whatever it is, it will also be the cause of any such explosion, and it will therefore dictate when any such explosion will take place.” The American said, ”What happens when a universe explodes?” The Director chuckled and said, ”Well, based on the fact that the increasing rate of the expansion of the universe is a direct indicator that Dark Energy very well may possess infinite energy, it just might be the release of such energy, either into or out of this physical state.” The Secretarial General slowly blinked his eyes and said, ”What does that mean?” ”Look we honestly do not know what anything truly is, but we do know that our physical realm is only four percent of whatever everything is. Why our realm is only four percent is a whole other topic of unknown subjects. It is possible, and very likely, that everything we can see is really and truly composed entirely of a form of existence that has infinite energy inherent in it’s very fabric, and for some reason, the energy is being withheld under some form of constraint. We have no idea, but the physical construct of this physical form of existence seems to be holding the very fabric of each and every subatomic particle captive, as if this physical realm is some form of particle prison. The release of the captives very well may equate to the release of infinite energy, an explosion beyond the definition of explosion so much so, instead of ”exploding”, everything may just be reformed into the purest form of energy that exists.” The American said,
"What does pure energy look like?" "We do not know, we cannot see it"
As confusion danced throughout the minds in the room, The Director shook his head and said, "This understanding should not be too far fetched for you few here who remain, as you are all Christians, and should somewhat be familiar with the words of the oldest Christian document that exists, which is a letter that was written by the apostle Paul to the Church in Rome." The Director quickly punched some keys on his tablet that made some Bible verses pop up on the screen which he began reading, saying, "Look at this, it may give you a better understanding. It’s Romans chapter eight verses eighteen to twenty five. I’ll read it, "For I consider the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us. For the earnest expectation of the creation eagerly waits for the revealing of the sons of God. For the creation was subjected to futility, not willingly, but because of Him who subjected it in hope, because the creation itself also will be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God. For we know that the whole creation groans and labors with birth pangs together until now. Not only that, but we also who have the first fruits of the spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, eagerly waiting for the adoption, the redemption of our body. For we were saved in this hope, but hope that is seen is not hope, for why does one still hope for what he sees? But if we hope for what we do not see, we eagerly wait for it with perseverance.” Paul’s level of comprehension was astonishingly accurate. For some reason, he was able to direct attention to the other side of existence, as existence with everlasting life interwoven in its very fabric, and this biblical ”everlasting life” is truly infinite energy. Paul somehow knew that this physical universe was composed entirely of a form of existence that is completely different from what it appears to be. It really makes your skin crawl when you really put some serious thought into the fact that your skin could possibly be aware that it’s your skin, and that it’s just trapped in some form of mediocre state, or in Paul’s words, "subjected to futility". What Paul calls ”being delivered from bondage” is clearly a direct reference to this physical realm being restored to its original infinite state. Furthermore, Paul also knew the accurate sequence of events that would lead to the end of this physical universe as we know it. We know that this whole entire universe will eventually just blow up one day, I mean, it’s just a big ball chucked full of little balls of fire, gas, dust, and flammable rocks. This universe is really and truly a big gigantic bomb that can explode at any moment and that bible guy somehow knew it...”

The Director hit a few buttons on his tablet and a new set of bible verses popped up on the screen as he said, ”In Second Peter chapter three verses 6 to 13, Paul said, ”by which the world that then existed perished, being flooded with water. But the heavens and the earth which are now preserved by the same word, are reserved for fire until the day of judgement and perdition of ungodly men. But, Beloved, do not forget this one thing, that with the Lord one day is as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day. The Lord is not slack concerning His promise, as some count slackness, but is longsuffering toward us, not willing that any should perish but that all should come to repentance. But the day of the Lord shall come like a thief in the night, in which the heavens will pass away with a great noise, and the elements will melt with fervent heat, both the earth and the works that are in it will be burned up. Therefore since all these things will be dissolved, what manner of persons ought you to be in holy conduct and godliness, looking for and hastening the coming of the day of God, because of which the heavens will be dissolved, being on fire, and the elements will melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to His promise, look for new heavens and a new earth in which righteousness dwells.” You see, where Paul says ”we... look for new heavens and a new earth”, he is clearly making a well informed reference to the fact that this whole entire universe will be reformed into a form of existence that will never cease to exist, a form of existence that is composed of what we now know is infinite energy, what the Bible calls ”eternal life”. The reestablishment of such will clearly obliterate our whole entire physical form of existence.”

The Secretarial General nodded and said, ”So how long has Dark Energy been a threat?” “Well, since the beginning Sir! It’s been a threat for over 13 billion years now! You see, it doesn’t just ”stretch the universe”, it literally moves every single object on the inside of our entire physical realm. From the gazillions of stars to every single subatomic particle, on top of the fact that “it’s” what set it all into motion! If Dark Energy has enough energy to simultaneously move trillions upon trillions of outrageously humongous suns, all at once, it obviously has more than enough energy to crush our little tiny planet like a giant wrestler smashing his foot down to annihilate one tiny little ant. We don’t stand a chance! Dark Energy can destroy us without us ever even realizing we were on the brink of being destroyed! The only thing that’s been keeping us safe is the fact that Dark Energy has always abided by its own natural laws of physics. But, two days ago it broke one of those laws on a level that will surely result in the loss of billions of lives.” The French woman said, ”Which of it’s laws did it break?” The Director nodded as he said, ”Everything in this room is everything in this room and that’s it. That’s a natural law. It’s a basic law of physics. In the science of matter and energy, which is physics, the law of conservation states that in a closed system where neither mass nor energy is added or subtracted, certain measurable quantities will remain constant. So let’s take this table for example. In theory, we can shred it, burn it, boil it, or grind it down to dust and sweep all of it’s tiny particles under a rug, and in theory, all of its particles will always continue to exist. In the same sense, another table can’t just pop up out of nowhere for no apparent reason. In our universe, except on a quantum level, nothing ever just pops up out of anywhere for no apparent reason, and that’s just the way things are. But we also know that it isn’t impossible for something to just pop up out of nowhere as long as that thing is fueled by enough energy to materialize, and that’s precisely what’s always been our greatest fear of Dark Energy. We do not know what it is, so we have no way of knowing what dictates how it chooses to use its energy. Dark Energy has more than enough energy to just pump this entire universe full of steaming hot sulfur and brimstone in the matter of one split second! Dark Energy can transform our entire existence into torment, torture, and pain, in an instant! At any given moment, this whole entire physical form of existence can be swallowed up by Dark Energy before anyone could even gasp and the only reason the universe seems to be in a state that such things wouldn’t happen is basically because everything has pretty much been behaving the same exact way ever since as far back as we can tell and that’s all the way back to the beginning!” All the people listening to the director all made a ”Hmm” sound at the same exact time, and the Director continued saying, ”Even the slightest change in the behavior of Dark if he knew for a fact that this physical realm is really and truly a creation that was formed out of a living form of Energy can be a sign that the universe is near it’s end. If Dark Energy wants a star in the sky it does’nt just put a star there, instead, it follows it’s patterns and procedures. A cluster of gas and dust must come together to form a nebula which will ignite and give birth to a ball of fire that will surpass temperatures in the sum of twenty to thirty million degrees Fahrenheit. We’ve somewhat always been able to trust that Dark Energy would always behave the same way, ensuring us that we would’nt wake up one morning to find a sun forming in our backyard, or a black hole forming in our brain. For the first time ever Dark Energy is breaking it’s own laws on a scale large enough to kill us all, if not a few billion.” The General frowned and said, ”You make it sound like this Dark Energy is aware of it’s own existence, like it has some form of intelligence or something.” ”Sir., mice have intelligence. Surely you can understand that it does’nt take much energy to manifest intelligence. We say that we do not know what Dark Energy is because it is literally invisible to the absolute sense of the meaning. We cannot see it, we do not know where it is, and we cannot find it, despite the fact that we can clearly see the extremely powerful results of it’s actions. We have no way of making any observations of whatever it is because its literally on the other side of existence, so, for all we know, it could be anything, or perhaps, even anyone...” Eye’s popped open as the Director gave an affirmative nod, while saying, ”Not only is Dark Energy obviously aware of everything it’s intentionally doing, has always been doing, and will ever do, but it also has far more than enough energy to simultaneously be aware of everything you’re doing, and thinking, and feeling, as well as everything I’m doing, and thinking, and feeling, at the same exact time that it also keeps it’s tabs on all the subatomic particles that form the atoms that form the elements of everything in existence under the preeminent dominance of the unseen force.” The American said, ”So your saying this thing could be Santa Clause?” The Director raised his thick bushy eyebrows and said, ”No mam, I’m saying that the force of energy that placed this entire planet in jeopardy of an extinction level event by forming three comets in an instant and placing them in a direct collision course with this planet, that is sure to cause billions of deaths, is the same exact force of energy that brought everything in this universe into existence, so it obviously took some form of intelligence to bring intelligence into existence. Look, I’m the only one in this room who identifies as an atheist, but that does’nt mean that I am ignorant to the testimonies of individuals such as Isaiah, Jeremiah, and the Psalmist, among others, who all claimed that the Creator told them “He” ”stretches out the heavens”, thousands of years before we even had the ability to see the activity transpiring in deep space to determine that what those individuals called ”the heavens” is actually stretching, just the way they claim their ”God” told them it is... Don’t look at me like that, I’m not saying I’m a christian or any of that stuff, but I do find it quite interesting that quite a few people living in a pre-advanced-telescope-era all claimed that the ”Creator” of the ”heavens” told them something they had no way of figuring out on their own, or even with the help of every other person on the planet in those days. They had no way of even guessing that what they called ”the heavens”, which is truly the universe, is stretching. But they repeated what they claimed to of heard, despite how ridiculous the assertion may of seemed. They believed that they were in contact with the Creator, they wrote down what they claimed to of heard, and now that we have the powerful tools to enable us to see what they could’nt possibly of seen, we now know that their implication that the universe is stretching is accurate! Furthermore, they claim that this “God” is “Almighty”, that “He” has ”eternal life”, and that it is ”He” who ”stretches the heavens”. I have no idea of who or what their ”God” is, and frankly, I can care less. But, what I do know is that Energy cannot be created nor destroyed, Dark Energy seems to be the source of infinite energy, and Dark Energy is stretching the universe. So did Dark Energy contact these humans of times past? I have no clue. And, have we simply renamed their God “Dark Energy”? I do not know, because, I do not know what Dark Energy is. So anyway, the first comet is so small the sun and our atmosphere will melt it down to a cloud of who knows what is inside that big ball of ice. We may see the biggest meteor shower ever, or, we may see a whole lot worse. We just won’t know what we’re dealing with until the sun peals back enough of it’s layers so we can see. The second comet is far too large to be completely disintegrated by the sun. It’s currently on a collision course with the Atlantic Ocean. We do not know the composition of the comet, so we cannot say what will happen when this large piece of ice lands in the Atlantic Ocean and melts. But we do know that the coastal regions of Southern Greenland, east of the Americas, west of Africa, and virtually all of the Caribbean islands, will be completely destroyed. Entire states, and quite a few small countries, will all need to be evacuated. Something in the neighborhood of half a billion people will need to be relocated.” The American began rubbing on the sides of her temples while staring at the table shaking her head to the negative as the Director continued saying, ”The third and final comet is far smaller than the second, but is still large enough to pass through the atmosphere and crash into the crust of the earth. It is currently on a collision course with the Middle East.” The French woman said, ”The Russians are going to swear that these comets were somehow created by a group of people right here on earth.” The Secretarial General responded, ”The Russians are free to believe anything they can imagine! But! If any nation, or even any nations for that matter, become any form of threat to international peace and security, they will be dealt with accordingly!” The Director quickly nodded in agreement, and said, ”Finally, the last comet will disintegrate and release unknown substances into the atmosphere. In case of any fallout, all locations within 300 miles of Baghdad will need to be evacuated.” All three Representatives shook their heads to the negative as the woman representing the United Kingdom said, ”They’ll never desert their land. The majority Muslim population will refuse to believe that Allah would allow them to see such destruction.” The Secretarial General shrugged his shoulders and Thank You for previewing this eBook

You can read the full version of this eBook in different formats:

- HTML (Free /Available to everyone)
- PDF / TXT (Available to V.I.P. members. Free Standard members can access up to 5 PDF/TXT eBooks per month each month)
- Epub & Mobipocket (Exclusive to V.I.P. members)

To download this full book, simply select the format you desire below